Distribution of Vaccine Is Unsolved

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—How is the antipolio vaccine going to be distributed so that those who need it first get it first, whether or not they can pay for it? That's one of the biggest, unsolved problems in the fight against polio.

The government—that is, the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, headed by Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby—had time to plan for this problem before any vaccine was distributed. Apparently it did nothing.

It still has produced no answers although this week Mrs. Hobby is expected to make recommendations to President Eisenhower. She is not likely to suggest federal control. She has been against that.

On April 12 she gave permission to drug manufacturers to start distributing the vaccine. This was done a few hours after announcement that last summer's test on several hundred thousand children had been 60 to 90 per cent effective.

The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis has contracted with manufacturers to produce vaccine to give free shots to nine million children in the first and second grades. All other people will have to pay for shots unless somehow they can get them free.

What of those in the susceptibel age group (1 to 9) who can't afford to pay for shots by a private physician and have no other way of getting the vaccine? There is no answer on that.

And what assurance is there those in the most susceptible age group will get shots before any of the short-supply vaccine is given to older people? There is no nationwide plan on that either.

It would seem that Mrs. Hobby's department could have done what the polio foundation did: take a chance the April 12 report would be favorable and prepare for distribution in advance.

On Eisenhower's instructions Mrs. Hobby called a meeting April 22 of doctors, health officials and drug manufacturers. They recommended the vaccine be allocated among the states, without federal controls, on the basis of state populations in the 1 to 9 age group. It would be left up to the states to plan the distribution.

Meanwhile, as it became clear there would be a vaccine shortage extending into 1956, members of Congress began demanding that distribution not be left to chance. Bills were introduced to impose federal controls.

Eisenhower told a news conference May 4: "There will never be any child in the United States denied this emergency protection for want of ability to pay. Of that we are absolutely certain."

Shortly afterward his press secretary James C. Hagerty said if a situation developed where some children could not get vaccine for lack of money, the President would immediately ask Congress for authority to buy up the whole supply.

But such an idea, before it became a reality, would take time (1) to be aware of such situations and verify them, (2) get authority from Congress and (3) set up federal distribution.

And time is one of the prime factors in the antipolio fight, since the peak polio season arrives with the summer months.

CHAPTER XXVII

As Jesse burst out of the bank, the first Northfieldian fell. He was an unarmed, noncombatant laborer, and was literally torn apart by bandit bullets as he ran for cover. His senseless execution was the spark that blew up Northfield.

Enraged, one of his armed fellow townsmen ran out onto the sidewalk, blasted a shotgun charge at point-blank range into Clell Miller, now mounted up with Charlie Pitts, guarding Jesse's and Bob's horses. The charge struck him full in the chest and face. Spraying blood, he fought blindly for leather, found the horn, stayed in the saddle. Jesse and Bob were now both clear of the bank, crouching behind their tied horses, fighting furiously at the knotted reins.

Bill Chadwell, riding between Frank and Jim Younger, took a Winchester bullet through the heart. He slid out of the saddle so quietly his companions did not know he had been hit until his riderless horse galloped past and ahead of them.

Clell Miller, still streaming blood, kicked his horse away from the bank's hitchrail, abandoning Bob and Jesse to the closing crowd. A Civil War musket boomed from the window of Allen's Hardware. The .50-caliber ball passed through both lungs, severing an artery. Clell struck the dirt of Division Street, "flopped around like a crazy chicken and died right there in front of the bank."

Frank took a slug through the right calf. Cole was shot in shoulder and thigh. Both were still mounted when Jesse, at last freeing his black from the rail, hammered toward them.

His plea drew only heavier fire from the advancing citizen snipers. Crouching, he ran back into the shelter of the bank entrance.

"It's no use, boys!" he scramed. "We've got to get out, they'll kill us all."

Cole's expression went dead blank.

"Hold up, Dingus," he said flatly. "How about Bob?"

The hysteria rose in pitch. "He's done for, bad hit. We cain't get him. There ain't no horse for him, no how!"

Cole drove the bay away from them, then, straight toward the bank, satnding in the stirrups, roaring to his brother, "Run out, Bob, run out!"

He was hit twice more through the body before he slid his mount up to the bank. They saw his big back twist and buck to the slugs as they tore into him. And they saw him reach the staggering Bob, seize him and swing him up behind him.

The powerful bay, lurching under the nearly 400 pounds, drove back across Division Street toward the bunched riders. He was too slow. Another rifle slug cut into Cole, his fifth in as many minutes. Still, he would not fall.

"All right," he grunted to the white-faced Jesse. "Lets get out. Bob's got his horse.

Theonly thing which could have happened to the master plan, the one thing Jesse had failed miserably to foresee and figure against, had happened. Bill Chadwell was gone.

The one man upon whom their leader's whole involved complex of planned retreat had so foolishly depended lay dead in the dust of Division Street. And dead with him lay the best chance of any man among them leaving Minnesota alive.

They were in a strange land. It was a deadly, flat land, thickly timbered, cross-cut by a dozen small streams, blind-trapped with a hundred uncharted lakos.

The village of Dundas, three miles south of Northfield, loomed ahead. They rode through it, their horses five abreast. No one challenged the bandits.

The news of Northfield was already chattering the Dundas telegraph key. But the key chattered alone. The telegrapher was away, absent from his board on a half-hour errand!

In Millersburg, reached at 4 p. m., the preposterous luck held. The regular telegrapher was at home, sick in bed. His assistant had locked the key open, gone down to the Little Cannon River to try for a fat wall-eye or frying-pan bass.

More curious gaped, more good citizens stared.

Younger met one farmer and relieved him of a fine horse. A second mounted native was encountered and lightened of the load of his saddle. Bob Younger was mounted again.

For the first time since leaving Northfield, there were sound horses all around.

Twilight came quickly on. Ahead lay 12 hours of darkness. Twelve hours which, with any reasonable continuance of their unbelievable luck, could take them 50 miles and more toward freedom. Tired muscles relaxed, jawlines eased.

But luck was done with them.

Six miles from Millersburg, Bob Younger's borrowed saddle parted its girth. The tall youth fell heavily in the darkness, crushing his injured arm beneath him. He remembered the bursting shock of the pain, and nothing more.

Cole took him in his arms, like a great, blood-smeared child, carrying him unconscious before him as he rode.

Networks Plan Comeback Try Against TV

By WAYNE OLIVER

NEW YORK (AP)—The radio networks, much harder hit than individual radio stations by television's inroads, plan strong measures to try to halt the decline in their fortunes and audiences.

NBC radio, starting June 12, will toss out its entire weekend schedule to inaugurate what it calls a new concept in radio programing. Entitled Monitor, it will be a continuous integrated schedule of news, music, discussion an dentertainment from 8 a.m. Saturday to midnight Sunday.

CBS radio is breaking with tradition to keep most of its major shows on the air right through the summer, traditionally the time for lightweight replacements. Bing Crosby, Amos 'n' Andy, Rudy Vallee, Art Linkletter and others will continue this summer.

Mutual, only one of the nationwide radio chains that never got into TV network operations, has notified affiliated stations of an announcement May 22 of an entirely new approach to radio network service.

Total broadcast time sales for radio in 1954, including both stations and networks, were estimated by Broadcasting-Telecasting Magazine at 453 million dollars, down only 5 per cent from the record high of 477 million dollars in 1953. But national radio networks accounted for only 76 million dollars of the total compared with nearly 93 million in 1953 and nearly 134 million in 1948.

The answer is that individual radio stations are relying less on network programs and sponsors and more on local programs and sponsors. The network hope to reverse the trend.

Officials in N. J. Probe Are Suicides

ELIZABETH, N.J. (AP)— Two Elizabeth officials, who testified before a Union County grand jury probing alleged laxity in connection with gambling, committed suicide yesterday.

A bullet in the head ended the life of 65-year-old Police Capt. August F. Winkelmann, who had been on terminal leave and was due to retire next month.

Fire Commissioner Francis De Stephan, 39, waded fully clothed into Raritan Bay and was drowned.

Both deaths were listed officially as suicides. Both men were found in Monmouth County, about 25 miles apart. De Stephan's body was removed from marshland in Matawan Township. Winkelman was still alive when found near the Manasquan River inlet. He died later in Point Pleasant hospital.

Neither man left suicide notes, police said.

Union County Prosecutor H. Russel Morss Jr. told newsmen he "couldn't say whether there was any connection" between the deaths of Winkelmann and De Stephan. Morss also declined comment on whether either man had been scheduled to appear again before the grand jury.

Winkelmann had refused to honor his first grand jury subpoena, but finally testified April 26. De Stephan had been called before the panel March 2 but didn't testify until 19 days later.

The fire commissioner's brother Dr. Joseph L. De Stephan, a dentist, said Francis had been worried about his appearance before the grand jury and also was concerned over debts.

The grand jury proble began 11 weeks ago, and indictments have been returned against three persons.

'THEME' SONG

MCMINNVILLE, Ore., (UP — Dr. Albury Castell, head of the philosophy department at the University of Oregon, was waiting on the rostrum to give a chapel lecture at Linfield college when the student choir began singing.

They sang "Give us courage, give us wisdom for the facing of this hour."

Turner's Fate Up to Faubus

Turner, former nightclub operator convicted of the fatal shooting of Lloyd R. Squire of North Little Rock, was declared "legally sane" yesterday by State Hospital psychiatrists.

Their finding leaves it up to Faubus whether Turner will be put to death for the slaying of Squire, a suitor of Turner's divorced wife. Faubus must now fix a date for Turner's electrocution unless he decides to commute the sentence to life imprisonment.

If Turner had been found insane he would have been committed automatically to the hospital for an indefinite time.

Squire, a public relations representative for a railroad, was shot April 14, 1954, outside the apartment building where Mrs. Turner lived.

Turner was convicted in Ouachita Circuit Court and the Arkansas Supreme Court upheld the conviction.

President Almost Certain to Veto Postal Increase

By JOE HALL

WASHINGTON (AP)A quick presidential veto, perhaps by Monday, reportedly awaits a bill to raise postal workers' pay 8.8 per cent. Sen. Carlson (R-Kan) said he is certain the Senate will sustain the veto if it comes.

The Senate passed the compromise measure 66-11 late yesterday and sent it to President Eisenhower. The House acted Monday 328-66.

Carlson said the President never had discussed a veto with him, but it was learned the White House has told key Republican lawmakers they can expect a veto message quickly.

Eisenhower, who favored a smaller raise, has said publicly only that he would study the matter carefully.

The 66-11 tally was far more than enough to override a veto, but Carlson said there would be many switches if and when the question of sustaining the President arises.

Marines Fight to Save Cut in Forces

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST

WASHINGTON —(AP) Champions of the Marine Corps claimed a fighting chance today in their bid to have the House upset President Eisenhower's plans to trim that service's forces.

But they were less optimistic over the possibility of blocking planned cuts in Army and Navy strength.

The House scheduled votes late today on a series of amendments which would add $409,993,500 to a bill to appropriate $31,488,206,000 to finance the Defense Department for the fiscal year starting July 1.

As drafted by the House Appropriations Committee, the bill approves the President's program to reduce over-all military manpower by more than 100,000 during the year. The Army would be cut 87,000 men.

Leading the fight to prevent the cuts is Rep. Flood (D-Pa), who told newsmen, "I don't think it's a good idea to cut military strength a single man below what we planned and financed for the present year."

Bargaining to Be Rough, Ike Will Discover

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower may find himself involved in harder bargaining than he seems to expect if and when he sits down with Russian Premier Nikolai Bulganin at Big Four talks.

Bulganin may well press a whole set of basic demands outlined in a new program for disarmament and ending the cold war which Moscow made public Tuesday night.

A word of caution against approaching any heads-of-state talks with "a defeatist attitude" came today from Chairman George (D-Ga) of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. George, who had urged such talks at a time when Eisenhower was cool to the idea, said "the administration should take the "strong initiative" in its approach.

His comments were obviously prompted by Eisenhower's statement yesterday that his willingness to meet with the heads of state of Britain, France and Russia was based in part on "a vague feeling some good night come out of such a conference."

"One thing that is disturbing to me," George said, "is whether we are moving with any real conviction to take the initiative, rather than just acquiescing.

"There seems to me to be a lack of enthusiasm and a lack of positive attitude on our part toward a top level conference which if we take the strong initiative, might do some good.

"We must recognize all the possibilities of failure in any such conference, but we should have a positive, not a defeatist attitude toward it. If we are going to accomplish anything in the world, we have to have such a positive attitude and I'm afraid we don't have it now."

Lion Buys Out Two Oil Firms

EL DORADO, (AP)—The Lion Oil Co. has announced the purchase of the physical properties of two Tennessee oil companies.

A. F. Reed, vice president for sales, said the company brought the properties of Elk Oil Co. of Fayetteville, Tenn., and Consumers Oil Co. of Winchester, Tenn.

Rain Continues to Pelt Much of U. S.

By The Associated Press

Sections of the south central part of the country, hit by heavy rain and windstorms for several days, got more rain today.

The main wet area centered in Missouri and fringes of adjoining states with scattered but locally heavy showers and thundershowers extending southwestward into parts of Texas. Rainfall in Corpus Christi, Tex., was a little more than 2 inches in 24 hours.

There were a few other wet spots. Light rain fell near the Virginia-Carolina border, northern New York, central Wisconsin and there were widely scattered light showers in the South Dakota-Montana area and along the far West Coast.

Minor tornadoes were reported in sections of Oklahoma, Texas and Kansas yesterday. No injuries were reported.

Arkansas Bar Group Meets in Hot Springs

HOT SPRINGS (AP) — The Arkansas Bar Association opened its two-day convention here today with a move under way to elect a hometown attorney to the vice presidency.

Friends of Eugene A. Matthews of Hot Springs are campaigning for him as the next vice president. Tradition elevates the vice president to the presidency in one year.

Shields Goodwin of Little Rock, vice president of the association, is scheduled to advance to the presidency tomorrow, succeeding J. M. Smallwood of Russellville.

The convention was called to order at 9:30 a m., by Lt. Gov. Nathan Gordon of Morrilton, chairman of the ABA's Executive Committee.

Tax problems were scheduled for discussion at the morning session.

Atty. gen. John Ben Sheppard of Texas was scheduled to address a luncheon meeting.

An afternoon panel was slated to discuss professional ethics in Arkansas. Shackleford Miller Jr., judge of the U.S. Sixth Circuit Court of Appeals, moderated. Other members were Fred M. Pickens Jr., of Newport, Paul Sullins of Crossett and Edward L. Wright of Little Rock.

Thurman Arnold of Washington, former New Deal trust-buster, will address the convention Friday. His subject will be the "American Ideal of a Fair Trial."

Diem Receives Backing of Big Three

PARIS (AP) The United States, France and Britain were reported united today in backing embattled Premier Ngo Dinh Diem as head of the South Viet Nam government. They apparently gave chief of state Bao Dai a new but possibly short lease on his job.

Soon after the accord was disclosed here, a complaintion arose. Saigon dispatches said Diem is asking France either to group its expeditionary corps in South Viet Nam at the 17th Parallel or withdraw it from the country.

The 17th Parallel marks the boundary between South Viet Nam and the northern territory turned over to the Communist-led Vietminh under last year's Geneva armistice. The French force of some 80,000 men now is based chiefly in the Saigon area, at Tourane in central Viet Nam and at Cap St. Jacques, on the coast southeast f the capital city.

The United States, France and Britain reportedly had agreed last night that the French troops should be brought home as the training of the Vietnamese national army progressed.

Pulitzer Prize Winner Says He Was Happier When He Was Poor and Really Had Nothing

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)— He sat there—the man across the luncheon table, small, dark-eyed, polite talking, with a whip in his mind.

The whip is the one with which he lashes mankind and himself for failing to dream as big as people can, and for not attaining the dreams they do have.

Asked when he was most happy in his life, William Faulkner, student of failure and recent Publizer prize winner, started off:

"Success comes too easy in this country. There are many ways to make money and they all spell success."

Faulkner may appear to some as the intellectual's Mickey Spillane. But his reverence is for a man like Thomas Wolfe, whom he calls the most magnificent failure of his generation, because "he tried to do more than flesh and blood could. He tried to reduce the human heart into a paragraph."

"We measure greatness by the distance between the dream and the failure. We all fail. None of us match the dream."

Faulkner, who is a small man with obviously fastidious tastes, grew up with physical and literary bohemoths, such as Wolfe and Hemingway.

"In our generation we were all failures. Myself, Dos Passos, Hemingway, Wolfe. Wolfe was the finest failure."

Faulkner when asked how many books he has written, gives a vague answer.

"Somewhere between 18 and 22, probably 20."

When asked how many books he

TACOMA, Wash. (UP) middle-aged Tacoma couple who inherited $743,918 from a friend refused to be excited about the bequest today and said "We've lost a dear friend, we'd sooner have him than the money."

Mr. and Mrs. John J. Donohue were left the money by William G. Stedmond, a former farmer in the area who died in February.

Donohue, a disabled truck driver, was informed of the inheritance yesterday.

"My, isn't that a lot of money," he commented.

"Mr. Stedmond was our closest friend," Mrs. Donohue said. "He told us a few days before he died he was naming us in his will. But we thought the estate would amount to his farm and that was all."

Taxes will take up about half the estate according to attorneys and the Donohues said they were in no hurry to realize their inheritance.

"Mr. Stedmond wouldn't have wanted us to make a fuss,' 'said Mrs. Donohue."He was a very quiet man. He loved his farm."

Donohue at one time helped Stedmond operate a 32-acre farm southeast of here. Stedmond, a native of Ireland, came to the United States about 35 years ago. He was a widower without children and the son of whealthy Irish parents.

Suit Involves Two Major Industries

LITTLE ROCK, (UP) — The State Public Service Commission was the object of a suit filed yesterday in chancery court here by Lion Oil Company of El Dorado and International Paper Company of Camden.

The two major industries sought a temporary injunction to prevent the commission from hearing arguments on whether to make permanent a $4,300,000 rate increase Arkansas Louisiana Gas Company is now charging major industrial users on a temporary basis and under refunding bond.

The plaintiffs in the suit claim the PSC exceeded its authority in permitting the temporary increase

French Asked by Diem to Recall Troops

By JOHN RODERICK

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Premier Ngo Dinh Diem is asking France to withdraw its army in South Viet Nam to the 17th Parallel or pull completely out of the turbulent country, a government spokesman said today.

The spokesman said Diem had instructed his brother, roving ambassador Ngo Dinh Luyen, to present the request to the French in Paris. The 17th Parallel separates South Viet Nam and Communist-ruled North Viet Nam.

The French expeditionary corps, numbering between 70,000 and 80,000, now is based chiefly in the Saigon area, at Tourane in central Viet Nam, and at Cap St. Jacques, on the coast southeast of the capital.

Prospects of any imediate French compliance with such a request appeared slim. The bulk of Viet Nam's French population and of France's holdings are concentrated in the areas where the French troops are based.

Earlier today in Paris U. S. Secretary of State Dulles and French Premier Edgar Faure were reported to have agreed to give Diem united backing after weeks of French opposition to the Nationalist Premier. Faure reportedly agreed to speed up the evacuation of the expeditionary crops, while the United States in turn would pressure the Vietnamese Premier to stop what the French consider a propaganda campaign against them.

The spokesman for Diem asserted that as long as the French troops remain in Saigon and other Somuth Viet Nam centers, it will be a source of friction and an object of Nationalist resentment.

He added that since the French role in South Viet Nam officially is to insure the South against encroachment from the Communist Vietminh in North Viet Nam, the best means of accomplishing this would be to station the French corps at the 17th Parallel.

China Pledges to Join Allies in War

WARSAW, Poland — (AP) Communist China pledged today that she will fight alongside the Soviet Union and her allies if war is unleashed in Europe.

Peng Teh-huai, Red China's defense minister and deputy prime minister, made that declaration in the name of the Peiping government at a session of a Warsaw conference called to establish an Eastern defense organization to rival the North Atlantic Treaty Organization set up by the West.

Peng also declared Peiping stands firmly for peaceful co-existence. He said his government is ready to negotitate on any international differences — including Formosa. But he warned that "to sober military adventurers" it should be firmly understood that the current balance of forces hangs in the favor of the "camp of peace and socialism."

Ike Secretive on Political Plans

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Preident Eisenhower is said to be keeping even his close friends in the dark about his plans for 1956.

Recent White House visitors were said authoritatively to have been instructed by the President's aides not to bring up the subject of 1956. Those instructions have gone to some who are regarded as among his closest political associates.

Forrest City Ready to Take in Escapees

By TOM DYGARD

FORREST CITY, (AP)—Tomorrow is "Operation Able" for this east Arkansas town and about 20,000 people from surrounding areas, escapees from an imaginary bombing raid, will rush in for refuge.

There will be three times as many "evacuees" as homefolks in this cotton country town of about 7,500.

The bus loads of refugees will be volunteers recruited to help Civil Defense authorities learn more about problems encountered when a small city is called on to take care of a mob of civilians from a devastated area.

For a short time armed National Guard troops and police will patrol the streets of Forrest City, alert to any evidence of looters on a rampage. Fighter plans and bombers will roar overhead, offering air protection for fleeing civilians. Refugees will be fed and sheltered. Medcal aid stations will be set up.

This will be the first dress rehearsal of its kind in the United States. Other American cities, with an eye cocked toward the danger of atomic attack, have practiced getting their own people out of town.

This time they are going to practice taking care of people bombed out of their homes.

The imaginary target is Memphis and the time of the attack is 1:06 p.m. (CST). People at Forrest City will take cover until the area is checked for dangerous radiation.

After the all clear is sounded, B-47 jet bombers and F-86 jet fighters will zoom over, covering the parade of refugees making their way from their bombed out homes to Forrest City.

For purposes of the drill, it will be assumed that most of the refugees are hungry, weary, frightened survivors of any enemy raid on Memphis, 35 miles away.

Senators Also Call for End to Strike

ATLANTA (AP)Two U.S. senators have joined union leaders in calling on the Southern Bell Telephone Co. to agree to arbitration in its dispute with striking workers.

Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn) told the Senate yesterday that he sent identical messages to the company and to the CIO Communications Workers of America, urging arbitration.

He said President J. A. Beirne of the CWA replied that the union would agree to submit unsettled issues to impartial arbitrators recommended by the federal mediation service.

Kefauver added that he had not heard from the telephone company but hoped to have word soon.

Sen. Long (D-La) supported Kefauver's stand.

Officer Named in $15,000 Lawsuit

PINE BLUFF, (AP)—Lt. Col. T.C. Williams, executive officer at the Pine Bluff Arsenal, has been named defendant in a $15,000 slander suit filed in Jefferson Circuit Court.

Albert B. Peek of Pine Bluff said in his complaint that statements made by Williams would adversely affect his chances for furute employment.

The suit contends that the statements were made at an informal hearing in connection with the termination of Peek's employment March 10 at the arsenal.

PHS Ready to Release First Batch of Vaccine

By VINCENT J. BURKE

WASHINGTON (UP) — The Public Health Service expects to release the first batch of embargoed Salk vaccine today and resume the nation's polio vaccination program after a six-day halt.

Informed sources said the expect a favorable report before nightfall from a team of federal experts who have been checking vaccine produced by Parke Davis and Co. in Detroit.

Barring a last-minute hitch, the health service hopes to notify all health authorities late today that "several batches" of Parke Davis vaccine have been doublechecked and are approved for immediate use in inoculations.

Informants said the batches to be cleared probably represent several hundred thousand doses of the vaccine. These doses already are in the hands of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, local health officials, and private physicians.

This means that inoculations in some areas could resume tomorrow. Michigan, of course, refused to halt its immunization program on the grounds it had complete confidence in its vaccine supplies—mostly Parke Davis.

The vaccine expected to be cleared today was approved by the Public Health Service some time ago. But Dr Leonard A. Scheele, U.S. surgeon general, ordered a recheck Saturday of all vaccine stocks after more than 50 cases of polio had developed among vaccinated children. The officially-reported number is now 62.

While the recheck was in progress he strongly recommended that all inoculations be halted and the great immunication project in history ground virtually to a halt.

A team health service experts, headed by Dr. William G. Workman, made a detailed study of Parke Davis' vaccine records here and then went to Detroit yesterday to conduct an on-the-spot sheck of th firm's manufacturing and testing methods.

Informed sources said the experts will be at Parke Davis a few more days, but they are expected to complete their recheck on "several" branches today.

These sources described this estimate as a "reasonable expectation.' Scheele will send the clearance notification to the national foundation, state and local health authorities, and to private physicians.

Meantime, Rep. A. L. Miller (R-Neb.), a physician, cautioned the House against "abrupt action" in the vaccine matter that might prove ill-advised. He urged a moraotium on attacks on Scheele and Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby.

3 Co-ops Against Ozark Plant

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A proposed 15 million dollar steam generating plant at Ozark, Ark., has received the backing of all but three of Arkansas' 18 rural electric co-operatives.

The three co-ops which have not joined the plan are expected to fall in line shortly, said Harry L. Oswald, executive manager of the Arkansas Electric Co-operative Corp.

Co-op representatives met here yesterday to discuss plans for the 100,000 kilowatt plant.

Oswald said July 1, 1956 had been set as the target date for filing a loan application with the Rural Electric Administration for financing construction.

British Envoy Visiting in Arkansas

LITTLE ROCK, (UP) —British Ambassador Sir Roger Makins and his wife will arrive here this afternoon for a two-day visit to include dinner at Winthrop Rockefeller's farm and a speech before the Chamber of Commerce.

Sir Roger and Lady Makins will be greeted by the mayors of Little Rock and North Little Rock, the county judge and other officials, and chamber representatives when they arrive by plane from Washington.

They will fly to Winrock, Rockefeller's estate atop Petit Jean Mountain near Morrilton, for dinner tonight.

Lady Makins will tour the Arkansas Territorial restration here tomorrow morning, and will meet British war brides living here.

She will join her husband for an official call on Gov, and Mrs. Orval E. Faubus at the mansion before the Chamber of Commerce luncheon, at which Sir Rober will speak.

They will leave for Washington Friday afternoon, stopping at Memphis enroute to visit the Cotton Carnival.

Russia Agrees to Austrian Treaty on West Terms

By ROBERT BRANSON

VIENNA, Austria, (UP) —The Soviet Union agreed today to sign an Austrian state treaty on Western terms in one of the biggest breaks of the long cold war.

The East-West agreement paved the way for the Big Four foreign ministers to meet in Vienna this weekend to sign the treaty and arrange a later conference of the Big Four heads of government.

U. S. Ambassador Llewellyn E. Thompson, head of the American treaty delegation, told newsmen at the end of todays crucial session: "The treaty will be signed Sunday."

He said a joint five-power communique would be issued later today on the successful outcome of the parley.

The sudden break in the treaty negotiations came after 11 days of deadlock over the terms of Article 35 of the 59-article document. Article 35 governs Austria's debts to the Soviet Union.

The dispute involved Austrian oil and shipping properties, which the Russians took over as war reparations. The Soviets promised Austria last month that these properties would be returned. This was a sensational concession, but until today Russia had refused to write it into the treaty.

The West insisted, and won its point, that the agreement to be put into the treaty.

The deadlock had threatened to break up the conference. The United States had served an ultimatum on the Soviet Union to agree upon a completed draft treaty today or call off Sunday's foreign ministers session at which the treaty was to be signed.

Registered Seed Oats to Be Observed

Taggart oats produced from Registered seed is an added feature of the Pasture Tour Friday, May 13, said County Agent Oliver L. Adams this morning.

At one o'clock Friday the Breeder Taggart oats may be observed at the Roy Sewald farm at Oakhaven, formerly the Cecil Wyatt farm, near the officers quarters in the old SPG area. See the Taggart oats growing from new seed. Maybe there is a place on your farm for seed for planting from seed stock nearer the breeder.

Twenty bushel of the registered Taggart oats were planted through a special arranged purchase through the Arkansas Seed Council, an organization for the distribution of new and improved varieties of field crops. It is the goal of the county agricultural planning committee to produce quality seed for local plantings to a greater extent on farms of our immediate area.

The Pasture Tour begins Friday morning at 9:00 at the Dale Jones farm five miles east of Hope on 67 road. The county agent's office in the county court house will provide you with additional details. Phone Prospect 7-2411.

Test Suit Filed in Bond Issue

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A Little Rock real estate man has filed a test suit against the Justice Building Commission to determine validity of a bond issue which is planned to finance construction of the building on the Capitol grounds.

Wood McArthur contends that the bond issue, authorized by the 1955 Legislagure, is illegal.

Pulaski Chancellor Guy Williams sustained a contention of the commission that the suit did not set out a cause of action. That permitted an immediate appeal to the state Supreme Court.

However, there is speculation that the Supreme Court might disqualify itself because the proposed building would house the Supreme Court. About 20 years ago the Supreme Court disqualified itself in a case in which its own salaries were involved. A special court was appointed to pass on the suit.

Distribution of Vaccine Is Unsolved

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—How is the antipolio vaccine going to be distributed so that those who need it first get it first, whether or not they can pay for it? That's one of the biggest, unsolved problems in the fight against polio.

The government—that is, the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, headed by Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby—had time to plan for this problem before any vaccine was distributed. Apparently it did nothing.

It still has produced no answers although this week Mrs. Hobby is expected to make recommendations to President Eisenhower. She is not likely to suggest federal control. She has been against that.

On April 12 she gave permission to drug manufacturers to start distributing the vaccine. This was done a few hours after announcement that last summer's test on several hundred thousand children had been 60 to 90 per cent effective.

The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis has contracted with manufacturers to produce vaccine to give free shots to nine million children in the first and second grades. All other people will have to pay for shots unless somehow they can get them free.

What of those in the susceptibel age group (1 to 9) who can't afford to pay for shots by a private physician and have no other way of getting the vaccine? There is no answer on that.

And what assurance is there those in the most susceptible age group will get shots before any of the short-supply vaccine is given to older people? There is no nationwide plan on that either.

It would seem that Mrs. Hobby's department could have done what the polio foundation did: take a chance the April 12 report would be favorable and prepare for distribution in advance.

On Eisenhower's instructions Mrs. Hobby called a meeting April 22 of doctors, health officials and drug manufacturers. They recommended the vaccine be allocated among the states, without federal controls, on the basis of state populations in the 1 to 9 age group. It would be left up to the states to plan the distribution.

Meanwhile, as it became clear there would be a vaccine shortage extending into 1956, members of Congress began demanding that distribution not be left to chance. Bills were introduced to impose federal controls.

Eisenhower told a news conference May 4: "There will never be any child in the United States denied this emergency protection for want of ability to pay. Of that we are absolutely certain."

Shortly afterward his press secretary James C. Hagerty said if a situation developed where some children could not get vaccine for lack of money, the President would immediately ask Congress for authority to buy up the whole supply.

But such an idea, before it became a reality, would take time (1) to be aware of such situations and verify them, (2) get authority from Congress and (3) set up federal distribution.

And time is one of the prime factors in the antipolio fight, since the peak polio season arrives with the summer months.

DEATH OF A LEGEND

CHAPTER XXVII

As Jesse burst out of the bank, the first Northfieldian fell. He was an unarmed, noncombatant laborer, and was literally torn apart by bandit bullets as he ran for cover. His senseless execution was the spark that blew up Northfield.

Enraged, one of his armed fellow townsmen ran out onto the sidewalk, blasted a shotgun charge at point-blank range into Clell Miller, now mounted up with Charlie Pitts, guarding Jesse's and Bob's horses. The charge struck him full in the chest and face. Spraying blood, he fought blindly for leather, found the horn, stayed in the saddle. Jesse and Bob were now both clear of the bank, crouching behind their tied horses, fighting furiously at the knotted reins.

Bill Chadwell, riding between Frank and Jim Younger, took a Winchester bullet through the heart. He slid out of the saddle so quietly his companions did not know he had been hit until his riderless horse galloped past and ahead of them.

Clell Miller, still streaming blood, kicked his horse away from the bank's hitchrail, abandoning Bob and Jesse to the closing crowd. A Civil War musket boomed from the window of Allen's Hardware. The .50-caliber ball passed through both lungs, severing an artery. Clell struck the dirt of Division Street, "flopped around like a crazy chicken and died right there in front of the bank."

Frank took a slug through the right calf. Cole was shot in shoulder and thigh. Both were still mounted when Jesse, at last freeing his black from the rail, hammered toward them.

His plea drew only heavier fire from the advancing citizen snipers. Crouching, he ran back into the shelter of the bank entrance.

"It's no use, boys!" he scramed. "We've got to get out, they'll kill us all."

Cole's expression went dead blank.

"Hold up, Dingus," he said flatly. "How about Bob?"

The hysteria rose in pitch. "He's done for, bad hit. We cain't get him. There ain't no horse for him, no how!'

Cole drove the bay away from them, then, straight toward the bank, satnding in the stirrups, roaring to his brother, "Run out, Bob, run out!"

He was hit twice more through the body before he slid his mount up to the bank. They saw his big back twist and buck to the slugs as they tore into him. And they saw him reach the staggering Bob, seize him and swing him up behind him.

The powerful bay, lurching under the nearly 400 pounds, drove back across Division Street toward the bunched riders. He was too slow. Another rifle slug cut into Cole, his fifth in as many minutes. Still, he would not fall.

"All right," he grunted to the white-faced Jesse. "Lets get out. Bob's got his horse."

Theonly thing which could have happened to the master plan, the one thing Jesse had failed miserably to foresee and figure against, had happened. Bill Chadwell was gone.

The one man upon whom their leader's whole involved complex of planned retreat had so foolishly depended lay dead in the dust of Division Street. And dead with him lay the best chance of any man among them leaving Minnesota alive.

They were in a strange land. It was a deadly, flat land, thickly timbered, cross-cut by a dozen small streams, blind-trapped with a hundred uncharted lakes.

The village of Dundas, three miles south of Northfield, loomed ahead. They rode through it, their horses five abreast. No one challenged the bandits.

The news of Northfield was already chattering the Dundas telegraph key. But the key chattered alone. The telegrapher was away, absent from his board on a half-hour errand!

In Millersburg, reached at 4 p. m., the preposterous luck held. The regular telegrapher was at home, sick in bed. His assistant had locked the key open, gone down to the Little Cannon River to try for a fat wall-eye or frying-pan bass.

More curious gaped, more good citizens stared.

Younger met one farmer and relieved him of a fine horse. A second mounted native was encountered and lightened of the load of his saddle. Bob Younger was mounted again.

For the first time since leaving Northfield, there were sound horses all around.

Twilight came quickly on. Ahead lay 12 hours of darkness. Twelve hours which, with any reasonable continuance of their unbelievable luck, could take them 50 miles and more toward freedom. Tired muscles relaxed, jawlines eased.

But luck was done with them.

Six miles from Millersburg, Bob Younger's borrowed saddle parted its girth. The tall youth fell heavily in the darkness, crushing his injured arm beneath him. He remembered the bursting shock of the pain, and nothing more.

Cole took him in his arms, like a great, blood-smeared child, carrying him unconscious before him as he rode.

Networks Plan Comeback Try Against TV

By WAYNE OLIVER

NEW YORK (AP)—The radio networks, much harder hit than individual radio stations by television's inroads, plan strong measures to try to halt the decline in their fortunes and audiences.

NBC radio, starting June 12, will toss out its entire weekend schedule to inaugurate what it calls a new concept in radio programing. Entitled Monitor, it will be a continuous integrated schedule of news, music, discussion an dentertainment from 8 a.m. Saturday to midnight Sunday.

CBS radio is breaking with tradition to keep most of its major shows on the air right through the summer, traditionally the time for lightweight replacements. Bing Crosby, Amos 'n' Andy, Rudy Vallee, Art Linkletter and others will continue this summer.

Mutual, only one of the nationwide radio chains that never got into TV network operations, has notified affiliated stations of an announcement May 22 of an entirely new approach to radio network service.

Total broadcast time sales for radio in 1954, including both stations and networks, were estimated by Broadcasting-Telecasting Magazine at 453 million dollars, down only 5 per cent from the record high of 477 million dollars in 1953. But national radio networks accounted for only 76 million dollars of the total compared with nearly 93 million in 1953 and nearly 134 million in 1948.

The answer is that individual radio stations are relying less on network programs and sponsors and more on local programs and sponsors. The network hope to reverse the trend.

Officials in N. J. Probe Are Suicides

ELIZABETH, N.J. (AP)— Two Elizabeth officials, who testified before a Union County grand jury probing alleged laxity in connection with gambling, committed suicide yesterday.

A bullet in the head ended the life of 65-year-old Police Capt. August F. Winkelmann, who had been on terminal leave and was due to retire next month.

Fire Commissioner Francis De Stephan, 39, waded fully clothed into Raritan Bay and was drowned.

Both deaths were listed officially as suicides. Both men were found in Monmouth County, about 25 miles apart. De Stephan's body was removed from marshland in Matawan Township. Winkelman was still alive when found near the Manasquan River inlet. He died later in Point Pleasant hospital.

Neither man left suicide notes, police said.

Union County Prosecutor H. Russel Morss Jr. told newsmen he "couldn't say whether there was any connection" between the deaths of Winkelmann and De Stephan. Morss also declined comment on whether either man had been scheduled to appear again before the grand jury.

Winkelmann had refused to honor his first grand jury subpoena, but finally testified April 26. De Stephan had been called before the panel March 2 but didn't testify until 19 days later.

The fire commissioner's brother Dr. Joseph L. De Stephan, a dentist, said Francis had been worried about his appearance before the grand jury and also was concerned over debts.

The grand jury proble began 11 weeks ago, and indictments have been returned against three persons.

'THEME' SONG

MCMINNVILLE, Ore., (UP — Dr. Albury Castell, head of the philosophy department at the University of Oregon, was waiting on the rostrum to give a chapel lecture at Linfield college when the student choir began singing. They sang "Give us courage," give us wisdom for the facing of this hour."

Turner's Fate Up to Faubus

Turner, former nightclub operator convicted of the fatal shooting of Lloyd R. Squire of North Little Rock, was declared "legally sane" yesterday by State Hospital psychiatrists.

Their finding leaves it up to Faubus whether Turner will be put to death for the slaying of Squire, a suitor of Turner's divorced wife. Faubus must now fix a date for Turner's electrocution unless he decides to commute the sentence to life imprisonment.

If Turner had been found insane he would have been committed automatically to the hospital for an indefinite time.

Squire, a public relations representative for a railroad, was shot April 14, 1954, outside the apartment building where Mrs. Turner lived.

Turner was convicted in Ouachita Circuit Court and the Arkansas Supreme Court upheld the conviction.

President Almost Certain to Veto Postal Increase

By JOE HALL

WASHINGTON (AP) A quick presidential veto, perhaps by Monday, reportedly awaits a bill to raise postal workers' pay 8.8 per cent. Sen. Carlson (R-Kan) said he is certain the Senate will sustain the veto if it comes.

The Senate passed the compromise measure 66-11 late yesterday and sent it to President Eisenhower. The House acted Monday 328-66.

Carlson said the President never had discussed a veto with him, but it was learned the White House has told key Republican lawmakers they can expect a veto message quickly.

Eisenhower, who favored a smaller raise, has said publicly only that he would study the matter carefully.

The 66-11 tally was far more than enough to override a veto, but Carlson said there would be many switches if and when the question of sustaining the President arises.

Marines Fight to Save Cut in Forces

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST

WASHINGTON —(AP) Champions of the Marine Corps claimed a fighting chance today in their bid to have the House upset President Eisenhower's plans to trim that service's forces.

But they were less optimistic over the possibility of blocking planned cuts in Army and Navy strength.

The House scheduled votes late today on a series of amendments which would add $409,993,500 to a bill to appropriate $31,488,206,000 to finance the Defense Department for the fiscal year starting July 1.

As drafted by the House Appropriations Committee, the bill approves the President's program to reduce over-all military manpower by more than 100,000 during the year. The Army would be cut 87,000 men.

Leading the fight to prevent the cuts is Rep. Flood (D-Pa), who told newsmen, "I don't think it's a good idea to cut military strength a single man below what we planned and financed for the present year."

Bargaining to Be Rough, Ike Will Discover

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower may find himself involved in harder bargaining than he seems to expect if and when he sits down with Russian Premier Nikolai Bulganin at Big Four talks.

Bulganin may well press a whole set of basic demands outlined in a new program for disarmament and ending the cold war which Moscow made public Tuesday night.

A word of caution against approaching any heads-of-state talks with "a defeatist attitude" came today from Chairman George (D-Ga) of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. George, who had urged such talks at a time when Eisenhower was cool to the idea, said "the administration should take the "strong initiative" in its approach.

His comments were obviously prompted by Eisenhower's statement yesterday that his willingness to meet with the heads of state of Britain, France and Russia was based in part on "a vague feeling some good night come out of such a conference."

"One thing that is disturbing to me," George said, "is whether we are moving with any real conviction to take the initiative, rather than just acquiescing.

"There seems to me to be a lack of enthusiasm and a lack of positive attitude on our part toward a top level conference which if we take the strong initiative, might do some good.

"We must recognize all the possibilities of failure in any such conference, but we should have a positive, not a defeatist attitude toward it. If we are going to accomplish anything in the world, we have to have such a positive attitude and I'm afraid we don't have it now."

EL DORADO, (AP)—The Lion Oil Co. has announced the purchase of the physical properties of two Tennessee oil companies.

A. F. Reed, vice president for sales, said the company brought the properties of Elk Oil Co. of Fayetteville, Tenn., and Consumers Oil Co. of Winchester, Tenn.

Rain Continues to Pelt Much of U. S.

By The Associated Press

Sections of the south central part of the country, hit by heavy rain and windstorms for several days, got more rain today.

The main wet area centered in Missouri and fringes of adjoining states with scattered but locally heavy showers and thundershowers extending southwestward into parts of Texas. Rainfall in Corpus Christi, Tex., was a little more than 2 inches in 24 hours.

There were a few other wet spots. Light rain fell near the Virginia-Carolina border, northern New York, central Wisconsin and there were widely scattered light showers in the South Dakota-Montana area and along the far West Coast.

Minor tornadoes were reported in sections of Oklahoma, Texas and Kansas yesterday. No injuries were reported.

Arkansas Bar Group Meets in Hot Springs

HOT SPRINGS (AP) — The Arkansas Bar Association opened its two-day convention here today with a move under way to elect a hometown attorney to the vice presidency.

Friends of Eugene A. Matthews of Hot Springs are campaigning for him as the next vice president. Tradition elevates the vice president to the presidency in one year.

Shields Goodwin of Little Rock, vice president of the association, is scheduled to advance to the presidency tomorrow, succeeding J. M. Smallwood of Russellville.

The convention was called to order at 9:30 a m., by Lt. Gov. Nathan Gordon of Morrilton, chairman of the ABA's Executive Committee.

Tax problems were scheduled for discussion at the morning session.

Atty. gen. John Ben Sheppard of Texas was scheduled to address a luncheon meeting.

An afternoon panel was slated to discuss professional ethics in Arkansas. Shackleford Miller Jr., judge of the U.S. Sixth Circuit Court of Appeals, moderated. Other members were Fred M. Pickens Jr., of Newport, Paul Sullins of Crossett and Edward L. Wright of Little Rock.

Thurman Arnold of Washington, former New Deal trust-buster, will address the convention Friday. His subject will be the "American Ideal of a Fair Trial."

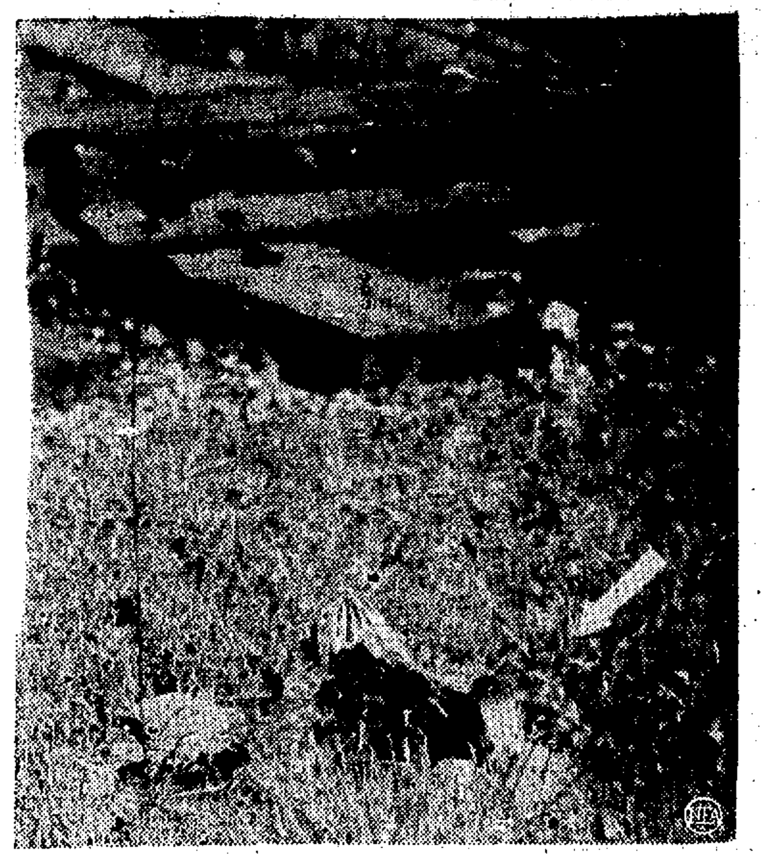
Diem Receives Backing of Big Three

PARIS (AP) The United States, France and Britain were reported united today in backing embattled Premier Ngo Dinh Diem as head of the South Viet Nam government. They apparently gave chief of state Bao Dai a new but possibly short lease on his job.

Soon after the accord was disclosed here, a complaintion arose. Saigon dispatches said Diem is asking France either to group its expeditionary corps in South Viet Nam at the 17th Parallel or withdraw it from the country.

The 17th Parallel marks the boundary between South Viet Nam and the northern territory turned over to the Communist-led Vietminh under last year's Geneva armistice. The French force of some 80,000 men now is based chiefly in the Saigon area, at Tourane in central Viet Nam and at Cap St. Jacques, on the coast southeast f the capital city.

The United States, France and Britain reportedly had agreed last night that the French troops should be brought home as the training of the Vietnamese national army progressed.



NOISY NEST — Most ducks usually seek a nesting place far from the city's bustle when it comes time to hatch their eggs, but this Mallard hen (arrow) couldn't have picked a much more heavily trafficked spot than this one just three feet from a much used railroad track. Couple Left $743,918 by a Friend

TACOMA, Wash. (UP) middle-aged Tacoma couple who inherited $743,918 from a friend refused to be excited about the bequest today and said "We've lost a dear friend, we'd sooner have him than the money."

Mr. and Mrs. John J. Donohue were left the money by William G. Stedmond, a former farmer in the area who died in February.

Donohue, a disabled truck driver, was informed of the inheritance yesterday.

"My, isn't that a lot of money," he commented.

"Mr. Stedmond was our closest friend," Mrs. Donohue said. "He told us a few days before he died he was naming us in his will. But we thought the estate would amount to his farm and that was all."

Taxes will take up about half the estate according to attorneys and the Donohues said they were in no hurry to realize their inheritance.

"Mr. Stedmond wouldn't have wanted us to make a fuss,' 'said Mrs. Donohue."He was a very quiet man. He loved his farm."

Donohue at one time helped Stedmond operate a 32-acre farm southeast of here. Stedmond, a native of Ireland, came to the United States about 35 years ago. He was a widower without children and the son of whealthy Irish parents.

Suit Involves Two Major Industries

LITTLE ROCK, (UP) — The State Public Service Commission was the object of a suit filed yesterday in chancery court here by Lion Oil Company of El Dorado and International Paper Company of Camden.

The two major industries sought a temporary injunction to prevent the commission from hearing arguments on whether to make permanent a $4,300,000 rate increase Arkansas Louisiana Gas Company is now charging major industrial users on a temporary basis and under refunding bond.

The plaintiffs in the suit claim the PSC exceeded its authority in permitting the temporary increase

French Asked by Diem to Recall Troops

By JOHN RODERICK

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Premier Ngo Dinh Diem is asking France to withdraw its army in South Viet Nam to the 17th Parallel or pull completely out of the turbulent country, a government spokesman said today.

The spokesman said Diem had instructed his brother, roving ambassador Ngo Dinh Luyen, to present the request to the French in Paris. The 17th Parallel separates South Viet Nam and Communist-ruled North Viet Nam.

The French expeditionary corps, numbering between 70,000 and 80,000, now is based chiefly in the Saigon area, at Tourane in central Viet Nam, and at Cap St. Jacques, on the coast southeast of the capital.

Prospects of any imediate French compliance with such a request appeared slim. The bulk of Viet Nam's French population and of France's holdings are concentrated in the areas where the French troops are based.

Earlier today in Paris U. S. Secretary of State Dulles and French Premier Edgar Faure were reported to have agreed to give Diem united backing after weeks of French opposition to the Nationalist Premier. Faure reportedly agreed to speed up the evacuation of the expeditionary crops, while the United States in turn would pressure the Vietnamese Premier to stop what the French consider a propaganda campaign against them.

The spokesman for Diem asserted that as long as the French troops remain in Saigon and other Somuth Viet Nam centers, it will be a source of friction and an object of Nationalist resentment.

He added that since the French role in South Viet Nam officially is to insure the South against encroachment from the Communist Vietminh in North Viet Nam, the best means of accomplishing this would be to station the French corps at the 17th Parallel.

China Pledges to Join Allies in War

WARSAW, Poland — (AP) Communist China pledged today that she will fight alongside the Soviet Union and her allies if war is unleashed in Europe.

Peng Teh-huai, Red China's defense minister and deputy prime minister, made that declaration in the name of the Peiping government at a session of a Warsaw conference called to establish an Eastern defense organization to rival the North Atlantic Treaty Organization set up by the West.

Peng also declared Peiping stands firmly for peaceful co-existence. He said his government is ready to negotitate on any international differences — including Formosa. But he warned that "to sober military adventurers" it should be firmly understood that the current balance of forces hangs in the favor of the "camp of peace and socialism."

Pulitzer Prize Winner Says He Was Happier When He Was Poor and Really Had Nothing

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)— He sat there—the man across the luncheon table, small, dark-eyed, polite talking, with a whip in his mind.

The whip is the one with which he lashes mankind and himself for failing to dream as big as people can, and for not attaining the dreams they do have.

Asked when he was most happy in his life, William Faulkner, student of failure and recent Publizer prize winner, started off:

"Success comes too easy in this country. There are many ways to make money and they all spell success."

Faulkner may appear to some as the intellectual's Mickey Spillane. But his reverence is for a man like Thomas Wolfe, whom he calls the most magnificent failure of his generation, because "he tried to do more than flesh and blood could. He tried to reduce the human heart into a paragraph."

"We measure greatness by the distance between the dream and the failure. We all fail. None of us match the dream."

Faulkner, who is a small man with obviously fastidious tastes, grew up with physical and literary bohemoths, such as Wolfe and Hemingway.

"In our generation we were all failures. Myself, Dos Passos, Hemingway, Wolfe. Wolfe was the finest failure."

Faulkner when asked how many books he has written, gives a vague answer.

"Somewhere between 18 and 22, probably 20."

When asked how many books he

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Preident Eisenhower is said to be keeping even his close friends in the dark about his plans for 1956.

Recent White House visitors were said authoritatively to have been instructed by the President's aides not to bring up the subject of 1956. Those instructions have gone to some who are regarded as among his closest political associates.

Forrest City Ready to Take in Escapees

By TOM DYGARD

FORREST CITY, (AP)—Tomorrow is "Operation Able" for this east Arkansas town and about 20,000 people from surrounding areas, escapees from an imaginary bombing raid, will rush in for refuge.

There will be three times as many "evacuees" as homefolks in this cotton country town of about 7,500.

The bus loads of refugees will be volunteers recruited to help Civil Defense authorities learn more about problems encountered when a small city is called on to take care of a mob of civilians from a devastated area.

For a short time armed National Guard troops and police will patrol the streets of Forrest City, alert to any evidence of looters on a rampage. Fighter plans and bombers will roar overhead, offering air protection for fleeing civilians. Refugees will be fed and sheltered. Medcal aid stations will be set up.

This will be the first dress rehearsal of its kind in the United States. Other American cities, with an eye cocked toward the danger of atomic attack, have practiced getting their own people out of town.

This time they are going to practice taking care of people bombed out of their homes.

The imaginary target is Memphis and the time of the attack is 1:06 p.m. (CST). People at Forrest City will take cover until the area is checked for dangerous radiation.

After the all clear is sounded, B-47 jet bombers and F-86 jet fighters will zoom over, covering the parade of refugees making their way from their bombed out homes to Forrest City.

For purposes of the drill, it will be assumed that most of the refugees are hungry, weary, frightened survivors of any enemy raid on Memphis, 35 miles away.

Senators Also Call for End to Strike

ATLANTA (AP) Two U.S. senators have joined union leaders in calling on the Southern Bell Telephone Co. to agree to arbitration in its dispute with striking workers.

Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn) told the Senate yesterday that he sent identical messages to the company and to the CIO Communications Workers of America, urging arbitration.

He said President J. A. Beirne of the CWA replied that the union would agree to submit unsettled issues to impartial arbitrators recommended by the federal mediation service.

Kefauver added that he had not heard from the telephone company but hoped to have word soon.

Sen. Long (D-La) supported Kefauver's stand.

Officer Named in $15,000 Lawsuit

PINE BLUFF, (AP)—Lt. Col. T.C. Williams, executive officer at the Pine Bluff Arsenal, has been named defendant in a $15,000 slander suit filed in Jefferson Circuit Court.

Albert B. Peek of Pine Bluff said in his complaint that statements made by Williams would adversely affect his chances for furute employment.

The suit contends that the statements were made at an informal hearing in connection with the termination of Peek's employment March 10 at the arsenal.

PHS Ready to Release First Batch of Vaccine

By VINCENT J. BURKE

WASHINGTON (UP) — The Public Health Service expects to release the first batch of embargoed Salk vaccine today and resume the nation's polio vaccination program after a six-day halt.

Informed sources said the expect a favorable report before nightfall from a team of federal experts who have been checking vaccine produced by Parke Davis and Co. in Detroit.

Barring a last-minute hitch, the health service hopes to notify all health authorities late today that "several batches" of Parke Davis vaccine have been doublechecked and are approved for immediate use in inoculations.

Informants said the batches to be cleared probably represent several hundred thousand doses of the vaccine. These doses already are in the hands of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, local health officials, and private physicians.

This means that inoculations in some areas could resume tomorrow. Michigan, of course, refused to halt its immunization program on the grounds it had complete confidence in its vaccine supplies—mostly Parke Davis.

The vaccine expected to be cleared today was approved by the Public Health Service some time ago. But Dr Leonard A. Scheele, U.S. surgeon general, ordered a recheck Saturday of all vaccine stocks after more than 50 cases of polio had developed among vaccinated children. The officially-reported number is now 62.

While the recheck was in progress he strongly recommended that all inoculations be halted and the great immunication project in history ground virtually to a halt.

A team health service experts, headed by Dr. William G. Workman, made a detailed study of Parke Davis' vaccine records here and then went to Detroit yesterday to conduct an on-the-spot sheck of th firm's manufacturing and testing methods.

Informed sources said the experts will be at Parke Davis a few more days, but they are expected to complete their recheck on "several" branches today.

These sources described this estimate as a "reasonable expectation.' Scheele will send the clearance notification to the national foundation, state and local health authorities, and to private physicians.

Meantime, Rep. A. L. Miller (R-Neb.), a physician, cautioned the House against "abrupt action" in the vaccine matter that might prove ill-advised. He urged a moratium on attacks on Scheele and Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby.

3 Co-ops Against Ozark Plant

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A proposed 15 million dollar steam generating plant at Ozark, Ark., has received the backing of all but three of Arkansas' 18 rural electric co-operatives.

The three co-ops which have not joined the plan are expected to fall in line shortly, said Harry L. Oswald, executive manager of the Arkansas Electric Co-operative Corp.

Co-op representatives met here yesterday to discuss plans for the 100,000 kilowatt plant.

Oswald said July 1, 1956 had been set as the target date for filing a loan application with the Rural Electric Administration for financing construction.

She will join her husband for an official call on Gov. and Mrs. Orval E. Faubus at the mansion before the Chamber of Commerce luncheon, at which Sir Rober will speak.

They will leave for Washington Friday afternoon, stopping at Memphis enroute to visit the Cotton Carnival.

Russia Agrees to Austrian Treaty on West Terms

By ROBERT BRANSON

VIENNA, Austria, (UP) —The Soviet Union agreed today to sign an Austrian state treaty on Western terms in one of the biggest breaks of the long cold war.

The East-West agreement paved the way for the Big Four foreign ministers to meet in Vienna this weekend to sign the treaty and arrange a later conference of the Big Four heads of government.

U. S. Ambassador Llewellyn E. Thompson, head of the American treaty delegation, told newsmen at the end of todays crucial session: "The treaty will be signed Sunday.

He said a joint five-power communique would be issued later today on the successful outcome of the parley.

The sudden break in the treaty negotiations came after 11 days of deadlock over the terms of Article 35 of the 59-article document. Article 35 governs Austria's debts to the Soviet Union.

The dispute involved Austrian oil and shipping properties, which the Russians took over as war reparations. The Soviets promised Austria last month that these properties would be returned. This was a sensational concession, but until today Russia had refused to write it into the treaty.

The West insisted, and won its point, that the agreement to be put into the treaty.

The deadlock had threatened to break up the conference. The United States had served an ultimatum on the Soviet Union to agree upon a completed draft treaty today or call off Sunday's foreign ministers session at which the treaty was to be signed.

Registered Seed Oats to Be Observed

Taggart oats produced from Registered seed is an added feature of the Pasture Tour Friday, May 13, said County Agent Oliver L. Adams this morning.

At one o'clock Friday the Breeder Taggart oats may be observed at the Roy Sewald farm at Oakhaven, formerly the Cecil Wyatt farm, near the officers quarters in the old SPG area. See the Taggart oats growing from new seed. May be there is a place on your farm for seed for planting from seed stock nearer the breeder.

Twenty bushel of the registered Taggart oats were planted through a special arranged purchase through the Arkansas Seed Council, an organization for the distribution of new and improved varieties of field crops. It is the goal of the county agricultural planning committee to produce quality seed for local plantings to a greater extent on farms of our immediate area.

The Pasture Tour begins Friday morning at 9:00 at the Dale Jones farm five miles east of Hope on 67 road. The county agent's office in the county court house will provide you with additional details. Phone Prospect 7-3411.

Test Suit Filed in Bond Issue

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A Little Rock real estate man has filed a test suit against the Justice Building Commission to determine validity of a bond issue which is planned to finance construction of the building on the Capitol grounds.

Wood McArthur contends that the bond issue, authorized by the 1955 Legislagure, is illegal.

Pulaski Chancellor Guy Williams sustained a contention of the commission that the suit did not set out a cause of action. That permitted an immediate appeal to the state Supreme Court.

However, there is speculation that the Supreme Court might disqualify itself because the proposed building would house the Supreme Court. About 20 years ago the Supreme Court disqualified itself in a case in which its own salaries were involved. A special court was appointed to pass on the suit.

Distribution of Vaccine Is Unsolved

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—How is the antipolio vaccine going to be distributed so that those who need it first get it first, whether or not they can pay for it? That's one of the biggest, unsolved problems in the fight against polio.

The government—that is, the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, headed by Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby—had time to plan for this problem before any vaccine was distributed. Apparently it did nothing.

It still has produced no answers although this week Mrs. Hobby is expected to make recommendations to President Eisenhower. She is not likely to suggest federal control. She has been against that.

On April 12 she gave permission to drug manufacturers to start distributing the vaccine. This was done a few hours after announcement that last summer's test on several hundred thousand children had been 60 to 90 per cent effective.

The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis has contracted with manufacturers to produce vaccine to give free shots to nine million children in the first and second grades. All other people will have to pay for shots unless somehow they can get them free.

What of those in the susceptibel age group (1 to 9) who can't afford to pay for shots by a private physician and have no other way of getting the vaccine? There is no answer on that.

And what assurance is there those in the most susceptible age group will get shots before any of the short-supply vaccine is given to older people? There is no nationwide plan on that either.

It would seem that Mrs. Hobby's department could have done what the polio foundation did: take a chance the April 12 report would be favorable and prepare for distribution in advance.

On Eisenhower's instructions Mrs. Hobby called a meeting April 22 of doctors, health officials and drug manufacturers. They recommended the vaccine be allocated among the states, without federal controls, on the basis of state populations in the 1 to 9 age group. It would be left up to the states to plan the distribution.

Meanwhile, as it became clear there would be a vaccine shortage extending into 1956, members of Congress began demanding that distribution not be left to chance. Bills were introduced to impose federal controls.

Eisenhower told a news conference May 4: "There will never be any child in the United States denied this emergency protection for want of ability to pay. Of that we are absolutely certain."

Shortly afterward his press secretary James C. Hagerty said if a situation developed where some children could not get vaccine for lack of money, the President would immediately ask Congress for authority to buy up the whole supply.

But such an idea, before it became a reality, would take time (1) to be aware of such situations and verify them, (2) get authority from Congress and (3) set up federal distribution.

And time is one of the prime factors in the antipolio fight, since the peak polio season arrives with the summer months.

DEATH OF A LEGEND

CHAPTER XXVII

As Jesse burst out of the bank, the first Northfieldian fell. He was an unarmed, noncombatant laborer, and was literally torn apart by bandit bullets as he ran for cover. His senseless execution was the spark that blew up Northfield.

Enraged, one of his armed fellow townsmen ran out onto the sidewalk, blasted a shotgun charge at point-blank range into Clell Miller, now mounted up with Charlie Pitts, guarding Jesse's and Bob's horses. The charge struck him full in the chest and face. Spraying blood, he fought blindly for leather, found the horn, stayed in the saddle. Jesse and Bob were now both clear of the bank, crouching behind their tied horses, fighting furiously at the knotted reins.

Bill Chadwell, riding between Frank and Jim Younger, took a Winchester bullet through the heart. He slid out of the saddle so quietly his companions did not know he had been hit until his riderless horse galloped past and ahead of them.

Clell Miller, still streaming blood, kicked his horse away from the bank's hitchrail, abandoning Bob and Jesse to the closing crowd. A Civil War musket boomed from the window of Allen's Hardware. The .50-caliber ball passed through both lungs, severing an artery. Clell struck the dirt of Division Street, "flopped around like a crazy chicken and died right there in front of the bank."

Frank took a slug through the right calf. Cole was shot in shoulder and thigh. Both were still mounted when Jesse, at last freeing his black from the rail, hammered toward them.

At the hitching rack, Bob, desperately wounded, right arm shattered from wrist to elbow by two Spencer slugs, his horse shot dead in his tracks, shouted after his leader. "Wait up, Jesse, wait up! They got my horse!"

His plea drew only heavier fire from the advancing citizen snipers. Crouching, he ran back into the shelter of the bank entrance.

"It's no use, boys!" he scramed. "We've got to get out, they'll kill us all."

Cole's expression went dead blank.

"Hold up, Dingus," he said flatly. "How about Bob?"

The hysteria rose in pitch. "He's done for, bad hit. We cain't get him. There ain't no horse for him, no how!"

Cole drove the bay away from them, then, straight toward the bank, satnding in the stirrups, roaring to his brother, "Run out, Bob, run out!"

He was hit twice more through the body before he slid his mount up to the bank. They saw his big back twist and buck to the slugs as they tore into him. And they saw him reach the staggering Bob, seize him and swing him up behind him.

The powerful bay, lurching under the nearly 400 pounds, drove back across Division Street toward the bunched riders. He was too slow. Another rifle slug cut into Cole, his fifth in as many minutes. Still, he would not fall.

"All right," he grunted to the white-faced Jesse. "Lets get out. Bob's got his horse."

Theonly thing which could have happened to the master plan, the one thing Jesse had failed miserably to foresee and figure against, had happened. Bill Chadwell was gone.

The one man upon whom their leader's whole involved complex of planned retreat had so foolishly depended lay dead in the dust of Division Street. And dead with him lay the best chance of any man among them leaving Minnesota alive.

They were in a strange land. It was a deadly, flat land, thickly timbered, cross-cut by a dozen small streams, blind-trapped with a hundred uncharted lakes.

The village of Dundas, three miles south of Northfield, loomed ahead. They rode through it, their horses five abreast. No one challenged the bandits.

The news of Northfield was already chattering the Dundas telegraph key. But the key chattered alone. The telegrapher was away, absent from his board on a half-hour errand!

In Millersburg, reached at 4 p. m., the preposterous luck held. The regular telegrapher was at home, sick in bed. His assistant had locked the key open, gone down to the Little Cannon River to try for a fat wall-eye or frying-pan bass.

More curious gaped, more good citizens stared.

Younger met one farmer and relieved him of a fine horse. A second mounted native was encountered and lightened of the load of his saddle. Bob Younger was mounted again.

For the first time since leaving Northfield, there were sound horses all around.

Twilight came quickly on. Ahead lay 12 hours of darkness. Twelve hours which, with any reasonable continuance of their unbelievable luck, could take them 50 miles and more toward freedom. Tired muscles relaxed, jawlines eased.

But luck was done with them.

Six miles from Millersburg, Bob Younger's borrowed saddle parted its girth. The tall youth fell heavily in the darkness, crushing his injured arm beneath him. He remembered the bursting shock of the pain, and nothing more.

Cole took him in his arms, like a great, blood-smeared child, carrying him unconscious before him as he rode.

Networks Plan Comeback Try Against TV

By WAYNE OLIVER

NEW YORK (AP)—The radio networks, much harder hit than individual radio stations by television's inroads, plan strong measures to try to halt the decline in their fortunes and audiences.

NBC radio, starting June 12, will toss out its entire weekend schedule to inaugurate what it calls a new concept in radio programing. Entitled Monitor, it will be a continuous integrated schedule of news, music, discussion an dentertainment from 8 a.m. Saturday to midnight Sunday.

CBS radio is breaking with tradition to keep most of its major shows on the air right through the summer, traditionally the time for lightweight replacements. Bing Crosby, Amos 'n' Andy, Rudy Vallee, Art Linkletter and others will continue this summer.

Mutual, only one of the nationwide radio chains that never got into TV network operations, has notified affiliated stations of an announcement May 22 of an entirely new approach to radio network service.

Total broadcast time sales for radio in 1954, including both stations and networks, were estimated by Broadcasting-Telecasting Magazine at 453 million dollars, down only 5 per cent from the record high of 477 million dollars in 1953. But national radio networks accounted for only 76 million dollars of the total compared with nearly 93 million in 1953 and nearly 134 million in 1948.

The answer is that individual radio stations are relying less on network programs and sponsors and more on local programs and sponsors. The network hope to reverse the trend.

Officials in N. J. Probe Are Suicides

ELIZABETH, N.J. (AP)— Two Elizabeth officials, who testified before a Union County grand jury probing alleged laxity in connection with gambling, committed suicide yesterday.

A bullet in the head ended the life of 65-year-old Police Capt. August F. Winkelmann, who had been on terminal leave and was due to retire next month.

Fire Commissioner Francis De Stephan, 39, waded fully clothed into Raritan Bay and was drowned.

Both deaths were listed officially as suicides. Both men were found in Monmouth County, about 25 miles apart. De Stephan's body was removed from marshland in Matawan Township. Winkelman was still alive when found near the Manasquan River inlet. He died later in Point Pleasant hospital.

Neither man left suicide notes, police said.

Union County Prosecutor H. Russel Morss Jr. told newsmen he "couldn't say whether there was any connection" between the deaths of Winkelmann and De Stephan. Morss also declined comment on whether either man had been scheduled to appear again before the grand jury.

Winkelmann had refused to honor his first grand jury subpoena, but finally testified April 26. De Stephan had been called before the panel March 2 but didn't testify until 19 days later.

The fire commissioner's brother Dr. Joseph L. De Stephan, a dentist, said Francis had been worried about his appearance before the grand jury and also was concerned over debts.

The grand jury proble began 11 weeks ago, and indictments have been returned against three persons.

'THEME' SONG

MCMINNVILLE, Ore., (UP — Dr. Albury Castell, head of the philosophy department at the University of Oregon, was waiting on the rostrum to give a chapel lecture at Linfield college when the student choir began singing. They sang "Give us courage, give us wisdom for the facing of this hour."

Turner's Fate Up to Faubus

Turner, former nightclub operator convicted of the fatal shooting of Lloyd R. Squire of North Little Rock, was declared "legally sane" yesterday by State Hospital psychiatrists.

Their finding leaves it up to Faubus whether Turner will be put to death for the slaying of Squire, a suitor of Turner's divorced wife. Faubus must now fix a date for Turner's electrocution unless he decides to commute the sentence to life imprisonment.

If Turner had been found insane he would have been committed automatically to the hospital for an indefinite time.

Squire, a public relations representative for a railroad, was shot April 14, 1954, outside the apartment building where Mrs. Turner lived.

Turner was convicted in Ouachita Circuit Court and the Arkansas Supreme Court upheld the conviction.

President Almost Certain to Veto Postal Increase

By JOE HALL

WASHINGTON (AP)—A quick presidential veto, perhaps by Monday, reportedly awaits a bill to raise postal workers' pay 8.8 per cent. Sen. Carlson (R-Kan) said he is certain the Senate will sustain the veto if it comes.

The Senate passed the compromise measure 66-11 late yesterday and sent it to President Eisenhower. The House acted Monday 328-66.

Carlson said the President never had discussed a veto with him, but it was learned the White House has told key Republican lawmakers they can expect a veto message quickly.

Eisenhower, who favored a smaller raise, has said publicly only that he would study the matter carefully.

The 66-11 tally was far more than enough to override a veto, but Carlson said there would be many switches if and when the question of sustaining the President arises.

Marines Fight to Save Cut in Forces

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST

WASHINGTON —(AP) Champions of the Marine Corps claimed a fighting chance today in their bid to have the House upset President Eisenhower's plans to trim that service's forces.

But they were less optimistic over the possibility of blocking planned cuts in Army and Navy strength.

The House scheduled votes late today on a series of amendments which would add $409,993,500 to a bill to appropriate $31,488,206,000 to finance the Defense Department for the fiscal year starting July 1.

As drafted by the House Appropriations Committee, the bill approves the President's program to reduce over-all military manpower by more than 100,000 during the year. The Army would be cut 87,000 men.

Leading the fight to prevent the cuts is Rep. Flood (D-Pa), who told newsmen, "I don't think it's a good idea to cut military strength a single man below what we planned and financed for the present year."

Bargaining to Be Rough, Ike Will Discover

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower may find himself involved in harder bargaining than he seems to expect if and when he sits down with Russian Premier Nikolai Bulganin at Big Four talks.

Bulganin may well press a whole set of basic demands outlined in a new program for disarmament and ending the cold war which Moscow made public Tuesday night.

A word of caution against approaching any heads-of-state talks with "a defeatist attitude" came today from Chairman George (D-Ga) of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. George, who had urged such talks at a time when Eisenhower was cool to the idea, said the administration should take the "strong initiative" in its approach.

His comments were obviously prompted by Eisenhower's statement yesterday that his willingness to meet with the heads of state of Britain, France and Russia was based in part on "a vague feeling some good night come out of such a conference."

"One thing that is disturbing to me," George said, "is whether we are moving with any real conviction to take the initiative, rather than just acquiescing.

"There seems to me to be a lack of enthusiasm and a lack of positive attitude on our part toward a top level conference which if we take the strong initiative, might do some good.

"We must recognize all the possibilities of failure in any such conference, but we should have a positive, not a defeatist attitude toward it. If we are going to accomplish anything in the world, we have to have such a positive attitude and I'm afraid we don't have it now."

Lion Buys Out Two Oil Firms

EL DORADO, (AP)—The Lion Oil Co. has announced the purchase of the physical properties of two Tennessee oil companies.

A. F. Reed, vice president for sales, said the company brought the properties of Elk Oil Co. of Fayetteville, Tenn., and Consumers Oil Co. of Winchester, Tenn.

Rain Continues to Pelt Much of U. S.

By The Associated Press

Sections of the south central part of the country, hit by heavy rain and windstorms for several days, got more rain today.

The main wet area centered in Missouri and fringes of adjoining states with scattered but locally heavy showers and thundershowers extending southwestward into parts of Texas. Rainfall in Corpus Christi, Tex., was a little more than 2 inches in 24 hours.

There were a few other wet spots. Light rain fell near the Virginia-Carolina border, northern New York, central Wisconsin and there were widely scattered light showers in the South Dakota-Montana area and along the far West Coast.

Minor tornadoes were reported in sections of Oklahoma, Texas and Kansas yesterday. No injuries were reported.

Arkansas Bar Group Meets in Hot Springs

HOT SPRINGS (AP) — The Arkansas Bar Association opened its two-day convention here today with a move under way to elect a hometown attorney to the vice presidency.

Friends of Eugene A. Matthews of Hot Springs are campaigning for him as the next vice president. Tradition elevates the vice president to the presidency in one year.

Shields Goodwin of Little Rock, vice president of the association, is scheduled to advance to the presidency tomorrow, succeeding J. M. Smallwood of Russellville.

The convention was called to order at 9:30 a m., by Lt. Gov. Nathan Gordon of Morrilton, chairman of the ABA's Executive Committee.

Tax problems were scheduled for discussion at the morning session.

Atty. gen. John Ben Sheppard of Texas was scheduled to address a luncheon meeting.

An afternoon panel was slated to discuss professional ethics in Arkansas. Shackleford Miller Jr., judge of the U.S. Sixth Circuit Court of Appeals, moderated. Other members were Fred M. Pickens Jr., of Newport, Paul Sullins of Crossett and Edward L. Wright of Little Rock.

Thurman Arnold of Washington, former New Deal trust-buster, will address the convention Friday. His subject will be the "American Ideal of a Fair Trial."

Diem Receives Backing of Big Three

PARIS (AP) The United States, France and Britain were reported united today in backing embattled Premier Ngo Dinh Diem as head of the South Viet Nam government. They apparently gave chief of state Bao Dai a new but possibly short lease on his job.

Soon after the accord was disclosed here, a complaintion arose. Saigon dispatches said Diem is asking France either to group its expeditionary corps in South Viet Nam at the 17th Parallel or withdraw it from the country.

The 17th Parallel marks the boundary between South Viet Nam and the northern territory turned over to the Communist-led Vietminh under last year's Geneva armistice. The French force of some 80,000 men now is based chiefly in the Saigon area, at Tourane in central Viet Nam and at Cap St. Jacques, on the coast southeast f the capital city.

The United States, France and Britain reportedly had agreed last night that the French troops should be brought home as the training of the Vietnamese national army progressed.

NOISY NEST — Most ducks usually seek a nesting place far from the city's bustle when it comes time to hatch their eggs, but this Mallard hen (arrow) couldn't have picked a much more heavily trafficked spot than this one just three feet from a much used railroad track. Couple Left $743,918 by a Friend

TACOMA, Wash. (UP) middle-aged Tacoma couple who inherited $743,918 from a friend refused to be excited about the bequest today and said "We've lost a dear friend, we'd sooner have him than the money."

Mr. and Mrs. John J. Donohue were left the money by William G. Stedmond, a former farmer in the area who died in February.

Donohue, a disabled truck driver, was informed of the inheritance yesterday.

"My, isn't that a lot of money," he commented.

"Mr. Stedmond was our closest friend," Mrs. Donohue said. "He told us a few days before he died he was naming us in his will. But we thought the estate would amount to his farm and that was all."

Taxes will take up about half the estate according to attorneys and the Donohues said they were in no hurry to realize their inheritance.

"Mr. Stedmond wouldn't have wanted us to make a fuss,' 'said Mrs. Donohue. "He was a very quiet man. He loved his farm."

Donohue at one time helped Stedmond operate a 32-acre farm southeast of here. Stedmond, a native of Ireland, came to the United States about 35 years ago. He was a widower without children and the son of whealthy Irish parents.

Suit Involves Two Major Industries

LITTLE ROCK, (UP) — The State Public Service Commission was the object of a suit filed yesterday in chancery court here by Lion Oil Company of El Dorado and International Paper Company of Camden.

The two major industries sought a temporary injunction to prevent the commission from hearing arguments on whether to make permanent a $4,300,000 rate increase Arkansas Louisiana Gas Company is now charging major industrial users on a temporary basis and under refunding bond.

The plaintiffs in the suit claim the PSC exceeded its authority in permitting the temporary increase

Pulitzer Prize Winner Says He Was Happier When He Was Poor and Really Had Nothing

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)— He sat there—the man across the luncheon table, small, dark-eyed, polite talking, with a whip in his mind.

The whip is the one with which he lashes mankind and himself for failing to dream as big as people can, and for not attaining the dreams they do have.

Asked when he was most happy in his life, William Faulkner, student of failure and recent Publizer prize winner, started off:

"Success comes too easy in this country. There are many ways to make money and they all spell success."

Faulkner may appear to some as the intellectual's Mickey Spillane. But his reverence is for a man like Thomas Wolfe, whom he calls the most magnificent failure of his generation, because "he tried to do more than flesh and blood could. He tried to reduce the human heart into a paragraph."

"We measure greatness by the distance between the dream and the failure. We all fail. None of us match the dream."

Faulkner, who is a small man with obviously fastidious tastes, grew up with physical and literary bohemoths, such as Wolfe and Hemingway.

"In our generation we were all failures. Myself, Dos Passos, Hemingway, Wolfe. Wolfe was the finest failure."

Faulkner when asked how many books he has written, gives a vague answer.

"Somewhere between 18 and 22, probably 20."

When asked how many books he

French Asked by Diem to Recall Troops

By JOHN RODERICK

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Premier Ngo Dinh Diem is asking France to withdraw its army in South Viet Nam to the 17th Parallel or pull completely out of the turbulent country, a government spokesman said today.

The spokesman said Diem had instructed his brother, roving ambassador Ngo Dinh Luyen, to present the request to the French in Paris. The 17th Parallel separates South Viet Nam and Communist-ruled North Viet Nam.

The French expeditionary corps, numbering between 70,000 and 80,000, now is based chiefly in the Saigon area, at Tourane in central Viet Nam, and at Cap St. Jacques, on the coast southeast of the capital.

Prospects of any imediate French compliance with such a request appeared slim. The bulk of Viet Nam's French population and of France's holdings are concentrated in the areas where the French troops are based.

Earlier today in Paris U. S. Secretary of State Dulles and French Premier Edgar Faure were reported to have agreed to give Diem united backing after weeks of French opposition to the Nationalist Premier. Faure reportedly agreed to speed up the evacuation of the expeditionary crops, while the United States in turn would pressure the Vietnamese Premier to stop what the French consider a propaganda campaign against them.

The spokesman for Diem asserted that as long as the French troops remain in Saigon and other Somuth Viet Nam centers, it will be a source of friction and an object of Nationalist resentment.

He added that since the French role in South Viet Nam officially is to insure the South against encroachment from the Communist Vietminh in North Viet Nam, the best means of accomplishing this would be to station the French corps at the 17th Parallel.

China Pledges to Join Allies in War

WARSAW, Poland — (AP) Communist China pledged today that she will fight alongside the Soviet Union and her allies if war is unleashed in Europe.

Peng Teh-huai, Red China's defense minister and deputy prime minister, made that declaration in the name of the Peiping government at a session of a Warsaw conference called to establish an Eastern defense organization to rival the North Atlantic Treaty Organization set up by the West.

Peng also declared Peiping stands firmly for peaceful co-existence. He said his government is ready to negotiate on any international differences — including Formosa. But he warned that "to sober military adventurers" it should be firmly understood that the current balance of forces hangs in the favor of the "camp of peace and socialism."

Ike Secretive on Political Plans

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Prezident Eisenhower is said to be keeping even his close friends in the dark about his plans for 1956.

Recent White House visitors were said authoritatively to have been instructed by the President's aides not to bring up the subject of 1956. Those instructions have gone to some who are regarded as among his closest political associates.

Forrest City Ready to Take in Escapees

By TOM DYGARD

FORREST CITY, (AP)—Tomorrow is "Operation Able" for this east Arkansas town and about 20,000 people from surrounding areas, escapees from an imaginary bombing raid, will rush in for refuge.

There will be three times as many "evacuees" as homefolks in this cotton country town of about 7,500.

The bus loads of refugees will be volunteers recruited to help Civil Defense authorities learn more about problems encountered when a small city is called on to take care of a mob of civilians from a devastated area.

For a short time armed National Guard troops and police will patrol the streets of Forrest City, alert to any evidence of looters on a rampage. Fighter plans and bombers will roar overhead, offering air protection for fleeing civilians. Refugees will be fed and sheltered. Medcal aid stations will be set up.

This will be the first dress rehearsal of its kind in the United States. Other American cities, with an eye cocked toward the danger of atomic attack, have practiced getting their own people out of town.

This time they are going to practice taking care of people bombed out of their homes.

The imaginary target is Memphis and the time of the attack is 1:06 p.m. (CST). People at Forrest City will take cover until the area is checked for dangerous radiation.

After the all clear is sounded, B-47 jet bombers and F-86 jet fighters will zoom over, covering the parade of refugees making their way from their bombed out homes to Forrest City.

For purposes of the drill, it will be assumed that most of the refugees are hungry, weary, frightened survivors of any enemy raid on Memphis, 35 miles away.

Senators Also Call for End to Strike

ATLANTA (AP)Two U.S. senators have joined union leaders in calling on the Southern Bell Telephone Co. to agree to arbitration in its dispute with striking workers.

Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn) told the Senate yesterday that he sent identical messages to the company and to the CIO Communications Workers of America, urging arbitration.

He said President J. A. Beirne of the CWA replied that the union would agree to submit unsettled issues to impartial arbitrators recommended by the federal mediation service.

Kefauver added that he had not heard from the telephone company but hoped to have word soon.

Sen. Long (D-La) supported Kefauver's stand.

Officer Named in $15,000 Lawsuit

PINE BLUFF, (AP)—Lt. Col. T.C. Williams, executive officer at the Pine Bluff Arsenal, has been named defendant in a $15,000 slander suit filed in Jefferson Circuit Court.

Albert B. Peek of Pine Bluff said in his complaint that statements made by Williams would adversely affect his chances for furute employment.

The suit contends that the statements were made at an informal hearing in connection with the termination of Peek's employment March 10 at the arsenal.

PHS Ready to Release First Batch of Vaccine

By VINCENT J. BURKE

WASHINGTON (UP) — The Public Health Service expects to release the first batch of embargoed Salk vaccine today and resume the nation's polio vaccination program after a six-day halt.

Informed sources said the expect a favorable report before nightfall from a team of federal experts who have been checking vaccine produced by Parke Davis and Co. in Detroit.

Barring a last-minute hitch, the health service hopes to notify all health authorities late today that "several batches" of Parke Davis vaccine have been doublechecked and are approved for immediate use in inoculations.

Informants said the batches to be cleared probably represent several hundred thousand doses of the vaccine. These doses already are in the hands of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, local health officials, and private physicians.

This means that inoculations in some areas could resume tomorrow. Michigan, of course, refused to halt its immunization program on the grounds it had complete confidence in its vaccine supplies—mostly Parke Davis.

The vaccine expected to be cleared today was approved by the Public Health Service some time ago. But Dr Leonard A. Scheele, U.S. surgeon general, ordered a recheck Saturday of all vaccine stocks after more than 50 cases of polio had developed among vaccinated children. The officially-reported number is now 62.

While the recheck was in progress he strongly recommended that all inoculations be halted and the great immunication project in history ground virtually to a halt.

A team health service experts, headed by Dr. William G. Workman, made a detailed study of Parke Davis' vaccine records here and then went to Detroit yesterday to conduct an on-the-spot sheck of th firm's manufacturing and testing methods.

Informed sources said the experts will be at Parke Davis a few more days, but they are expected to complete their recheck on "several" branches today.

These sources described this estimate as a "reasonable expectation.' Scheele will send the clearance notification to the national foundation, state and local health authorities, and to private physicians.

Meantime, Rep. A. L. Miller (R-Neb.), a physician, cautioned the House against "abrupt action" in the vaccine matter that might prove ill-advised. He urged a moraotium on attacks on Scheele and Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby.

3 Co-ops Against Ozark Plant

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A proposed 15 million dollar steam generating plant at Ozark, Ark., has received the backing of all but three of Arkansas' 18 rural electric co-operatives.

The three co-ops which have not joined the plan are expected to fall in line shortly, said Harry L. Oswald, executive manager of the Arkansas Electric Co-operative Corp.

Co-op representatives met here yesterday to discuss plans for the 100,000 kilowatt plant.

Oswald said July 1, 1956 had been set as the target date for filing a loan application with the Rural Electric Administration for financing construction.

Local Youths to Attend Annual Boy's State

The 15th annual Arkansas Boys State under sponsorship of the American Legion will be held at Camp Robinson Little Rock, from May 28 through June 4.

Selected to represent this area are; Bill Bridgers, sponsored by the Rotray Club; Dale Zinn by the Kiwanis; John Barr by the Lions and Jimmy Lewis by the Legion.

A boy to be eligible for membership should have evidenced traits of leadership in his school and communuity affairs, recommended by his teachers, of outstanding character and have a serious attitude toward an intensive citizenship training program.

Purpose of the program is to give boys an 8-day training course in study and practical application of problems of self-government.

Bankers to Hear Faubus, Rockefeller

LITTLE ROCK, (UP) —Winthrop Rockefeller and Gov. Orval E. Faubus will be speakers at the 65th annual convention at the Arkansas Bankers Association in Hot Springs, May 24-25.

The program was announced today by Louis E. Hurley, president of the association and president of the Exchange Bank and Trust Co., at El Dorado.

More than 750 delegates and guests are expected to attend.

Rockefeller's subject will be "What Does the Land of Opportunity Mean to You?" He will speak at the business session on the opening day.

The goveror's subject will be "General Economic Conditions as related to State Agencies and Services."

The second business session will feature addresses by the vice president of the American Bankers Association, Fre dF. Florence, who is president of the Republican National Bank at Dallas; and by Dr. Marcus Nadler, professor of finance, graduate School of Business Administration, New York University. His subject will be "The Outlook for Business and Banking."

J. B. Waddington, assistant vice president of the First National Bank in Little Rock and president of the Junior Bankers section, will address the second business session. His topic will be "Your Junior Bankers."

British Envoy Visiting in Arkansas

LITTLE ROCK, (UP) —British Ambassador Sir Roger Makins and his wife will arrive here this afternoon for a two-day visit to include dinner at Winthrop Rockefeller's farm and a speech before the Chamber of Commerce.

Sir Roger and Lady Makins will be greeted by the mayors of Little Rock and North Little Rock, the county judge and other officials, and chamber representatives when they arrive by plane from Washington.

They will fly to Winrock, Rockefeller's estate atop Petit Jean Mountain near Morrilton, for dinner tonight.

Lady Makins will tour the Arkansas Territorial restration here tomorrow morning, and will meet British war brides living here.

She will join her husband for an official call on Gov. and Mrs. Orval E. Faubus at the mansion before the Chamber of Commerce luncheon, at which Sir Rober will speak.

They will leave for Washington Friday afternoon, stopping at Memphis enroute to visit the Cotton Carnival.

Russia Agrees to Austrian Treaty on West Terms

By ROBERT BRANSON

VIENNA, Austria, (UP) —The Soviet Union agreed today to sign an Austrian state treaty on Western terms in one of the biggest breaks of the long cold war.

The East-West agreement paved the way for the Big Four foreign ministers to meet in Vienna this weekend to sign the treaty and arrange a later conference of the Big Four heads of government.

U. S. Ambassador Llewellyn E. Thompson, head of the American treaty delegation, told newsmen at the end of todays crucial session: "The treaty will be signed Sunday."

He said a joint five-power communique would be issued later today on the successful outcome of the parley.

The sudden break in the treaty negotiations came after 11 days of deadlock over the terms of Article 35 of the 59-article document. Article 35 governs Austria's debts to the Soviet Union.

The dispute involved Austrian oil and shipping properties, which the Russians took over as war reparations. The Soviets promised Austria last month that these properties would be returned. This was a sensational concession, but until today Russia had refused to write it into the treaty.

The West insisted, and won its point, that the agreement to be put into the treaty.

The deadlock had threatened to break up the conference. The United States had served an ultimatum on the Soviet Union to agree upon a completed draft treaty today or call off Sunday's foreign ministers session at which the treaty was to be signed.

Registered Seed Oats to Be Observed

Taggart oats produced from Registered seed is an added feature of the Pasture Tour Friday, May 13, said County Agent Oliver L. Adams this morning.

At one o'clock Friday the Breeder Taggart oats may be observed at the Roy Sewald farm at Oakhaven, formerly the Cecil Wyatt farm, near the officers quarters in the old SPG area. See the Taggart oats growing from new seed. Maybe there is a place on your farm for seed for planting from seed stock nearer the breeder.

Twenty bushel of the registered Taggart oats were planted through a special arranged purchase through the Arkansas Seed Council, an organization for the distribution of new and improved varieties of field crops. It is the goal of the county agricultural planning committee to produce quality seed for local plantings to a greater extent on farms of our immediate area.

The Pasture Tour begins Friday morning at 9:00 at the Dale Jones farm five miles east of Hope on 67 road. The county agent's office in the county court house will provide you with additional details. Phone Prospect 7-2411.

Test Suit Filed in Bond Issue

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A Little Rock real estate man has filed a test suit against the Justice Building Commission to determine validity of a bond issue which is planned to finance construction of the building on the Capitol grounds.

Wood McArthur contends that the bond issue, authorized by the 1955 Legislagure, is illegal.

Pulaski Chancellor Guy Williams sustained a contention of the commission that the suit did not set out a cause of action. That permitted an immediate appeal to the state Supreme Court.

However, there is speculation that the Supreme Court might disqualify itself because the proposed building would house the Supreme Court. About 20 years ago the Supreme Court disqualified itself in a case in which its own salaries were involved. A special court was appointed to pass on the

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—How is the antipolio vaccine going to be distributed so that those who need it first get it first, whether or not they can pay for it? That's one of the biggest, unsolved problems in the fight against polio.

The government—that is, the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, headed by Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby—had time to plan for this problem before any vaccine was distributed. Apparently it did nothing.

It still has produced no answers although this week Mrs. Hobby is expected to make recommendations to President Eisenhower. She is not likely to suggest federal control. She has been against that.

On April 12 she gave permission to drug manufacturers to start distributing the vaccine. This was done a few hours after announcement that last summer's test on several hundred thousand children had been 60 to 90 per cent effective.

The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis has contracted with manufacturers to produce vaccine to give free shots to nine million children in the first and second grades. All other people will have to pay for shots unless somehow they can get them free.

What of those in the susceptibel age group (1 to 9) who can't afford to pay for shots by a private physician and have no other way of getting the vaccine? There is no answer on that.

And what assurance is there those in the most susceptible age group will get shots before any of the short-supply vaccine is given to older people? There is no nationwide plan on that either.

It would seem that Mrs. Hobby's department could have done what the polio foundation did: take a chance the April 12 report would be favorable and prepare for distribution in advance.

On Eisenhower's instructions Mrs. Hobby called a meeting April 22 of doctors, health officials and drug manufacturers. They recommended the vaccine be allocated among the states, without federal controls, on the basis of state populations in the 1 to 9 age group. It would be left up to the states to plan the distribution.

Meanwhile, as it became clear there would be a vaccine shortage extending into 1956, members of Congress began demanding that distribution not be left to chance. Bills were introduced to impose federal controls.

Eisenhower told a news conference May 4: "There will never be any child in the United States denied this emergency protection for want of ability to pay. Of that we are absolutely certain."

Shortly afterward his press secretary James C. Hagerty said if a situation developed where some children could not get vaccine for lack of money, the President would immediately ask Congress for authority to buy up the whole supply.

But such an idea, before it became a reality, would take time (1) to be aware of such situations and verify them, (2) get authority from Congress and (3) set up federal distribution.

And time is one of the prime factors in the antipolio fight, since the peak polio season arrives with the summer months.

DEATH OF A LEGEND

By WILL HENRY

Copyright 1954 by Will Henry. [illegible]

CHAPTER XXVII

As Jesse burst out of the bank, the first Northfieldian fell. He was an unarmed, noncombatant laborer, and was literally torn apart by bandit bullets as he ran for cover. His senseless execution was the spark that blew up Northfield.

Enraged, one of his armed fellow townsmen ran out onto the sidewalk, blasted a shotgun charge at point-blank range into Clell Miller, now mounted up with Charlie Pitts, guarding Jesse's and Bob's horses. The charge struck him full in the chest and face. Spraying blood, he fought blindly for leather, found the horn, stayed in the saddle. Jesse and Bob were now both clear of the bank, crouching behind their tied horses, fighting furiously at the knotted reins.

Bill Chadwell, riding between Frank and Jim Younger, took a Winchester bullet through the heart. He slid out of the saddle so quietly his companions did not know he had been hit until his riderless horse galloped past and ahead of them.

Clell Miller, still streaming blood, kicked his horse away from the bank's hitchrail, abandoning Bob and Jesse to the closing crowd A Civil War musket boomed from the window of Allen's Hardware. The .50-caliber ball passed through both lungs, severing an artery Clell struck the dirt of Division Street, "flopped around like a crazy chicken and died right there in front of the bank."

Frank took a slug through the right calf. Cole was shot in shoulder and thigh. Both were still mounted when Jesse, at last freeing his black from the rail, hammered toward them.

At the hitching rack, Bob, desperately wounded, right arm shattered from wrist to elbow by two Spencer slugs, his horse shot dead in his tracks, shouted after his leader. "Wait up, Jesse, wait up! They got my horse!"

His plea drew only heavier fire from the advancing citizen snipers. Crouching, he ran back into the shelter of the bank entrance.

"It's no use, boys!" he scramed. "We've got to get out, they'll kill us all."

Cole's expression went dead blank.

"Hold up, Dingus," he said flatly. "How about Bob?"

The hysteria rose in pitch. "He's done for, bad hit. We cain't get him. There ain't no horse for him, no how!'

Cole drove the bay away from them, then, straight toward the bank, satnding in the stirrups, roaring to his brother, "Run out, Bob, run out!"

He was hit twice more through the body before he slid his mount up to the bank. They saw his big back twist and buck to the slugs as they tore into him. And they saw him reach the staggering Bob, seize him and swing him up behind him.

The powerful bay, lurching under the nearly 400 pounds, drove back across Division Street toward the bunched riders. He was too slow. Another rifle slug cut into Cole, his fifth in as many minutes. Still, he would not fall.

"All right," he grunted to the white-faced Jesse. "Lets get out. Bob's got his horse.

Theonly thing which could have happened to the master plan, the one thing Jesse had failed miserably to foresee and figure against, had happened. Bill Chadwell was gone.

The one man upon whom their leader's whole involved complex of planned retreat had so foolishly depended lay dead in the dust of Division Street. And dead with him lay the best chance of any man among them leaving Minnesota alive.

They were in a strange land. It was a deadly, flat land, thickly timbered, cross-cut by a dozen small streams, blind-trapped with a hundred uncharted lakes.

The village of Dundas, three miles south of Northfield, loomed ahead. They rode through it, their horses five abreast. No one challenged the bandits.

The news of Northfield was already chattering the Dundas telegraph key. But the key chattered alone. The telegrapher was away, absent from his board on a half-hour errand!

In Millersburg, reached at 4 p. m., the preposterous luck held. The regular telegrapher was at home, sick in bed. His assistant had locked the key open, gone down to the Little Cannon River to try for a fat wall-eye or frying-pan bass.

More curious gaped, more good citizens stared.

Younger met one farmer and relieved him of a fine horse. A second mounted native was encountered and lightened of the load of his saddle. Bob Younger was mounted again.

For the first time since leaving Northfield, there were sound horses all around.

Twilight came quickly on. Ahead lay 12 hours of darkness. Twelve hours which, with any reasonable continuance of their unbelievable luck, could take them 50 miles and more toward freedom. Tired muscles relaxed, jawlines eased.

But luck was done with them.

Six miles from Millersburg, Bob Younger's borrowed saddle parted its girth. The tall youth fell heavily in the darkness, crushing his injured arm beneath him. He remembered the bursting shock of the pain, and nothing more.

Cole took him in his arms, like a great, blood-smeared child, carrying him unconscious before him as he rode.

Networks Plan Comeback Try Against TV

By WAYNE OLIVER

NEW YORK (AP)—The radio networks, much harder hit than individual radio stations by television's inroads, plan strong measures to try to halt the decline in their fortunes and audiences.

NBC radio, starting June 12, will toss out its entire weekend schedule to inaugurate what it calls a new concept in radio programing. Entitled Monitor, it will be a continuous integrated schedule of news, music, discussion an dentertainment from 8 a.m. Saturday to midnight Sunday.

CBS radio is breaking with tradition to keep most of its major shows on the air right through the summer, traditionally the time for lightweight replacements. Bing Crosby, Amos 'n' Andy, Rudy Vallee, Art Linkletter and others will continue this summer.

Mutual, only one of the nationwide radio chains that never got into TV network operations, has notified affiliated stations of an announcement May 22 of an entirely new approach to radio network service.

Total broadcast time sales for radio in 1954, including both stations and networks, were estimated by Broadcasting-Telecasting Magazine at 453 million dollars, down only 5 per cent from the record high of 477 million dollars in 1953. But national radio networks accounted for only 76 million dollars of the total compared with nearly 93 million in 1953 and nearly 134 million in 1948.

The answer is that individual radio stations are relying less on network programs and sponsors and more on local programs and sponsors. The network hope to reverse the trend.

Officials in N. J. Probe Are Suicides

ELIZABETH, N.J. (AP)— Two Elizabeth officials, who testified before a Union County grand jury probing alleged laxity in connection with gambling, committed suicide yesterday.

A bullet in the head ended the life of 65-year-old Police Capt. August F. Winkelmann, who had been on terminal leave and was due to retire next month.

Fire Commissioner Francis De Stephan, 39, waded fully clothed into Raritan Bay and was drowned.

Both deaths were listed officially as suicides. Both men were found in Monmouth County, about 25 miles apart. De Stephan's body was removed from marshland in Matawan Township. Winkelman was still alive when found near the Manasquan River inlet. He died later in Point Pleasant hospital.

Neither man left suicide notes, police said.

Union County Prosecutor H. Russel Morss Jr. told newsmen he "couldn't say whether there was any connection" between the deaths of Winkelmann and De Stephan. Morss also declined comment on whether either man had been scheduled to appear again before the grand jury.

Winkelmann had refused to honor his first grand jury subpoena, but finally testified April 26. De Stephan had been called before the panel March 2 but didn't testify until 19 days later.

The fire commissioner's brother Dr. Joseph L. De Stephan, a dentist, said Francis had been worried about his appearance before the grand jury and also was concerned over debts.

The grand jury proble began 11 weeks ago, and indictments have been returned against three persons.

'THEME' SONG

MCMINNVILLE, Ore., (UP — Dr. Albury Castell, head of the philosophy department at the University of Oregon, was waiting on the rostrum to give a chapel lecture at Linfield college when the student choir began singing. They sang "Give us courage, give us wisdom for the facing of this hour."

Turner's Fate Up to Faubus

Turner, former nightclub operator convicted of the fatal shooting of Lloyd R. Squire of North Little Rock, was declared "legally sane" yesterday by State Hospital psychiatrists.

Their finding leaves it up to Faubus whether Turner will be put to death for the slaying of Squire, a suitor of Turner's divorced wife. Faubus must now fix a date for Turner's electrocution unless he decides to commute the sentence to life imprisonment.

If Turner had been found insane he would have been committed automatically to the hospital for an indefinite time.

Squire, a public relations representative for a railroad, was shot April 14, 1954, outside the apartment building where Mrs. Turner lived.

Turner was convicted in Ouachita Circuit Court and the Arkansas Supreme Court upheld the conviction.

President Almost Certain to Veto Postal Increase

By JOE HALL

WASHINGTON (AP) A quick presidential veto, perhaps by Monday, reportedly awaits a bill to raise postal workers' pay 8.8 per cent. Sen. Carlson (R-Kan) said he is certain the Senate will sustain the veto if it comes.

The Senate passed the compromise measure 66-11 late yesterday and sent it to President Eisenhower. The House acted Monday 328-66.

Carlson said the President never had discussed a veto with him, but it was learned the White House has told key Republican lawmakers they can expect a veto message quickly.

Eisenhower, who favored a smaller raise, has said publicly only that he would study the matter carefully.

The 66-11 tally was far more than enough to override a veto, but Carlson said there would be many switches if and when the question of sustaining the President arises.

Marines Fight to Save Cut in Forces

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST

WASHINGTON —(AP) Champions of the Marine Corps claimed a fighting chance today in their bid to have the House upset President Eisenhower's plans to trim that service's forces.

But they were less optimistic over the possibility of blocking planned cuts in Army and Navy strength.

The House scheduled votes late today on a series of amendments which would add $409,993,500 to a bill to appropriate $31,488,206,000 to finance the Defense Department for the fiscal year starting July 1.

As drafted by the House Appropriations Committee, the bill approves the President's program to reduce over-all military manpower by more than 100,000 during the year. The Army would be cut 87,000 men.

Leading the fight to prevent the cuts is Rep. Flood (D-Pa), who told newsmen, "I don't think it's a good idea to cut military strength a single man below what we planned and financed for the present year."

Bargaining to Be Rough, Ike Will Discover

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower may find himself involved in harder bargaining than he seems to expect if and when he sits down with Russian Premier Nikolai Bulganin at Big Four talks.

Bulganin may well press a whole set of basic demands outlined in a new program for disarmament and ending the cold war which Moscow made public Tuesday night.

A word of caution against approaching any heads-of-state talks with "a defeatist attitude" came today from Chairman George (D-Ga) of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. George, who had urged such talks at a time when Eisenhower was cool to the idea, said "the administration should take the "strong initiative" in its approach.

His comments were obviously prompted by Eisenhower's statement yesterday that his willingness to meet with the heads of state of Britain, France and Russia was based in part on "a vague feeling some good night come out of such a conference."

"One thing that is disturbing to me," George said, "is whether we are moving with any real conviction to take the initiative, rather than just acquiescing.

"There seems to me to be a lack of enthusiasm and a lack of positive attitude on our part toward a top level conference which if we take the strong initiative, might do some good.

"We must recognize all the possibilities of failure in any such conference, but we should have a positive, not a defeatist attitude toward it. If we are going to accomplish anything in the world, we have to have such a positive attitude and I'm afraid we don't have it now."

Lion Buys Out Two Oil Firms

EL DORADO, (AP)—The Lion Oil Co. has announced the purchase of the physical properties of two Tennessee oil companies.

A. F. Reed, vice president for sales, said the company brought the properties of Elk Oil Co. of Fayetteville, Tenn., and Consumers Oil Co. of Winchester, Tenn.

Rain Continues to Pelt Much of U. S.

By The Associated Press

Sections of the south central part of the country, hit by heavy rain and windstorms for several days, got more rain today.

The main wet area centered in Missouri and fringes of adjoining states with scattered but locally heavy showers and thundershowers extending southwestward into parts of Texas. Rainfall in Corpus Christi, Tex., was a little more than 2 inches in 24 hours.

There were a few other wet spots. Light rain fell near the Virginia-Carolina border, northern New York, central Wisconsin and there were widely scattered light showers in the South Dakota-Montana area and along the far West Coast.

Minor tornadoes were reported in sections of Oklahoma, Texas and Kansas yesterday. No injuries were reported.

Arkansas Bar Group Meets in Hot Springs

HOT SPRINGS (AP) — The Arkansas Bar Association opened its two-day convention here today with a move under way to elect a hometown attorney to the vice presidency.

Friends of Eugene A. Matthews of Hot Springs are campaigning for him as the next vice president. Tradition elevates the vice president to the presidency in one year.

Shields Goodwin of Little Rock, vice president of the association, is scheduled to advance to the presidency tomorrow, succeeding J. M. Smallwood of Russellville.

The convention was called to order at 9:30 a m., by Lt. Gov. Nathan Gordon of Morrilton, chairman of the ABA's Executive Committee.

Tax problems were scheduled for discussion at the morning session.

Atty. gen. John Ben Sheppard of Texas was scheduled to address a luncheon meeting.

An afternoon panel was slated to discuss professional ethics in Arkansas. Shackleford Miller Jr., judge of the U.S. Sixth Circuit Court of Appeals, moderated. Other members were Fred M. Pickens Jr., of Newport, Paul Sullins of Crossett and Edward L. Wright of Little Rock.

Thurman Arnold of Washington, former New Deal trust-buster, will address the convention Friday. His subject will be the "American Ideal of a Fair Trial."

Diem Receives Backing of Big Three

PARIS (AP) The United States, France and Britain were reported united today in backing embattled Premier Ngo Dinh Diem as head of the South Viet Nam government. They apparently gave chief of state Bao Dai a new but possibly short lease on his job.

Soon after the accord was disclosed here, a complaintion arose. Saigon dispatches said Diem is asking France either to group its expeditionary corps in South Viet Nam at the 17th Parallel or withdraw it from the country.

The 17th Parallel marks the boundary between South Viet Nam and the northern territory turned over to the Communist-led Vietminh under last year's Geneva armistice. The French force of some 80,000 men now is based chiefly in the Saigon area, at Tourane in central Viet Nam and at Cap St. Jacques, on the coast southeast f the capital city.

The United States, France and Britain reportedly had agreed last night that the French troops should be brought home as the training of the Vietnamese national army progressed.

TACOMA, Wash. (UP) middle-aged Tacoma couple who inherited $743,918 from a friend refused to be excited about the bequest today and said "We've lost a dear friend, we'd sooner have him than the money."

Mr. and Mrs. John J. Donohue were left the money by William G. Stedmond, a former farmer in the area who died in February.

Donohue, a disabled truck driver, was informed of the inheritance yesterday.

"My, isn't that a lot of money," he commented.

"Mr. Stedmond was our closest friend," Mrs. Donohue said. "He told us a few days before he died he was naming us in his will. But we thought the estate would amount to his farm and that was all."

Taxes will take up about half the estate according to attorneys and the Donohues said they were in no hurry to realize their inheritance.

"Mr. Stedmond wouldn't have wanted us to make a fuss,' 'said Mrs. Donohue."He was a very quiet man. He loved his farm."

Donohue at one time helped Stedmond operate a 32-acre farm southeast of here. Stedmond, a native of Ireland, came to the United States about 35 years ago. He was a widower without children and the son of whealthy Irish parents.

Suit Involves Two Major Industries

LITTLE ROCK, (UP) — The State Public Service Commission was the object of a suit filed yesterday in chancery court here by Lion Oil Company of El Dorado and International Paper Company of Camden.

The two major industries sought a temporary injunction to prevent the commission from hearing arguments on whether to make permanent a $4,300,000 rate increase Arkansas Louisiana Gas Company is now charging major industrial users on a temporary basis and under refunding bond.

The plaintiffs in the suit claim the PSC exceeded its authority in permitting the temporary increase

Pulitzer Prize Winner Says He Was Happier When He Was Poor and Really Had Nothing

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)— He sat there—the man across the luncheon table, small, dark-eyed, polite talking, with a whip in his mind.

The whip is the one with which he lashes mankind and himself for failing to dream as big as people can, and for not attaining the dreams they do have.

Asked when he was most happy in his life, William Faulkner, student of failure and recent Publizer prize winner, started off:

"Success comes too easy in this country. There are many ways to make money and they all spell success."

Faulkner may appear to some as the intellectual's Mickey Spillane. But his reverence is for a man like Thomas Wolfe, whom he calls the most magnificent failure of his generation, because "he tried to do more than flesh and blood could. He tried to reduce the human heart into a paragraph."

"We measure greatness by the distance between the dream and the failure. We all fail. None of us match the dream."

Faulkner, who is a small man with obviously fastidious tastes, grew up with physical and literary bohemoths, such as Wolfe and Hemingway.

"In our generation we were all failures. Myself, Dos Passos, Hemingway, Wolfe. Wolfe was the finest failure."

Faulkner when asked how many books he has written, gives a vague answer.

"Somewhere between 18 and 22, probably 20."

When asked how many books he

French Asked by Diem to Recall Troops

By JOHN RODERICK

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Premier Ngo Dinh Diem is asking France to withdraw its army in South Viet Nam to the 17th Parallel or pull completely out of the turbulent country, a government spokesman said today.

The spokesman said Diem had instructed his brother, roving ambassador Ngo Dinh Luyen, to present the request to the French in Paris. The 17th Parallel separates South Viet Nam and Communist-ruled North Viet Nam.

The French expeditionary corps, numbering between 70,000 and 80,000, now is based chiefly in the Saigon area, at Tourane in central Viet Nam, and at Cap St. Jacques, on the coast southeast of the capital.

Prospects of any imediate French compliance with such a request appeared slim. The bulk of Viet Nam's French population and of France's holdings are concentrated in the areas where the French troops are based.

Earlier today in Paris U. S. Secretary of State Dulles and French Premier Edgar Faure were reported to have agreed to give Diem united backing after weeks of French opposition to the Nationalist Premier. Faure reportedly agreed to speed up the evacuation of the expeditionary crops, while the United States in turn would pressure the Vietnamese Premier to stop what the French consider a propaganda campaign against them.

The spokesman for Diem asserted that as long as the French troops remain in Saigon and other Somuth Viet Nam centers, it will be a source of friction and an object of Nationalist resentment.

He added that since the French role in South Viet Nam officially is to insure the South against encroachment from the Communist Vietminh in North Viet Nam, the best means of accomplishing this would be to station the French corps at the 17th Parallel.

China Pledges to Join Allies in War

WARSAW, Poland — (AP) Communist China pledged today that she will fight alongside the Soviet Union and her allies if war is unleashed in Europe.

Peng Teh-hual, Red China's defense minister and deputy prime minister, made that declaration in the name of the Peiping government at a session of a Warsaw conference called to establish an Eastern defense organization to rival the North Atlantic Treaty Organization set up by the West.

Peng also declared Peiping stands firmly for peaceful co-existence. He said his government is ready to negotitate on any international differences — including Formosa. But he warned that "to sober military adventurers" it should be firmly understood that the current balance of forces hangs in the favor of the "camp of peace and socialism."

Ike Secretive on Political Plans

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Preident Eisenhower is said to be keeping even his close friends in the dark about his plans for 1956.

Recent White House visitors were said authoritatively to have been instructed by the President's aides not to bring up the subject of 1956. Those instructions have gone to some who are regarded as among his closest political associates.

Forrest City Ready to Take in Escapees

By TOM DYGARD

FORREST CITY, (AP)—Tomorrow is "Operation Able" for this east Arkansas town and about 20,000 people from surrounding areas, escapees from an imaginary bombing raid, will rush in for refuge.

There will be three times as many "evacuees" as homefolks in this cotton country town of about 7,500.

The bus loads of refugees will be volunteers recruited to help Civil Defense authorities learn more about problems encountered when a small city is called on to take care of a mob of civilians from a devastated area.

For a short time armed National Guard troops and police will patrol the streets of Forrest City, alert to any evidence of looters on a rampage. Fighter plans and bombers will roar overhead, offering air protection for fleeing civilians. Refugees will be fed and sheltered. Medcal aid stations will be set up.

This will be the first dress rehearsal of its kind in the United States. Other American cities, with an eye cocked toward the danger of atomic attack, have practiced getting their own people out of town.

This time they are going to practice taking care of people bombed out of their homes.

The imaginary target is Memphis and the time of the attack is 1:06 p.m. (CST). People at Forrest City will take cover until the area is checked for dangerous radiation.

After the all clear is sounded, B-47 jet bombers and F-86 jet fighters will zoom over, covering the parade of refugees making their way from their bombed out homes to Forrest City.

For purposes of the drill, it will be assumed that most of the refugees are hungry, weary, frightened survivors of any enemy raid on Memphis, 35 miles away.

Senators Also Call for End to Strike

ATLANTA (AP)Two U.S. senators have joined union leaders in calling on the Southern Bell Telephone Co. to agree to arbitration in its dispute with striking workers.

Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn) told the Senate yesterday that he sent identical messages to the company and to the CIO Communications Workers of America, urging arbitration.

He said President J. A. Beirne of the CWA replied that the union would agree to submit unsettled issues to impartial arbitrators recommended by the federal mediation service.

Kefauver added that he had not heard from the telephone company but hoped to have word soon.

Sen. Long (D-La) supported Kefauver's stand.

Officer Named in $15,000 Lawsuit

PINE BLUFF, (AP)—Lt. Col. T.C. Williams, executive officer at the Pine Bluff Arsenal, has been named defendant in a $15,000 slander suit filed in Jefferson Circuit Court.

Albert B. Peek of Pine Bluff said in his complaint that statements made by Williams would adversely affect his chances for furute employment.

The suit contends that the statements were made at an informal hearing in connection with the termination of Peek's employment, March 10 at the arsenal.

PHS Ready to Release First Batch of Vaccine

By VINCENT J. BURKE

WASHINGTON (UP) — The Public Health Service expects to release the first batch of embargoed Salk vaccine today and resume the nation's polio vaccination program after a six-day halt.

Informed sources said the expect a favorable report before nightfall from a team of federal experts who have been checking vaccine produced by Parke Davis and Co. in Detroit.

Barring a last-minute hitch, the health service hopes to notify all health authorities late today that "several batches" of Parke Davis vaccine have been doublechecked and are approved for immediate use in inoculations.

Informants said the batches to be cleared probably represent several hundred thousand doses of the vaccine. These doses already are in the hands of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, local health officials, and private physicians.

This means that inoculations in some areas could resume tomorrow. Michigan, of course, refused to halt its immunization program on the grounds it had complete confidence in its vaccine supplies—mostly Parke Davis.

The vaccine expected to be cleared today was approved by the Public Health Service some time ago. But Dr. Leonard A. Scheele, U.S. surgeon general, ordered a recheck Saturday of all vaccine stocks after more than 50 cases of polio had developed among vaccinated children. The officially-reported number is now 62.

While the recheck was in progress he strongly recommended that all inoculations be halted and the great immunication project in history ground virtually to a halt.

A team health service experts, headed by Dr. William G. Workman, made a detailed study of Parke Davis' vaccine records here and then went to Detroit yesterday to conduct an on-the-spot check of th' firm's manufacturing and testing methods.

Informed sources said the experts will be at Parke Davis a few more days, but they are expected to complete their recheck on "several" branches today.

These sources described this estimate as a "reasonable expectation." Scheele will send the clearance notification to the national foundation, state and local health authorities, and to private physicians.

Meantime, Rep. A. L. Miller (R-Neb.), a physician, cautioned the House against "abrupt action" in the vaccine matter that might prove ill-advised. He urged a moratorium on attacks on Scheele and Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby.

3 Co-ops Against Ozark Plant

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A proposed 15 million dollar steam generating plant at Ozark, Ark., has received the backing of all but three of Arkansas' 18 rural electric co-operatives.

The three co-ops which have not joined the plan are expected to fall in line shortly, said Harry L. Oswald, executive manager of the Arkansas Electric Co-operative Corp.

Oswald said July 1, 1956 had been set as the target date for filing a loan application with the Rural Electric Administration for financing construction.

British Envoy Visiting in Arkansas

LITTLE ROCK, (UP) —British Ambassador Sir Roger Makins and his wife will arrive here this afternoon for a two-day visit to include dinner at Winthrop Rockefeller's farm and a speech before the Chamber of Commerce.

Sir Roger and Lady Makins will be greeted by the mayors of Little Rock and North Little Rock, the county judge and other officials, and chamber representatives when they arrive by plane from Washington.

They will fly to Winrock, Rockefeller's estate atop Petit Jean Mountain near Morrilton, for dinner tonight.

Lady Makins will tour the Arkansas Territorial restration here tomorrow morning, and will meet British war brides living here.

She will join her husband for an official call on Gov. and Mrs. Orval E. Faubus at the mansion before the Chamber of Commerce luncheon, at which Sir Rober will speak.

They will leave for Washington Friday afternoon, stopping at Memphis enroute to visit the Cotton Carnival.

Russia Agrees to Austrian Treaty on West Terms

By ROBERT BRANSON

VIENNA, Austria, (UP) — The Soviet Union agreed today to sign an Austrian state treaty on Western terms in one of the biggest breaks of the long cold war.

The East-West agreement paved the way for the Big Four foreign ministers to meet in Vienna this weekend to sign the treaty and arrange a later conference of the Big Four heads of government.

U. S. Ambassador Llewellyn E. Thompson, head of the American treaty delegation, told newsmen at the end of todays crucial session: "The treaty will be signed Sunday."

He said a joint five-power communique would be issued later today on the successful outcome of the parley.

The sudden break in the treaty negotiations came after 11 days of deadlock over the terms of Article 35 of the 59-article document. Article 35 governs Austrias debts to the Soviet Union.

The dispute involved Austrian oil and shipping properties which the Russians took over as war reparations. The Soviets promised Austria last month that these properties would be returned. This was a sensational concession, but until today Russia had refused to write it into the treaty.

The West insisted, and won its point, that the agreement to be put into the treaty.

The deadlock had threatened to break up the conference. The United States had served an ultimatum on the Soviet Union to agree upon a completed draft treaty today or call off Sunday's foreign ministers session at which the treaty was to be signed.

Registered Seed Oats to Be Observed

Taggart oats produced from Registered seed is an added feature of the Pasture Tour Friday, May 13, said County Agent Oliver L. Adams this morning.

At one o'clock Friday the Breeder Taggart oats may be observed at the Roy Seward farm at Oakhaven, formerly the Cecil Wyatt farm, near the officers quarters in the old SPG area. See the Taggart oats growing from new seed. Maybe there is a place on your farm for seed for planting from seed stock nearer the breeder.

Twenty bushel of the registered Taggart oats were planted through a special arranged purchase through the Arkansas Seed Council, an organization for the distribution of new and improved varieties of field crops. It is the goal of the county agricultural planning committee to produce quality seed for local plantings to a greater extent on farms of our immediate area.

The Pasture Tour begins Friday morning at 9:00 at the Dale Jones farm five miles east of Hope on 67 road. The county agent's office in the county court house will provide you with additional details. Phone Prospect 7-2411.

Test Suit Filed in Bond Issue

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A Little Rock real estate man has filed a test suit against the Justice Building Commission to determine validity of a bond issue which is planned to finance construction of a new building on the Capitol grounds.

Wood McArthur contends that the bond issue, authorized by the 1955 Legislature, is illegal.

Pulaski Chancellor Guy Williams sustained a contention of the commission that the suit did not set out a cause of action. That permitted an immediate appeal to the state Supreme Court.

However, there is speculation that the Supreme Court might not qualify itself because the proposed building would house the Supreme Court. About 20 years ago the Supreme Court disqualified itself in a case in which its own salaries were involved. A special court was appointed to pass on the issue.

Distribution of Vaccine Is Unsolved

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—How is the antipolio vaccine going to be distributed so that those who need it first get it first, whether or not they can pay for it? That's one of the biggest, unsolved problems in the fight against polio.

The government—that is, the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, headed by Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby—had time to plan for this problem before any vaccine was distributed. Apparently it did nothing.

It still has produced no answers although this week Mrs. Hobby is expected to make recommendations to President Eisenhower. She is not likely to suggest federal control. She has been against that.

On April 12 she gave permission to drug manufacturers to start distributing the vaccine. This was done a few hours after announcement that last summer's test on several hundred thousand children had been 60 to 90 per cent effective.

The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis has contracted with manufacturers to produce vaccine to give free shots to nine million children in the first and second grades. All other people will have to pay for shots unless somehow they can get them free.

What of those in the susceptibel age group (1 to 9) who can't afford to pay for shots by a private physician and have no other way of getting the vaccine? There is no answer on that.

And what assurance is there those in the most susceptible age group will get shots before any of the short-supply vaccine is given to older people? There is no nationwide plan on that either.

It would seem that Mrs. Hobby's department could have done what the polio foundation did: take a chance the April 12 report would be favorable and prepare for distribution in advance.

On Eisenhower's instructions Mrs. Hobby called a meeting April 22 of doctors, health officials and drug manufacturers. They recommended the vaccine be allocated among the states, without federal controls, on the basis of state populations in the 1 to 9 age group. It would be left up to the states to plan the distribution.

Meanwhile, as it became clear there would be a vaccine shortage extending into 1956, members of Congress began demanding that distribution not be left to chance. Bills were introduced to impose federal controls.

Eisenhower told a news conference May 4: "There will never be any child in the United States denied this emergency protection for want of ability to pay. Of that we are absolutely certain."

Shortly afterward his press secretary James C. Hagerty said if a situation developed where some children could not get vaccine for lack of money, the President would immediately ask Congress for authority to buy up the whole supply.

But such an idea, before it became a reality, would take time (1) to be aware of such situations and verify them, (2) get authority from Congress and (3) set up federal distribution.

And time is one of the prime factors in the antipolio fight, since the peak polio season arrives with the summer months.

DEATH OF A LEGEND

By WILL HENRY

Copyright 1954 by Will Henry. Used by arrangement with Random House, Inc. Distributed by NEA Service.

CHAPTER XXVII

As Jesse burst out of the bank, the first Northfieldian fell. He was an unarmed, noncombatant laborer, and was literally torn apart by bandit bullets as he ran for cover. His senseless execution was the spark that blew up Northfield.

Enraged, one of his armed fellow townsmen ran out onto the sidewalk, blasted a shotgun charge at point-blank range into Clell Miller, now mounted up with Charlie Pitts, guarding Jesse's and Bob's horses. The charge struck him full in the chest and face. Spraying blood, he fought blindly for leather, found the horn, stayed in the saddle. Jesse and Bob were now both clear of the bank, crouching behind their tied horses, fighting furiously at the knotted reins.

Bill Chadwell, riding between Frank and Jim Younger, took a Winchester bullet through the heart. He slid out of the saddle so quietly his companions did not know he had been hit until his riderless horse galloped past and ahead of them.

Clell Miller, still streaming blood, kicked his horse away from the bank's hitchrail, abandoning Bob and Jesse to the closing crowd. A Civil War musket boomed from the window of Allen's Hardware. The .50-caliber ball passed through both lungs, severing an artery. Clell struck the dirt of Division Street, "flopped around like a crazy chicken and died right there in front of the bank."

Frank took a slug through the right calf. Cole was shot in shoulder and thigh. Both were still mounted when Jesse, at last freeing his black from the rail, hammered toward them.

At the hitching rack, Bob, desperately wounded, right arm shattered from wrist to elbow by two Spencer slugs, his horse shot dead in his tracks, shouted after his leader. "Wait up, Jesse, wait up! They got my horse!"

His plea drew only heavier fire from the advancing citizen snipers. Crouching, he ran back into the shelter of the bank entrance.

"It's no use, boys!" he scramed. "We've got to get out, they'll kill us all."

Cole's expression went dead blank.

"Hold up, Dingus," he said flatly. "How about Bob?"

The hysteria rose in pitch. "He's done for, bad hit. We cain't get him. There ain't no horse for him, no how!'

Cole drove the bay away from them, then, straight toward the bank, satnding in the stirrups, roaring to his brother, "Run out, Bob, run out!"

He was hit twice more through the body before he slid his mount up to the bank. They saw his big back twist and buck to the slugs as they tore into him. And they saw him reach the staggering Bob, seize him and swing him up behind him.

The powerful bay, lurching under the nearly 400 pounds, drove back across Division Street toward the bunched riders. He was too slow. Another rifle slug cut into Cole, his fifth in as many minutes. Still, he would not fall.

"All right," he grunted to the white-faced Jesse. "Lets get out. Bob's got his horse.

Theonly thing which could have happened to the master plan, the one thing Jesse had failed miserably to foresee and figure against, had happened. Bill Chadwell was gone.

The one man upon whom their leader's whole involved complex of planned retreat had so foolishly depended lay dead in the dust of Division Street. And dead with him lay the best chance of any man among them leaving Minnesota alive.

They were in a strange land. It was a deadly, flat land, thickly timbered, cross-cut by a dozen small streams, blind-trapped with a hundred uncharted lakes.

The village of Dundas, three miles south of Northfield, loomed ahead. They rode through it, their horses five abreast. No one challenged the bandits.

The news of Northfield was already chattering the Dundas telegraph key. But the key chattered alone. The telegrapher was away, absent from his board on a half-hour errand!

In Millersburg, reached at 4 p. m., the preposterous luck held. The regular telegrapher was at home, sick in bed. His assistant had locked the key open, gone down to the Little Cannon River to try for a fat wall-eye or frying-pan bass.

More curious gaped, more good citizens stared.

Younger met one farmer and relieved him of a fine horse. A second mounted native was encountered and lightened of the load of his saddle. Bob Younger was mounted again.

For the first time since leaving Northfield, there were sound horses all around.

Twilight came quickly on. Ahead lay 12 hours of darkness. Twelve hours which, with any reasonable continuance of their unbelievable luck, could take them 50 miles and more toward freedom. Tired muscles relaxed, jawlines eased.

But luck was done with them.

Six miles from Millersburg, Bob Younger's borrowed saddle parted its girth. The tall youth fell heavily in the darkness, crushing his injured arm beneath him. He remembered the bursting shock of the pain, and nothing more.

Cole took him in his arms, like a great, blood-smeared child, carrying him unconscious before him as he rode.

Networks Plan Comeback Try Against TV

By WAYNE OLIVER

NEW YORK (AP)—The radio networks, much harder hit than individual radio stations by television's inroads, plan strong measures to try to halt the decline in their fortunes and audiences.

NBC radio, starting June 12, will toss out its entire weekend schedule to inaugurate what it calls a new concept in radio programing. Entitled Monitor, it will be a continuous integrated schedule of news, music, discussion and entertainment from 8 a.m. Saturday to midnight Sunday.

CBS radio is breaking with tradition to keep most of its major shows on the air right through the summer, traditionally the time for lightweight replacements. Bing Crosby, Amos 'n' Andy, Rudy Vallee, Art Linkletter and others will continue this summer.

Mutual, only one of the nationwide radio chains that never got into TV network operations, has notified affiliated stations of an announcement May 22 of an entirely new approach to radio network service.

Total broadcast time sales for radio in 1954, including both stations and networks, were estimated by Broadcasting-Telecasting Magazine at 453 million dollars, down only 5 per cent from the record high of 477 million dollars in 1953. But national radio networks accounted for only 76 million dollars of the total compared with nearly 93 million in 1953 and nearly 134 million in 1948.

The answer is that individual radio stations are relying less on network programs and sponsors and more on local programs and sponsors. The network hope to reverse the trend.

Officials in N. J. Probe Are Suicides

ELIZABETH, N.J. (AP)— Two Elizabeth officials, who testified before a Union County grand jury probing alleged laxity in connection with gambling, committed suicide yesterday.

A bullet in the head ended the life of 65-year-old Police Capt. August F. Winkelmann, who had been on terminal leave and was due to retire next month.

Fire Commissioner Francis De Stephan, 39, waded fully clothed into Raritan Bay and was drowned.

Both deaths were listed officially as suicides. Both men were found in Monmouth County, about 25 miles apart. De Stephan's body was removed from marshland in Matawan Township. Winkelman was still alive when found near the Manasquan River inlet. He died later in Point Pleasant hospital.

Neither man left suicide notes, police said.

Union County Prosecutor H. Russel Morss Jr. told newsmen he "couldn't say whether there was any connection" between the deaths of Winkelmann and De Stephan. Morss also declined comment on whether either man had been scheduled to appear again before the grand jury.

Winkelmann had refused to honor his first grand jury subpoena, but finally testified April 26. De Stephan had been called before the panel March 2 but didn't testify until 19 days later.

The fire commissioner's brother Dr. Joseph L. De Stephan, a dentist, said Francis had been worried about his appearance before the grand jury and also was concerned over debts.

The grand jury proble began 11 weeks ago, and indictments have been returned against three persons.

'THEME' SONG

MCMINNVILLE, Ore., (UP — Dr. Albury Castell, head of the philosophy department at the University of Oregon, was waiting on the rostrum to give a chapel lecture at Linfield college when the student choir began singing.

They sang "Give us courage, give us wisdom for the facing of this hour."

Turner's Fate Up to Faubus

Turner, former nightclub operator convicted of the fatal shooting of Lloyd R. Squire of North Little Rock, was declared "legally sane" yesterday by State Hospital psychiatrists.

Their finding leaves it up to Faubus whether Turner will be put to death for the slaying of Squire, a suitor of Turner's divorced wife. Faubus must now fix a date for Turner's electrocution unless he decides to commute the sentence to life imprisonment.

If Turner had been found insane he would have been committed automatically to the hospital for an indefinite time.

Squire, a public relations representative for a railroad, was shot April 14, 1954, outside the apartment building where Mrs. Turner lived.

Turner was convicted in Ouachita Circuit Court and the Arkansas Supreme Court upheld the conviction.

President Almost Certain to Veto Postal Increase

By JOE HALL

WASHINGTON (AP)A quick presidential veto, perhaps by Monday, reportedly awaits a bill to raise postal workers' pay 8.8 per cent. Sen. Carlson (R-Kan) said he is certain the Senate will sustain the veto if it comes.

The Senate passed the compromise measure 66-11 late yesterday and sent it to President Eisenhower. The House acted Monday 328-66.

Carlson said the President never had discussed a veto with him, but it was learned the White House has told key Republican lawmakers they can expect a veto message quickly.

Eisenhower, who favored a smaller raise, has said publicly only that he would study the matter carefully.

The 66-11 tally was far more than enough to override a veto, but Carlson said there would be many switches if and when the question of sustaining the President arises.

Marines Fight to Save Cut in Forces

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST

WASHINGTON —(AP) Champions of the Marine Corps claimed a fighting chance today in their bid to have the House upset President Eisenhower's plans to trim that service's forces.

But they were less optimistic over the possibility of blocking planned cuts in Army and Navy strength.

The House scheduled votes late today on a series of amendments which would add $409,993,500 to a bill to appropriate $31,488,206,000 to finance the Defense Department for the fiscal year starting July 1.

As drafted by the House Appropriations Committee, the bill approves the President's program to reduce over-all military manpower by more than 100,000 during the year. The Army would be cut 87,000 men.

Leading the fight to prevent the cuts is Rep. Flood (D-Pa), who told newsmen, "I don't think it's a good idea to cut military strength a single man below what we planned and financed for the present year."

Bargaining to Be Rough, Ike Will Discover

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower may find himself involved in harder bargaining than he seems to expect if and when he sits down with Russian Premier Nikolai Bulganin at Big Four talks.

Bulganin may well press a whole set of basic demands outlined in a new program for disarmament and ending the cold war which Moscow made public Tuesday night.

A word of caution against approaching any heads-of-state talks with "a defeatist attitude" came today from Chairman George (D-Ga) of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. George, who had urged such talks at a time when Eisenhower was cool to the idea, said "the administration should take the "strong initiative" in its approach.

His comments were obviously prompted by Eisenhower's statement yesterday that his willingness to meet with the heads of state of Britain, France and Russia was based in part on "a vague feeling some good night come out of such a conference."

"One thing that is disturbing to me," George said, "is whether we are moving with any real conviction to take the initiative, rather than just acquiescing.

"There seems to me to be a lack of enthusiasm and a lack of positive attitude on our part toward a top level conference which if we take the strong initiative, might do some good.

"We must recognize all the possibilities of failure in any such conference, but we should have a positive, not a defeatist attitude toward it. If we are going to accomplish anything in the world, we have to have such a positive attitude and I'm afraid we don't have it now."

EL DORADO, (AP)—The Lion Oil Co. has announced the purchase of the physical properties of two Tennessee oil companies.

A. F. Reed, vice president for sales, said the company brought the properties of Elk Oil Co. of Fayetteville, Tenn., and Consumers Oil Co. of Winchester, Tenn.

Rain Continues to Pelt Much of U. S.

By The Associated Press

Sections of the south central part of the country, hit by heavy rain and windstorms for several days, got more rain today.

The main wet area centered in Missouri and fringes of adjoining states with scattered but locally heavy showers and thundershowers extending southwestward into parts of Texas. Rainfall in Corpus Christi, Tex., was a little more than 2 inches in 24 hours.

There were a few other wet spots. Light rain fell near the Virginia-Carolina border, northern New York, central Wisconsin and there were widely scattered light showers in the South Dakota-Montana area and along the far West Coast.

Minor tornadoes were reported in sections of Oklahoma, Texas and Kansas yesterday. No injuries were reported.

Arkansas Bar Group Meets in Hot Springs

HOT SPRINGS (AP) — The Arkansas Bar Association opened its two-day convention here today with a move under way to elect a hometown attorney to the vice presidency.

Friends of Eugene A. Matthews of Hot Springs are campaigning for him as the next vice president. Tradition elevates the vice president to the presidency in one year.

Shields Goodwin of Little Rock, vice president of the association, is scheduled to advance to the presidency tomorrow, succeeding J. M. Smallwood of Russellville.

The convention was called to order at 9:30 a m., by Lt. Gov. Nathan Gordon of Morrilton, chairman of the ABA's Executive Committee.

Tax problems were scheduled for discussion at the morning session.

Atty. gen. John Ben Sheppard of Texas was scheduled to address a luncheon meeting.

An afternoon panel was slated to discuss professional ethics in Arkansas. Shackleford Miller Jr., judge of the U.S. Sixth Circuit Court of Appeals, moderated. Other members were Fred M. Pickens Jr., of Newport, Paul Sullins of Crossett and Edward L. Wright of Little Rock.

Thurman Arnold of Washington, former New Deal trust-buster, will address the convention Friday. His subject will be the "American Ideal of a Fair Trial."

Diem Receives Backing of Big Three

PARIS (AP) The United States, France and Britain were reported united today in backing embattled Premier Ngo Dinh Diem as head of the South Viet Nam government. They apparently gave chief of state Bao Dai a new but possibly short lease on his job.

Soon after the accord was disclosed here, a complaintion arose. Saigon dispatches said Diem is asking France either to group its expeditionary corps in South Viet Nam at the 17th Parallel or withdraw it from the country.

The 17th Parallel marks the boundary between South Viet Nam and the northern territory turned over to the Communist-led Vietminh under last year's Geneva armistice. The French force of some 80,000 men now is based chiefly in the Saigon area, at Tourane in central Viet Nam and at Cap St. Jacques, on the coast southeast f the capital city.

The United States, France and Britain reportedly had agreed last night that the French troops should be brought home as the training of the Vietnamese national army progressed.

TACOMA, Wash. (UP) middle-aged Tacoma couple who inherited $743,918 from a friend refused to be excited about the bequest today and said "We've lost a dear friend, we'd sooner have him than the money."

Mr. and Mrs. John J. Donohue were left the money by William G. Stedmond, a former farmer in the area who died in February.

Donohue, a disabled truck driver, was informed of the inheritance yesterday.

"My, isn't that a lot of money," he commented.

"Mr. Stedmond was our closest friend," Mrs. Donohue said. "He told us a few days before he died he was naming us in his will. But we thought the estate would amount to his farm and that was all."

Taxes will take up about half the estate according to attorneys and the Donohues said they were in no hurry to realize their inheritance.

"Mr. Stedmond wouldn't have wanted us to make a fuss,' 'said Mrs. Donohue. "He was a very quiet man. He loved his farm."

Donohue at one time helped Stedmond operate a 32-acre farm southeast of here. Stedmond, a native of Ireland, came to the United States about 35 years ago. He was a widower without children and the son of whealthy Irish parents.

Suit Involves Two Major Industries

LITTLE ROCK, (UP) — The State Public Service Commission was the object of a suit filed yesterday in chancery court here by Lion Oil Company of El Dorado and International Paper Company of Camden.

The two major industries sought a temporary injunction to prevent the commission from hearing arguments on whether to make permanent a $4,300,000 rate increase Arkansas Louisiana Gas Company is now charging major industrial users on a temporary basis and under refunding bond.

The plaintiffs in the suit claim the PSC exceeded its authority in permitting the temporary increase

French Asked by Diem to Recall Troops

By JOHN RODERICK

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Premier Ngo Dinh Diem is asking France to withdraw its army in South Viet Nam to the 17th Parallel or pull completely out of the turbulent country, a government spokesman said today.

The spokesman said Diem had instructed his brother, roving ambassador Ngo Dinh Luyen, to present the request to the French in Paris. The 17th Parallel separates South Viet Nam and Communist-ruled North Viet Nam.

The French expeditionary corps, numbering between 70,000 and 80,000, now is based chiefly in the Saigon area, at Tourane in central Viet Nam, and at Cap St. Jacques, on the coast southeast of the capital.

Prospects of any imediate French compliance with such a request appeared slim. The bulk of Viet Nam's French population and of France's holdings are concentrated in the areas where the French troops are based.

Earlier today in Paris U. S. Secretary of State Dulles and French Premier Edgar Faure were reported to have agreed to give Diem united backing after weeks of French opposition to the Nationalist Premier. Faure reportedly agreed to speed up the evacuation of the expeditionary crops, while the United States in turn would pressure the Vietnamese Premier to stop what the French consider a propaganda campaign against them.

The spokesman for Diem asserted that as long as the French troops remain in Saigon and other Somuth Viet Nam centers, it will be a source of friction and an object of Nationalist resentment.

He added that since the French role in South Viet Nam officially is to insure the South against encroachment from the Communist Vietminh in North Viet Nam, the best means of accomplishing this would be to station the French corps at the 17th Parallel.

China Pledges to Join Allies in War

WARSAW, Poland — (AP) Communist China pledged today that she will fight alongside the Soviet Union and her allies if war is unleashed in Europe.

Peng Teh-huai, Red China's defense minister and deputy prime minister, made that declaration in the name of the Peiping government at a session of a Warsaw conference called to establish an Eastern defense organization to rival the North Atlantic Treaty Organization set up by the West.

Peng also declared Peiping stands firmly for peaceful co-existence. He said his government is ready to negotiate on any international differences — including Formosa. But he warned that "to sober military adventurers" it should be firmly understood that the current balance of forces hangs in the favor of the "camp of peace and socialism."

Ike Secretive on Political Plans

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower is said to be keeping even his close friends in the dark about his plans for 1956.

Recent White House visitors were said authoritatively to have been instructed by the President's aides not to bring up the subject of 1956. Those instructions have gone to some who are regarded as among his closest political associates.

Pulitzer Prize Winner Says He Was Happier When He Was Poor and Really Had Nothing

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)— He sat there—the man across the luncheon table, small, dark-eyed, polite talking, with a whip in his mind.

The whip is the one with which he lashes mankind and himself for failing to dream as big as people can, and for not attaining the dreams they do have.

Asked when he was most happy in his life, William Faulkner, student of failure and recent Publizer prize winner, started off:

"Success comes too easy in this country. There are many ways to make money and they all spell success."

Faulkner may appear to some as the intellectual's Mickey Spillane. But his reverence is for a man like Thomas Wolfe, whom he calls the most magnificent failure of his generation, because "he tried to do more than flesh and blood could. He tried to reduce the human heart into a paragraph."

"We measure greatness by the distance between the dream and the failure. We all fail. None of us match the dream."

Faulkner, who is a small man with obviously fastidious tastes, grew up with physical and literary bohemoths, such as Wolfe and Hemingway.

"In our generation we were all failures. Myself, Dos Passos, Hemingway, Wolfe. Wolfe was the finest failure."

Faulkner when asked how many books he has written, gives a vague answer.

"Somewhere between 18 and 22, probably 20."

When asked how many books he

By TOM DYGARD

FORREST CITY, (AP)—Tomorrow is "Operation Able" for this east Arkansas town and about 20,000 people from surrounding areas, escapees from an imaginary bombing raid, will rush in for refuge.

There will be three times as many "evacuees" as homefolks in this cotton country town of about 7,500.

The bus loads of refugees will be volunteers recruited to help Civil Defense authorities learn more about problems encountered when a small city is called on to take care of a mob of civilians from a devastated area.

For a short time armed National Guard troops and police will patrol the streets of Forrest City, alert to any evidence of looters on a rampage. Fighter plans and bombers will roar overhead, offering air protection for fleeing civilians. Refugees will be fed and sheltered. Medcal aid stations will be set up.

This will be the first dress rehearsal of its kind in the United States. Other American cities, with an eye cocked toward the danger of atomic attack, have practiced getting their own people out of town.

This time they are going to practice taking care of people bombed out of their homes.

The imaginary target is Memphis and the time of the attack is 1:06 p.m. (CST). People at Forrest City will take cover until the area is checked for dangerous radiation.

After the all clear is sounded, B-47 jet bombers and F-86 jet fighters will zoom over, covering the parade of refugees making their way from their bombed out homes to Forrest City.

For purposes of the drill, it will be assumed that most of the refugees are hungry, weary, frightened survivors of any enemy raid on Memphis, 35 miles away.

Senators Also Call for End to Strike

ATLANTA (AP)Two U.S. senators have joined union leaders in calling on the Southern Bell Telephone Co. to agree to arbitration in its dispute with striking workers.

Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn) told the Senate yesterday that he sent identical messages to the company and to the CIO Communications Workers of America, urging arbitration.

He said President J. A. Beirne of the CWA replied that the union would agree to submit unsettled issues to impartial arbitrators recommended by the federal mediation service.

Kefauver added that he had not heard from the telephone company but hoped to have word soon.

Sen. Long (D-La) supported Kefauver's stand.

Officer Named in $15,000 Lawsuit

PINE BLUFF, (AP)—Lt. Col. T.C. Williams, executive officer at the Pine Bluff Arsenal, has been named defendant in a $15,000 slander suit filed in Jefferson Circuit Court.

Albert B. Peek of Pine Bluff said in his complaint that statements made by Williams would adversely affect his chances for furute employment.

The suit contends that the statements were made at an informal hearing in connection with the termination of Peek's employment March 10 at the arsenal.

PHS Ready to Release First Batch of Vaccine

By VINCENT J. BURKE

WASHINGTON (UP) — The Public Health Service expects to release the first batch of embargoed Salk vaccine today and resume the nation's polio vaccination program after a six-day halt.

Informed sources said the expect a favorable report before nightfall from a team of federal experts who have been checking vaccine produced by Parke Davis and Co. in Detroit.

Barring a last-minute hitch, the health service hopes to notify all health authorities late today that "several batches" of Parke Davis vaccine have been doublechecked and are approved for immediate use in inoculations.

Informants said the batches to be cleared probably represent several hundred thousand doses of the vaccine. These doses already are in the hands of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, local health officials, and private physicians.

This means that inoculations in some areas could resume tomorrow. Michigan, of course, refused to halt its immunization program on the grounds it had complete confidence in its vaccine supplies—mostly Parke Davis.

The vaccine expected to be cleared today was approved by the Public Health Service some time ago. But Dr Leonard A. Scheele, U.S. surgeon general, ordered a recheck Saturday of all vaccine stocks after more than 50 cases of polio had developed among vaccinated children. The officially-reported number is now 62.

While the recheck was in progress he strongly recommended that all inoculations be halted and the great immunication project in history ground virtually to a halt.

A team health service experts, headed by Dr. William G. Workman, made a detailed study of Parke Davis' vaccine records here and then went to Detroit yesterday to conduct an on-the-spot sheck of th firm's manufacturing and testing methods.

Informed sources said the experts will be at Parke Davis a few more days, but they are expected to complete their recheck on "several" branches today.

These sources described this estimate as a "reasonable expectation.' Scheele will send the clearance notification to the national foundation, state and local health authorities, and to private physicians.

Meantime, Rep. A. L. Miller (R-Neb.), a physician, cautioned the House against "abrupt action" in the vaccine matter that might prove ill-advised. He urged a moraotium on attacks on Scheele and Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby.

3 Co-ops Against Ozark Plant

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A proposed 15 million dollar steam generating plant at Ozark, Ark., has received the backing of all but three of Arkansas' 18 rural electric co-operatives.

The three co-ops which have not joined the plan are expected to fall in line shortly, said Harry L. Oswald, executive manager of the Arkansas Electric Co-operative Corp.

Oswald said July 1, 1956 had been set as the target date for filing a loan application with the Rural Electric Administration for financing construction.

Local Youths to Attend Annual Boy's State

The 15th annual Arkansas Boys State under sponsorship of the American Legion will be held at Camp Robinson Little Rock, from May 28 through June 4.

Selected to represent this area are; Bill Bridgers, sponsored by the Rotray Club; Dale Zinn by the Kiwanis; John Barr by the Lions and Jimmy Lewis by the Legion.

A boy to be eligible for membership should have evidenced traits of leadership in his school and communuity affairs, recommended by his teachers, of outstanding character and have a serious attitude toward an intensive citizenship training program.

Purpose of the program is to give boys an 8-day training course in study and practical application of problems of self-government.

Bankers to Hear Faubus, Rockefeller

The program was announced today by Louis E. Hurley, president of the association and president of the Exchange Bank and Trust Co., at El Dorado.

More than 750 delegates and guests are expected to attend.

Rockefeller's subject will be "What Does the Land of Opportunity Mean to You?" He will speak at the business session on the opening day.

The goveror's subject will be "General Economic Conditions as related to State Agencies and Services."

The second business session will feature addresses by the vice president of the American Bankers Association, Fre dF. Florence, who is president of the Republican National Bank at Dallas; and by Dr. Marcus Nadler, professor of finance, graduate School of Business Administration, New York University. His subject will be "The Outlook for Business and Banking."

J. B. Waddington, assistant vice president of the First National Bank in Little Rock and president of the Junior Bankers section, will address the second business session. His topic will be "Your Junior Bankers."

British Envoy Visiting in Arkansas

LITTLE ROCK, (UP) —British Ambassador Sir Roger Makins and his wife will arrive here this afternoon for a two-day visit to include dinner at Winthrop Rockefeller's farm and a speech before the Chamber of Commerce.

Sir Roger and Lady Makins will be greeted by the mayors of Little Rock and North Little Rock, the county judge and other officials, and chamber representatives when they arrive by plane from Washington.

They will fly to Winrock, Rockefeller's estate atop Petit Jean Mountain near Morrilton, for dinner tonight.

Lady Makins will tour the Arkansas Territorial restration here tomorrow morning, and will meet British war brides living here.

She will join her husband for an official call on Gov. and Mrs. Orval E. Faubus at the mansion before the Chamber of Commerce luncheon, at which Sir Rober will speak.

They will leave for Washington Friday afternoon, stopping at Memphis enroute to visit the Cotton Carnival.

Russia Agrees to Austrian Treaty on West Terms

By ROBERT BRANSON

VIENNA, Austria, (UP) —The Soviet Union agreed today to sign an Austrian state treaty on Western terms in one of the biggest breaks of the long cold war.

The East-West agreement paved the way for the Big Four foreign ministers to meet in Vienna this weekend to sign the treaty and arrange a later conference of the Big Four heads of government.

U. S. Ambassador Llewellyn E. Thompson, head of the American treaty delegation, told newsmen at the end of todays crucial session: "The treaty will be signed Sunday.

He said a joint five-power communique would be issued later today on the successful outcome of the parley.

The sudden break in the treaty negotiations came after 11 days of deadlock over the terms of Article 35 of the 59-article document. Article 35 governs Austria's debts to the Soviet Union.

The dispute involved Austrian oil and shipping properties, which the Russians took over as war reparations. The Soviets promised Austria last month that these properties would be returned. This was a sensational concession, but until today Russia had refused to write it into the treaty.

The West insisted, and won its point, that the agreement to be put into the treaty.

The deadlock had threatened to break up the conference. The United States had served an ultimatum on the Soviet Union to agree upon a completed draft treaty today or call off Sunday's foreign ministers session at which the treaty was to be signed.

Registered Seed Oats to Be Observed

Taggart oats produced from Registered seed is an added feature of the Pasture Tour Friday, May 13, said County Agent Oliver L. Adams this morning.

At one o'clock Friday the Breeder Taggart oats may be observed at the Roy Sewald farm at Oakhaven, formerly the Cecil Wyatt farm, near the officers quarters in the old SPG area. See the Taggart oats growing from new seed. May be there is a place on your farm for seed for planting from seed stock nearer the breeder.

Twenty bushel of the registered Taggart oats were planted through a special arranged purchase through the Arkansas Seed Council, an organization for the distribution of new and improved varieties of field crops. It is the goal of the county agricultural planning committee to produce quality seed for local plantings to a greater extent on farms of our immediate area.

The Pasture Tour begins Friday morning at 9:00 at the Dale Jones farm five miles east of Hope on 67 road. The county agent's office in the county court house will provide you with additional details. Phone Prospect 7-2411.

Test Suit Filed in Bond Issue

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A Little Rock real estate man has filed a test suit against the Justice Building Commission to determine validity of a bond issue which is planned to finance construction of the building on the Capitol grounds.

Wood McArthur contends that the bond issue, authorized by the 1955 Legislagure, is illegal.

Pulaski Chancellor Guy Williams sustained a contention of the commission that the suit did not set out a cause of action. That permitted an immediate appeal to the state Supreme Court.

However, there is speculation that the Surreme Court might disqualify itself because the proposed building would house the Supreme Court. About 20 years ago the Supreme Court disqualified itself in a case in which its own salaries were involved. A special court was appointed to pass on the matter.

NEW YORK STOCKS

NEW YORK (AP) — Losses of as much as 4 points a share were marked up in the Stock Market today.

Selling pushed all sections of the market lower, although here and there selected issues showed resistance. Dealings were heavier than in recent sessions and volume for the day was around three million shares.

In mid-afternoon, most prices were moderately above their lows of the day and the market showed a tendency to rally.

Prime targets for the selling were the aircrafts, steels, motors, railroads and oils. Among the wider losers were Douglas Aircraft General Dynamics, U. S. Steel, Bath Iron Works, Monsanto, Du Pont, Atlantic Coast Line and Royal Dutch Petroleum.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK (AP)—Cotton futures were irregular tolay, with trade buying and short covering meeting scattered liquidation and hedging. During the morning, the market's action revolved around evening up operations in nearoy May. Nearby May expired at 12:30 p.m. today at a final range of 34.48 to 34.50 cents a pound which was slightly under the previous close.

Late afternoon prices were 35 cents a bale higher to 20 cents lower than the previous close. July 34.12, October 34.10 and December 34.16.

NOTICE TO CITY RESIDENTS

May 12, 1955

We wish to call to your attention an ordinance that provides that any one owning, or renting a resident inside the City limits of Hope are required to keep the weeds and grass mowed at this time of year. Mosquitoes and other insects will breed in such places.

During the past few years the City has been trying to keep up with most of the mowing with the resident paying for the service, however, it has become a burden as we have all we can take care of on the streets and alleys. So it will be advisable to call some individual that ownes a mower for this work.

Respt. yours,

DOROTHY DIX

Glib Line

Dear Miss Dix: I married young at 17, and have had little chance to know the ways of the world, especially the business world. My husband is eight years older than I and in the seven years of our marriage has been very good to me and our two children. Now, however, he is beginning to change.

Recently he received a promotion to office manager, a job he has long sought. He claims there are many advancements in store for him but he must prepare for them. His idea of "preparation" is to take the girls in the office to lunch, dinner or dances, to go out by himself to meet other interesting women. According to him, he must learn how to handle people and this is the way to do it. He says that in the future he will have to take important people out, and now is the time to make new contacts. He tells me I must learn to be broad-minded if I want to help him be successful.

Now all this is quite contrary to my own ideas of right and wrong but I am informed that things are "different" in business. Says my husband, "If I am to be successful I must not be imprisoned by marriage."

I do want to see him get ahead, I admit I am not very worldly but I don't want to encourage him in wrong-doing if such this is. Your opinion will be helpful.

JOSIE K.

Answer: If your husband could rise to the top by means of his glib tongue, he'd be president of the firm in no time. He has built up a wonderful set of alibis that will fit any unorthodox situation he may be found in.

While it is true that businessmen frequently take women to lunch or even dinner in the pursuit of duty, the type of preparation your husband is making will not be helpful. For one thing, business-women are quite different from the type picked up at dance halls or in taverns. The women he meets at these places may indeed be "interesting," but they are scarcely calculated to aid one's success in business.

Businesswomen Safe

Women who have reached the point in the professional or commercial world where they are taken to lunch by clients or other male contacts are more interested in promoting their careers than in a passing date. Furthermore they are well schooled in the realization that their own success depends upon impeccable behavior. With such few exceptions as are bound to crop up in any association, you could trust these women with your husband at any time.

However, the type of person your husband is contacting under the specious guise of furthering his career will not contribute one iota to his success. In fact, let word of his associations come to the attention of those in authority at his firm, and your man is more likely to find a way to dismissal than promotion.

He'd do better to spend his spare time studying for that promotion — in books, not bars. The ways of the business world don't differ fundamentally from those of any other group. Getting ahead is a matter of intelligence, study, hard work and application. Being a Lothario in the office and a Casanova out of it will bring little but ridicule, scandal and failure.

Dear Miss Dix: My wife will not accept my folks and will not let our daughter visit them for any length of time. She thinks of the smartest excuses to keep the chld away! I get along very well with her people and help them with many things around their home. How can I get her to respect my folks more?

MR. D.

Answer: First, find out exactly what she has against your people. Perhaps they have been antagonistic to her in the past, or maybe they aren't very friendly when she does visit them. If, however, hers is a senseless prejudice, insist that she be more cooperative if you are to continue helping her family. There should be mutual fairness in the treatment of in-laws. Pettiness has no place in the picture.

CHILI RICE TAMALES

Here's a "South of the Border" Favorite With Chili, Tamales and Riceland Rice

INGREDIENTS:
1 cup uncooked Riceland Rice
2 cups water
1 teaspoon salt
1 15-oz. can or jar of tamales and sauce
1 15½-oz. can chili con carne with beans
¾ cup water
¼ pound American cheese, sliced or grated

Put the Riceland Rice, water and salt in a 2-quart saucepan and bring to a vigorous boil. Turn heat as low as possible. Cover and leave over low heat 14 minutes. Put tamales and sauce in a greased 2-quart baking dish. Add rice, chili con carne and water. Top with the cheese. Bake in a 350°F. oven for 30 minutes or until cheese melts and the mixture is hot. Makes 8 servings.

Use genuine Riceland Rice in this recipe for best results.

NEW YORK STOCKS

NEW YORK (AP) — Losses of as much as 4 points a share were marked up in the Stock Market today.

Selling pushed all sections of the market lower, although here and there selected issues showed resistance. Dealings were heavier than in recent sessions and volume for the day was around three million shares.

In mid-afternoon, most prices were moderately above their lows of the day and the market showed a tendency to rally.

Prime targets for the selling were the aircrafts, steels, motors, railroads and oils. Among the wider losers were Douglas Aircraft General Dynamics, U. S. Steel, Bath Iron Works, Monsanto, Du Pont, Atlantic Coast Line and Royal Dutch Petroleum.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK (AP)—Cotton futures were irregular tolay, with trade buying and short covering meeting scattered liquidation and hedging. During the morning, the market's action revolved around evening up operations in nearoy May. Nearby May expired at 12:30 p.m. today at a final range of 34.48 to 34.50 cents a pound which was slightly under the previous close.

Late afternoon prices were 35 cents a bale higher to 20 cents lower than the previous close. July 34.12, October 34.10 and December 34.16.

NOTICE TO CITY RESIDENTS

May 12, 1955

We wish to call to your attention an ordinance that provides that any one owning, or renting a resident inside the City limits of Hope are required to keep the weeds and grass mowed at this time of year. Mosquitoes and other insects will breed in such places.

During the past few years the City has been trying to keep up with most of the mowing with the resident paying for the service, however, it has become a burden as we have all we can take care of on the streets and alleys. So it will be advisable to call some individual that ownes a mower for this work.

Respt. yours,
C. E. Baker, Chief of Police

News Briefs

NEOSHO, Mo. (UP) — Billy 20, was killed and Larry Wood, 19, critically injured in a one-car accident near here yesterday. Both are from Ft. Smith, Ark.

Their car went off the road, plunged into a ditch and struck a culvert. Jeffers was instantly killed, and Wood suffered a severely lacerated scalp, possible brain injury, loss of an eye, fractures of both knees and several ribs. He is in a hospital here.

ARKADELPHIA (UP) — Orville A. Kelley, former band director at Waldron High school, has been named director of the Henderson State Teachers college band, according to President D. D. McBrien. He succeeds Robert Hardesty, who plans to enter medical school this fall.

Kelley has been director of the Commerce, Tex., High school band for the past two years. The change is effective Sept. 1.

LITTLE ROCK (UP) — Construction was begun yesterday on the first suburban branch bank here, to be built by First National bank.

The branch will be located near the intersection of Hayes Street and Asher Avenue in Southwest Little Rock, near the Benton Highway. It is just outside city limits, in accordance with state law which prohibits branch activities in any city where the parent bank is located.

Bank President J. V. Satterfield, Jrl, said the new bank is expected to be open by July 1, depending on availability of materials.

LITTLE ROCK (UP) — Some 125 representatives from various women's organizations throughout the state are expected here May 20 for the 1955 annual consumer information meeting.

The meeting, sponsored by the Agricultural Extension Service, this year will be on the theme, "More Satisfaction From the Meat Dollar."

A. R. Ring, head of the meat merchandising department of the National Livestock and Meat Board in Chicago, will give the women pointers in meat selection, with guide posts for economical meat-buying.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Arkansas Senators Fulbright and McClellan voted with the 66-11 Senate majority which yesterday approved a bill completing congressional action on a pay boost for postal workers.

DOROTHY DIX

Glib Line

Dear Miss Dix: I married young at 17, and have had little chance to know the ways of the world, especially the business world. My husband is eight years older than I and in the seven years of our marriage has been very good to me and our two children. Now, however, he is beginning to change.

Recently he received a promotion to office manager, a job he has long sought. He claims there are many advancements in store for him but he must prepare for them. His idea of "preparation" is to take the girls in the office to lunch, dinner or dances, to go out by himself to meet other interesting women. According to him, he must learn how to handle people and this is the way to do it. He says that in the future he will have to take important people out, and now is the time to make new contacts. He tells me I must learn to be broad-minded if I want to help him be successful.

Now all this is quite contrary to my own ideas of right and wrong but I am informed that things are "different" in business. Says my husband, "If I am to be successful I must not be imprisoned by marriage."

I do want to see him get ahead, I admit I am not very worldly but I don't want to encourage him in wrong-doing if such this is. Your opinion will be helpful.

JOSIE K.

Answer: If your husband could rise to the top by means of his glib tongue, he'd be president of the firm in no time. He has built up a wonderful set of alibis that will fit any unorthodox situation he may be found in.

While it is true that businessmen frequently take women to lunch or even dinner in the pursuit of duty, the type of preparation your husband is making will not be helpful. For one thing, business-women are quite different from the type picked up at dance halls or in taverns. The women he meets at these places may indeed be "interesting," but they are scarcely calculated to aid one's success in business.

Businesswomen Safe

Women who have reached the point in the professional or commercial world where they are taken to lunch by clients or other male contacts are more interested in promoting their careers than in a passing date. Furthermore they are well schooled in the realization that their own success depends upon impeccable behavior. With such few exceptions as are bound to crop up in any association, you could trust these women with your husband at any time.

However, the type of person your husband is contacting under the specious guise of furthering his career will not contribute one iota to his success. In fact, let word of his associations come to the attention of those in authority at his firm, and your man is more likely to find a way to dismissal than promotion.

He'd do better to spend his spare time studying for that promotion — in books, not bars. The ways of the business world don't differ fundamentally from those of any other group. Getting ahead is a matter of intelligence, study, hard work and application. Being a Lothario in the office and a Casanova out of it will bring little but ridicule, scandal and failure.

Dear Miss Dix: My wife will not accept my folks and will not let our daughter visit them for any length of time. She thinks of the smartest excuses to keep the chld away! I get along very well with her people and help them with many things around their home. How can I get her to respect my folks more?

MR. D.

Answer: First, find out exactly what she has against your people. Perhaps they have been antagonistic to her in the past, or maybe they aren't very friendly when she does visit them. If, however, hers is a senseless prejudice, insist that she be more cooperative if you are to continue helping her family. There should be mutual fairness in the treatment of in-laws. Pettiness has no place in the picture.

CHILI RICE TAMALES

Here's a "South of the Border" Favorite With Chili, Tamales and Riceland Rice

INGREDIENTS:

1 cup uncooked Riceland Rice

2 cups water

1 teaspoon salt

1 15-oz. can or jar of tamales and sauce

1 15½-oz. can chili con carne with beans

¾ cup water

¼ pound American cheese, sliced or grated

Put the Riceland Rice, water and salt in a 2-quart saucepan and bring to a vigorous boil. Turn heat as low as possible. Cover and leave over low heat 14 minutes. Put tamales and sauce in a greased 2-quart baking dish. Add rice, chili con carne and water. Top with the cheese. Bake in a 350° F. oven for 30 minutes or until cheese melts and the mixture is hot. Makes 8 servings.

Use genuine Riceland Rice in this recipe for best results.

NEW YORK STOCKS

NEW YORK (AP) — Losses of as much as 4 points a share were marked up in the Stock Market today.

Selling pushed all sections of the market lower, although here and there selected issues showed resistance. Dealings were heavier than in recent sessions and volume for the day was around three million shares.

In mid-afternoon, most prices were moderately above their lows of the day and the market showed a tendency to rally.

Prime targets for the selling were the aircrafts, steels, motors, railroads and oils. Among the wider losers were Douglas Aircraft General Dynamics, U. S. Steel, Bath Iron Works, Monsanto, Du Pont, Atlantic Coast Line and Royal Dutch Petroleum.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK (AP)—Cotton futures were irregular tolay, with trade buying and short covering meeting scattered liquidation and hedging. During the morning, the market's action revolved around evening up operations in nearoy May. Nearby May expired at 12:30 p.m. today at a final range of 34.48 to 34.50 cents a pound which was slightly under the previous close.

Late afternoon prices were 35 cents a bale higher to 20 cents lower than the previous close. July 34.12, October 34.10 and December 34.16.

NOTICE TO CITY RESIDENTS

May 12, 1955

We wish to call to your attention an ordinance that provides that any one owning, or renting a resident inside the City limits of Hope are required to keep the weeds and grass mowed at this time of year. Mosquitoes and other insects will breed in such places.

During the past few years the City has been trying to keep up with most of the mowing with the resident paying for the service, however, it has become a burden as we have all we can take care of on the streets and alleys. So it will be advisable to call some individual that ownes a mower for this work.

Respt. yours,

C. E. Baker, Chief of Police

News Briefs

NEOSHO, Mo. (UP) — Billy 20, was killed and Larry Wood, 19, critically injured in a one-car accident near here yesterday. Both are from Ft. Smith, Ark.

Their car went off the road, plunged into a ditch and struck a culvert. Jeffers was instantly killed, and Wood suffered a severely lacerated scalp, possible brain injury, loss of an eye, fractures of both knees and several ribs. He is in a hospital here.

ARKADELPHIA (UP) — Orville A. Kelley, former band director at Waldron High school, has been named director of the Henderson State Teachers college band, according to President D. D. McBrien. He succeeds Robert Hardesty, who plans to enter medical school this fall.

Kelley has been director of the Commerce, Tex., High school band for the past two years. The change is effective Sept. 1.

LITTLE ROCK (UP) — Construction was begun yesterday on the first suburban branch bank here, to be built by First National bank.

The branch will be located near the intersection of Hayes Street and Asher Avenue in Southwest Little Rock, near the Benton Highway. It is just outside city limits, in accordance with state law which prohibits branch activities in any city where the parent bank is located.

Bank President J. V. Satterfield, Jrl, said the new bank is expected to be open by July 1, depending on availability of materials.

LITTLE ROCK (UP) — Some 125 representatives from various women's organizations throughout the state are expected here May 20 for the 1955 annual consumer information meeting.

The meeting, sponsored by the Agricultural Extension Service, this year will be on the theme, "More Satisfaction From the Meat Dollar."

A. R. Ring, head of the meat merchandising department of the National Livestock and Meat Board in Chicago, will give the women pointers in meat selection, with guide posts for economical meat-buying.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Arkansas Senators Fulbright and McClellan voted with the 66-11 Senate majority which yesterday approved a bill completing congressional action on a pay boost for postal workers.

DOROTHY DIX

Glib Line

Dear Miss Dix: I married young at 17, and have had little chance to know the ways of the world, especially the business world. My husband is eight years older than I and in the seven years of our marriage has been very good to me and our two children. Now, however, he is beginning to change.

Recently he received a promotion to office manager, a job he has long sought. He claims there are many advancements in store for him but he must prepare for them. His idea of "preparation" is to take the girls in the office to lunch, dinner or dances, to go out by himself to meet other interesting women. According to him, he must learn how to handle people and this is the way to do it. He says that in the future he will have to take important people out, and now is the time to make new contacts. He tells me I must learn to be broad-minded if I want to help him be successful.

Now all this is quite contrary to my own ideas of right and wrong but I am informed that things are "different" in business. Says my husband, "If I am to be successful I must not be imprisoned by marriage."

I do want to see him get ahead, I admit I am not very worldly but I don't want to encourage him in wrong-doing if such this is. Your opinion will be helpful.

JOSIE K.

Answer: If your husband could rise to the top by means of his glib tongue, he'd be president of the firm in no time. He has built up a wonderful set of alibis that will fit any unorthodox situation he may be found in.

While it is true that businessmen frequently take women to lunch or even dinner in the pursuit of duty, the type of preparation your husband is making will not be helpful. For one thing, business-women are quite different from the type picked up at dance halls or in taverns. The women he meets at these places may indeed be "interesting," but they are scarcely calculated to aid one's success in business.

Businesswomen Safe

Women who have reached the point in the professional or commercial world where they are taken to lunch by clients or other male contacts are more interested in promoting their careers than in a passing date. Furthermore they are well schooled in the realization that their own success depends upon impeccable behavior. With such few exceptions as are bound to crop up in any association, you could trust these women with your husband at any time.

However, the type of person your husband is contacting under the specious guise of furthering his career will not contribute one iota to his success. In fact, let word of his associations come to the attention of those in authority at his firm, and your man is more likely to find a way to dismissal than promotion.

He'd do better to spend his spare time studying for that promotion — in books, not bars. The ways of the business world don't differ fundamentally from those of any other group. Getting ahead is a matter of intelligence, study, hard work and application. Being a Lothario in the office and a Casanova out of it will bring little but ridicule, scandal and failure.

Dear Miss Dix: My wife will not accept my folks and will not let our daughter visit them for any length of time. She thinks of the smartest excuses to keep the chld away! I get along very well with her people and help them with many things around their home. How can I get her to respect my folks more?

MR. D.

Answer: First, find out exactly what she has against your people. Perhaps they have been antagonistic to her in the past, or maybe they aren't very friendly when she does visit them. If, however, hers is a senseless prejudice, insist that she be more cooperative if you are to continue helping her family. There should be mutual fairness in the treatment of in-laws. Pettiness has no place in the picture.

NEW YORK STOCKS

NEW YORK (AP) — Losses of as much as 4 points a share were marked up in the Stock Market today.

Selling pushed all sections of the market lower, although here and there selected issues showed resistance. Dealings were heavier than in recent sessions and volume for the day was around three million shares.

In mid-afternoon, most prices were moderately above their lows of the day and the market showed a tendency to rally.

Prime targets for the selling were the aircrafts, steels, motors, railroads and oils. Among the wider losers were Douglas Aircraft General Dynamics, U. S. Steel, Bath Iron Works, Monsanto, Du Pont, Atlantic Coast Line and Royal Dutch Petroleum.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK (AP)—Cotton futures were irregular tolay, with trade buying and short covering meeting scattered liquidation and hedging. During the morning, the market's action revolved around evening up operations in nearoy May. Nearby May expired at 12:30 p.m. today at a final range of 34.48 to 34.50 cents a pound which was slightly under the previous close.

Late afternoon prices were 35 cents a bale higher to 20 cents lower than the previous close. July 34.12, October 34.10 and December 34.16.

NOTICE TO CITY RESIDENTS

May 12, 1955

We wish to call to your attention an ordinance that provides that any one owning, or renting a resident inside the City limits of Hope are required to keep the weeds and grass mowed at this time of year. Mosquitoes and other insects will breed in such places.

During the past few years the City has been trying to keep up with most of the mowing with the resident paying for the service, however, it has become a burden as we have all we can take care of on the streets and alleys. So it will be advisable to call some individual that ownes a mower for this work.

News Briefs

NEOSHO, Mo. (UP) — Billy 20, was killed and Larry Wood, 19, critically injured in a one-car accident near here yesterday. Both are from Ft. Smith, Ark.

Their car went off the road, plunged into a ditch and struck a culvert. Jeffers was instantly killed, and Wood suffered a severely lacerated scalp, possible brain injury, loss of an eye, fractures of both knees and several ribs. He is in a hospital here.

ARKADELPHIA (UP) — Orville A. Kelley, former band director at Waldron High school, has been named director of the Henderson State Teachers college band, according to President D. D. McBrien. He succeeds Robert Hardesty, who plans to enter medical school this fall.

Kelley has been director of the Commerce, Tex., High school band for the past two years. The change is effective Sept. 1.

LITTLE ROCK (UP) — Construction was begun yesterday on the first suburban branch bank here, to be built by First National bank.

The branch will be located near the intersection of Hayes Street and Asher Avenue in Southwest Little Rock, near the Benton Highway. It is just outside city limits, in accordance with state law which prohibits branch activities in any city where the parent bank is located.

Bank President J. V. Satterfield, Jrl, said the new bank is expected to be open by July 1, depending on availability of materials.

LITTLE ROCK (UP) — Some 125 representatives from various women's organizations throughout the state are expected here May 20 for the 1955 annual consumer information meeting.

The meeting, sponsored by the Agricultural Extension Service, this year will be on the theme, "More Satisfaction From the Meat Dollar."

A. R. Ring, head of the meat merchandising department of the National Livestock and Meat Board in Chicago, will give the women pointers in meat selection, with guide posts for economical meat-buying.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Arkansas Senators Fulbright and McClellan voted with the 66-11 Senate majority which yesterday approved a bill completing congressional action on a pay boost for postal workers.

DOROTHY DIX

Glib Line

Dear Miss Dix: I married young at 17, and have had little chance to know the ways of the world, especially the business world. My husband is eight years older than I and in the seven years of our marriage has been very good to me and our two children. Now, however, he is beginning to change.

Recently he received a promotion to office manager, a job he has long sought. He claims there are many advancements in store for him but he must prepare for them. His idea of "preparation" is to take the girls in the office to lunch, dinner or dances, to go out by himself to meet other interesting women. According to him, he must learn how to handle people and this is the way to do it. He says that in the future he will have to take important people out, and now is the time to make new contacts. He tells me I must learn to be broad-minded if I want to help him be successful.

Now all this is quite contrary to my own ideas of right and wrong but I am informed that things are "different" in business. Says my husband, "If I am to be successful I must not be imprisoned by marriage."

I do want to see him get ahead, I admit I am not very worldly but I don't want to encourage him in wrong-doing if such this is. Your opinion will be helpful.

JOSIE K.

Answer: If your husband could rise to the top by means of his glib tongue, he'd be president of the firm in no time. He has built up a wonderful set of alibis that will fit any unorthodox situation he may be found in.

While it is true that businessmen frequently take women to lunch or even dinner in the pursuit of duty, the type of preparation your husband is making will not be helpful. For one thing, business-women are quite different from the type picked up at dance halls or in taverns. The women he meets at these places may indeed be "interesting," but they are scarcely calculated to aid one's success in business.

Businesswomen Safe

Women who have reached the point in the professional or commercial world where they are taken to lunch by clients or other male contacts are more interested in promoting their careers than in a passing date. Furthermore they are well schooled in the realization that their own success depends upon impeccable behavior. With such few exceptions as are bound to crop up in any association, you could trust these women with your husband at any time.

However, the type of person your husband is contacting under the specious guise of furthering his career will not contribute one iota to his success. In fact, let word of his associations come to the attention of those in authority at his firm, and your man is more likely to find a way to dismissal than promotion.

He'd do better to spend his spare time studying for that promotion — in books, not bars. The ways of the business world don't differ fundamentally from those of any other group. Getting ahead is a matter of intelligence, study, hard work and application. Being a Lothario in the office and a Casanova out of it will bring little but ridicule, scandal and failure.

Dear Miss Dix: My wife will not accept my folks and will not let our daughter visit them for any length of time. She thinks of the smartest excuses to keep the chld away! I get along very well with her people and help them with many things around their home. How can I get her to respect my folks more?

MR. D.

Answer: First, find out exactly what she has against your people. Perhaps they have been antagonistic to her in the past, or maybe they aren't very friendly when she does visit them. If, however, hers is a senseless prejudice, insist that she be more cooperative if you are to continue helping her family. There should be mutual fairness in the treatment of in-laws. Pettiness has no place in the picture.

Mrs. Eisenhower Has Recovered

WASHINGTON, (UP) — Mrs. Mamie Eisenhower is completely recovered from her spring bout with the flu but she still is taking it easy on social activities.

Gen. Howard MC. Snyder, White House physician, said today her condition is "about her usual state of health."

CHILI RICE TAMALES

Here's a "South of the Border" Favorite With Chili, Tamales and Riceland Rice

INGREDIENTS:
1 cup uncooked Riceland Rice
2 cups water
1 teaspoon salt
1 15-oz. can or jar of tamales and sauce
1 15½-oz. can chili con carne with beans
¾ cup water
¼ pound American cheese, sliced or grated

Put the Riceland Rice, water and salt in a 2-quart saucepan and bring to a vigorous boil. Turn heat as low as possible. Cover and leave over low heat 14 minutes. Put tamales and sauce in a greased 2-quart baking dish. Add rice, chili con carne and water. Top with the cheese. Bake in a 350° F. oven for 30 minutes or until cheese melts and the mixture is hot. Makes 8 servings.

Use genuine Riceland Rice in this recipe for best results.

NEW YORK STOCKS

NEW YORK (AP) — Losses of as much as 4 points a share were marked up in the Stock Market today.

Selling pushed all sections of the market lower, although here and there selected issues showed resistance. Dealings were heavier than in recent sessions and volume for the day was around three million shares.

In mid-afternoon, most prices were moderately above their lows of the day and the market showed a tendency to rally.

Prime targets for the selling were the aircrafts, steels, motors, railroads and oils. Among the wider losers were Douglas Aircraft General Dynamics, U. S. Steel, Bath Iron Works, Monsanto, Du Pont, Atlantic Coast Line and Royal Dutch Petroleum.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK (AP)—Cotton futures were irregular tolay, with trade buying and short covering meeting scattered liquidation and hedging. During the morning, the market's action revolved around evening up operations in nearby May. Nearby May expired at 12:30 p.m. today at a final range of 34.48 to 34.50 cents a pound which was slightly under the previous close.

Late afternoon prices were 35 cents a bale higher to 20 cents lower than the previous close. July 34.12, October 34.10 and December 34.16.

NOTICE TO CITY RESIDENTS

May 12, 1955

We wish to call to your attention an ordinance that provides that any one owning, or renting a resident inside the City limits of Hope are required to keep the weeds and grass mowed at this time of year. Mosquitoes and other insects will breed in such places.

During the past few years the City has been trying to keep up with most of the mowing with the resident paying for the service, however, it has become a burden as we have all we can take care of on the streets and alleys. So it will be advisable to call some individual that ownes a mower for this work.

Respt. yours,
C. E. Baker, Chief of Police

News Briefs

NEOSHO, Mo. (UP) — Billy 20, was killed and Larry Wood, 19, critically injured in a one-car accident near here yesterday. Both are from Ft. Smith, Ark.

Their car went off the road, plunged into a ditch and struck a culvert. Jeffers was instantly killed, and Wood suffered a severely lacerated scalp, possible brain injury, loss of an eye, fractures of both knees and several ribs. He is in a hospital here.

ARKADELPHIA (UP) — Orville A. Kelley, former band director at Waldron High school, has been named director of the Henderson State Teachers college band, according to President D. D. McBrien. He succeeds Robert Hardesty, who plans to enter medical school this fall.

Kelley has been director of the Commerce, Tex., High school band for the past two years. The change is effective Sept. 1.

LITTLE ROCK (UP) — Construction was begun yesterday on the first suburban branch bank here, to be built by First National bank.

The branch will be located near the intersection of Hayes Street and Asher Avenue in Southwest Little Rock, near the Benton Highway. It is just outside city limits, in accordance with state law which prohibits branch activities in any city where the parent bank is located.

Bank President J. V. Satterfield, Jrl, said the new bank is expected to be open by July 1, depending on availability of materials.

LITTLE ROCK (UP) — Some 125 representatives from various women's organizations throughout the state are expected here May 20 for the 1955 annual consumer information meeting.

The meeting, sponsored by the Agricultural Extension Service, this year will be on the theme, "More Satisfaction From the Meat Dollar."

A. R. Ring, head of the meat merchandising department of the National Livestock and Meat Board in Chicago, will give the women pointers in meat selection, with guide posts for economical meat-buying.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Arkansas Senators Fulbright and McClellan voted with the 66-11 Senate majority which yesterday approved a bill completing congressional action on a pay boost for postal workers.

DOROTHY DIX

Glib Line

Dear Miss Dix: I married young at 17, and have had little chance to know the ways of the world, especially the business world. My husband is eight years older than I and in the seven years of our marriage has been very good to me and our two children. Now, however, he is beginning to change.

Recently he received a promotion to office manager, a job he has long sought. He claims there are many advancements in store for him but he must prepare for them. His idea of "preparation" is to take the girls in the office to lunch, dinner or dances, to go out by himself to meet other interesting women. According to him, he must learn how to handle people and this is the way to do it. He says that in the future he will have to take important people out, and now is the time to make new contacts. He tells me I must learn to be broad-minded if I want to help him be successful.

Now all this is quite contrary to my own ideas of right and wrong but I am informed that things are "different" in business. Says my husband, "If I am to be successful I must not be imprisoned by marriage."

I do want to see him get ahead, I admit I am not very worldly but I don't want to encourage him in wrong-doing if such this is. Your opinion will be helpful.

JOSIE K.

Answer: If your husband could rise to the top by means of his glib tongue, he'd be president of the firm in no time. He has built up a wonderful set of alibis that will fit any unorthodox situation he may be found in.

While it is true that businessmen frequently take women to lunch or even dinner in the pursuit of duty, the type of preparation your husband is making will not be helpful. For one thing, business-women are quite different from the type picked up at dance halls or in taverns. The women he meets at these places may indeed be "interesting," but they are scarcely calculated to aid one's success in business.

Businesswomen Safe

Women who have reached the point in the professional or commercial world where they are taken to lunch by clients or other male contacts are more interested in promoting their careers than in a passing date. Furthermore they are well schooled in the realization that their own success depends upon impeccable behavior. With such few exceptions as are bound to crop up in any association, you could trust these women with your husband at any time.

However, the type of person your husband is contacting under the specious guise of furthering his career will not contribute one iota to his success. In fact, let word of his associations come to the attention of those in authority at his firm, and your man is more likely to find a way to dismissal than promotion.

He'd do better to spend his spare time studying for that promotion — in books, not bars. The ways of the business world don't differ fundamentally from those of any other group. Getting ahead is a matter of intelligence, study, hard work and application. Being a Lothario in the office and a Casanova out of it will bring little but ridicule, scandal and failure.

Dear Miss Dix: My wife will not accept my folks and will not let our daughter visit them for any length of time. She thinks of the smartest excuses to keep the chld away! I get along very well with her people and help them with many things around their home. How can I get her to respect my folks more?

MR. D.

Answer: First, find out exactly what she has against your people. Perhaps they have been antagonistic to her in the past, or maybe they aren't very friendly when she does visit them. If, however, hers is a senseless prejudice, insist that she be more cooperative if you are to continue helping her family. There should be mutual fairness in the treatment of in-laws. Pettiness has no place in the picture.

NEW YORK STOCKS

NEW YORK (AP) — Losses of as much as 4 points a share were marked up in the Stock Market today.

Selling pushed all sections of the market lower, although here and there selected issues showed resistance. Dealings were heavier than in recent sessions and volume for the day was around three million shares.

In mid-afternoon, most prices were moderately above their lows of the day and the market showed a tendency to rally.

Prime targets for the selling were the aircrafts, steels, motors, railroads and oils. Among the wider losers were Douglas Aircraft General Dynamics, U. S. Steel, Bath Iron Works, Monsanto, Du Pont, Atlantic Coast Line and Royal Dutch Petroleum.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK (AP)—Cotton futures were irregular tolay, with trade buying and short covering meeting scattered liquidation and hedging. During the morning, the market's action revolved around evening up operations in nearby May. Nearby May expired at 12:30 p.m. today at a final range of 34.48 to 34.50 cents a pound which was slightly under the previous close.

Late afternoon prices were 35 cents a bale higher to 20 cents lower than the previous close. July 34.12, October 34.10 and December 34.16.

News Briefs

NEOSHO, Mo. (UP) — Billy 20, was killed and Larry Wood, 19, critically injured in a one-car accident near here yesterday. Both are from Ft. Smith, Ark.

Their car went off the road, plunged into a ditch and struck a culvert. Jeffers was instantly killed, and Wood suffered a severely lacerated scalp, possible brain injury, loss of an eye, fractures of both knees and several ribs. He is in a hospital here.

ARKADELPHIA (UP) — Orville A. Kelley, former band director at Waldron High school, has been named director of the Henderson State Teachers college band, according to President D. D. McBrien. He succeeds Robert Hardesty, who plans to enter medical school this fall.

Kelley has been director of the Commerce, Tex., High school band for the past two years. The change is effective Sept. 1.

LITTLE ROCK (UP) — Construction was begun yesterday on the first suburban branch bank here, to be built by First National bank.

The branch will be located near the intersection of Hayes Street and Asher Avenue in Southwest Little Rock, near the Benton Highway. It is just outside city limits, in accordance with state law which prohibits branch activities in any city where the parent bank is located.

Bank President J. V. Satterfield, Jrl, said the new bank is expected to be open by July 1, depending on availability of materials.

LITTLE ROCK (UP) — Some 125 representatives from various women's organizations throughout the state are expected here May 20 for the 1955 annual consumer information meeting.

The meeting, sponsored by the Agricultural Extension Service, this year will be on the theme, "More Satisfaction From the Meat Dollar."

A. R. Ring, head of the meat merchandising department of the National Livestock and Meat Board in Chicago, will give the women pointers in meat selection, with guide posts for economical meat-buying.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Arkansas Senators Fulbright and McClellan voted with the 66-11 Senate majority which yesterday approved a bill completing congressional action on a pay boost for postal workers.

NOTICE TO CITY RESIDENTS

May 12, 1955

We wish to call to your attention an ordinance that provides that any one owning, or renting a resident inside the City limits of Hope are required to keep the weeds and grass mowed at this time of year. Mosquitoes and other insects will breed in such places.

During the past few years the City has been trying to keep up with most of the mowing with the resident paying for the service, however, it has become a burden as we have all we can take care of on the streets and alleys. So it will be advisable to call some individual that ownes a mower for this work.

Answer: If your husband could rise to the top by means of his glib tongue, he'd be president of the firm in no time. He has built up a wonderful set of alibis that will fit any unorthodox situation he may be found in.

While it is true that businessmen frequently take women to lunch or even dinner in the pursuit of duty, the type of preparation your husband is making will not be helpful. For one thing, business-women are quite different from the type picked up at dance halls or in taverns. The women he meets at these places may indeed be "interesting," but they are scarcely calculated to aid one's success in business.

Businesswomen Safe

Women who have reached the point in the professional or commercial world where they are taken to lunch by clients or other male contacts are more interested in promoting their careers than in a passing date. Furthermore they are well schooled in the realization that their own success depends upon impeccable behavior. With such few exceptions as are bound to crop up in any association, you could trust these women with your husband at any time.

However, the type of person your husband is contacting under the specious guise of furthering his career will not contribute one iota to his success. In fact, let word of his associations come to the attention of those in authority at his firm, and your man is more likely to find a way to dismissal than promotion.

He'd do better to spend his spare time studying for that promotion — in books, not bars. The ways of the business world don't differ fundamentally from those of any other group. Getting ahead is a matter of intelligence, study, hard work and application. Being a Lothario in the office and a Casanova out of it will bring little but ridicule, scandal and failure.

Dear Miss Dix: My wife will not accept my folks and will not let our daughter visit them for any length of time. She thinks of the smartest excuses to keep the chld away! I get along very well with her people and help them with many things around their home. How can I get her to respect my folks more?

MR. D.

Answer: First, find out exactly what she has against your people. Perhaps they have been antagonistic to her in the past, or maybe they aren't very friendly when she does visit them. If, however, hers is a senseless prejudice, insist that she be more cooperative if you are to continue helping her family. There should be mutual fairness in the treatment of in-laws. Pettiness has no place in the picture.

CHAPTER XXVIII

By nightfall of Sept. 7, 200 men were in the field against the gang, with more swarming out by the hour. And the complexion of the pursuers was altering swiftly from the disorganized crowd of embattled townfolk and shotgun-armed farmers which had taken up the chose in the immediate hours of the robbery.

The police chiefs of Minneapolis and St. Paul, accompanied by squads of their cities' detectives, were en route to the scene by train. Every county sheriff in southeastern Minnesota was out, backed by his regular deputies and scores of sworn-in civilians. From St. Paul, Omaha and Chicago the Pinkerton operatives poured in. Robert Pinkerton took personal command with brother William co ordinating the campaign from the Chicago headquarters.

The gang had been positively identified within an hour of the robbery, as soon as the telegraph key clicked southward to Mankato. The Mankato sheriff woke up with a belated start, realized what he had slept through, wired the St. Paul police the illuminating details of his dereliction of duty.

With the end of the second day, Sept. 8, there were no less than 500 armed peace officers and enlisted civilians combing the back roads and timbered crosslands for the fleeing bandits. And by the end of that day, pickets were posted at all bridges, back trails and cowpaths in a sprawling semicircle roughly 20 miles south of North field, and stretching 50 miles east and west.

Since the last report from outside Millersburg, the gang had vanished without a trace.

Then, suddenly, at noon of the 8th, came a report from a picket post on the Little Cannon River, outside Waterville. Earlier that morning, the bandits had approached the ford. The pickets had fired, the bandits fled back into the woods. Apparently, they were badly frightened. The pickets charged into the timber after them —which was clearly what they had been meant to do. The gang doubled easily back around them and crossed the abandoned ford unmolsted.

The Northfield area was cleared out and a new line set up, 50 miles to the south and nearly 100 miles long from point to point.

Late Friday afternoon, the fugitives had invaded a farmhouse north of German Lake, had taken fresh horses at pistol point, pounded on their way. Instantly, a score of poses closed on the area.

The outlaw camp was in a tangled, brackish lowland, six miles east of German Lake. It was a far and lonely cry from what his followers had come to expect of Jesse's charmed leadership.

No cherry campfire, here.

The horseblankets hung from the gaunt bushes, leaking more rain than they shed. Beneath them, cold, sick, wet to the shaking bone, crouched the six survivors. Bob was out of his head with the fever and pain of his shattered arm. Cole hunched over him, muttering and growling like the wounded grizzly he was fighting off the torture of his own wounds as he mothered his raving brother. Beyond them, close enough to touch in the darkness, huddled Frank, Jim and Charlie Pitts. Beneath another bus, 10 feet away, alone and invisible through the sheeting rain, Jesse stared out into the blackness.

Presently, he arose, felt his way, tree trunk by tree trunk, to the tethered horses.

"The crazy idjut's cutting the horses loose."

"Shut your mouth." Jesse's form looked through the downpour, shouldered in under the horseblankets.

Jess, what you think you're doing?" It was Pitts again, still incredulous.

"I said, shut up. We're getting out of here:"

"But the horses!" Now it was Jim Younger, towering over him, eyes blazing.

"Set down," Cole said. "Leave him get on with it.' And then, softly: "Dingus always has a plan.

When he talked at last, it was the old Jesse: Quick, fast-worded, absolutely sure of himself and his plan.

"They figure theyve got us treed,' 'he began. "That we cain't run no more. Well, they figure right. We caint run no more. But we can walk!!!'

He paused, dramatically, then swept on.

"You remember what they used to call 'Old Jack's' boys during the war' The reference was to Stonewall Jackson and his famed Shenandoah Valley infantry brigade. His listeners understood it, nodded dully.

"Foot cavalry!!' rapped Jesse. "He'd take them boys sometimes 30 miles in a night, and they'd go where horse troops couldnt begin to.'

"Well, we got bluebellies after us, here. They got nothing but horsemen on their side and they ain't looking for nothing but horsemen on ours. We'll just walk out on them, that's all.

As he had gone along, Coles gray eyes had narrowed. When he had finished, he had a single question, one he had asked before.

"How about Bob?" he said. "We cain't walk to keep up with the rest of us.

Jesse turned on him, his plan having already foreseen that query. "I left three of the horses tied. I figured you to take Jim and Bob and pull out on me. Help ourselves.'

"You figured wrong," said Cole. "Were sticking with you, Ding. You walk, we walk.'

has sold, he says he doesn't know but is going to ask his publisher about those things.

Faulkner is an extremely deliberate craftsman. Among other things, he has delivered the plot lines for 12 movies. The latest is "Land of the Pharoahs," a Warner Brothers picture.

After winning the Nobel prize for literature, he was given the Publitzer award this year for his novel, "A Fable." This rather surprised him, since it was published a year before.

Faulkner, one of the most successful writers in America, has an outspoken antipathy for the bare bones of success.

"I was born to be a tramp. I was happiest when I had nothing. I had a trench coat then with big pockets. It would carry a pair of socks a condensed Shakespeare and a bottle of whisky. Then I was happy and I wanted nothing and I had no responsibility."

I asked him what makes people grow old. He said idleness, boredom. It kills them. They die because they don't have enough to do.

"Doing noghtin — sitting down and vegetating — is no good unless you can make it an actual occupation.

"There are people who can do without a job in this world and stay healthy, but they have to be used to it."

Asked what was his greater pleasure in life now, Faulkner replied:

"Thinking up an idea for a book before I realize this one really isn't going to be as good as I want it to be, either.

"This time you say I'll catch the answer to the whole riddle — why man is here—put it down in black and white so everyone can see it and understand. Before you can do this, you break the pencil and throw it away."

From the way he talks, you might get the idea his Mississippi farm is strewn with broken pencils —until you take a look at that book list.

Six Jailed in Copper Thefts

PINE BLUFF, (AP) Police have jailed six men and are seeking four others in connection with thefts at seven Arkansas towns of copper wire.

Main targets of the thefts was Arkansas Power & Light Co.

Prosecutor Pat Mullis said Vernon Strom, 23, of Woodson, was charged with grand larceny and released on bond for medical threatment. He said Wilburn Thompson, 19, of Hensley, was turned over to Bradley County authorities because of his alleged connection with thefts at Warren.

Mullis said he would file charges today against Charles Thompson, 21, of Hensley, George Davis, 32, of Woodson; Will Gus Strom, 24, of Hensley, and Thomas Jones, 17, of Hensley.

Hensley and Woodson are communities near the Jefferson-Pulaski county line.

Other firms reporting losses of wire were the Rural Electrification Administration office at Jacksonville, Texas Eastern Transmission Corp., and the Arkansas State Electric Cooperative, Inc., both of North Little Rock.

IT'S ALL BUICK

for only $2515.00* delivered locally!
*2-door, 6-passenger Buick SPECIAL Sedan, Model 48, illustrated. Optional equipment, accessories, state and local taxes, if any, additional. Prices may vary slightly in adjoining communities. Even the factory-installed extras you may want are bargains, such as: Heater & Defroster—$81.70; Radio & Antenna—$92.50.
YOU certainly can throw out your chest and call this strapping big Buick yours.
Because—as any comparison shows—the dollar difference between this brawny beauty and the well-known smaller cars is now virtually erased.
So if you've been holding back, thinking a Buick was out of reach—let yourself go. You can afford a Buick if you can afford any new car—and the price we show here proves it.
Buick Sales Are Soaring To New Best-Seller Highs
That's a major reason for the phenomenal success of Buick today. So much so, that production and sales are hitting new peaks to move Buick more firmly into the tight circle of America's best sellers.
And a companion reason for this soaring popularity is Buick's full line of cars to give you a choice in any price class—the bedrock-priced SPECIAL, the high-powered CENTURY, the extra-roomy SUPER, and the custom-built ROADMASTER.
But pure and simple, it's all the automobile you get for your money that's winning so many new owners to Buick.
It's the extra pride you feel, the extra room you enjoy, the extra comfort you get, the extra safety you sense—from Buick styling, Buick size, Buick ride-engineering, Buick solidity of structure.
It's the extra lift and snap and ginger you get from Buick high-compression V8 power—and the fun and thrill of bossing such eager might.
As we said—if you can afford any new car, you can afford a Buick—even with the spectacular performance of Variable Pitch Dynaflow† at modest extra cost.
So why settle for anything less than a Buick? Drop in on us, take the wheel, press that pedal, and see for yourself what a whale of an automobile—and a whale of a buy—today's Buick really is.
†Dynaflow Drive is standard on Roadmaster, optional at extra cost on other Series
DID YOU KNOW—
— that the Buick SPECIAL is priced below any other car of 188 horsepower and 122-inch wheelbase?
— that the Buick SPECIAL is priced below some models of the three well-known smaller cars?
— that the Buick SPECIAL gives you more pounds of automobile than any other car at its low price?
Thrill of the year is Buick

CHAPTER XXVIII

By nightfall of Sept. 7, 200 men were in the field against the gang, with more swarming out by the hour. And the complexion of the pursuers was altering swiftly from the disorganized crowd of embattled townfolk and shotgun-armed farmers which had taken up the chose in the immediate hours of the robbery.

The police chiefs of Minneapolis and St. Paul, accompanied by squads of their cities' detectives, were en route to the scene by train. Every county sheriff in southeastern Minnesota was out, backed by his regular deputies and scores of sworn-in civilians. From St. Paul, Omaha and Chicago the Pinkerton operatives poured in. Robert Pinkerton took personal command with brother William co ordinating the campaign from the Chicago headquarters.

The gang had been positively identified within an hour of the robbery, as soon as the telegraph key clicked southward to Mankato. The Mankato sheriff woke up with a belated start, realized what he had slept through, wired the St. Paul police the illuminating details of his dereliction of duty.

With the end of the second day, Sept. 8, there were no less than 500 armed peace officers and enlisted civilians combing the back roads and timbered crosslands for the fleeing bandits. And by the end of that day, pickets were posted at all bridges, back trails and cowpaths in a sprawling semicircle roughly 20 miles south of North field, and stretching 50 miles east and west.

Since the last report from outside Millersburg, the gang had vanished without a trace.

Then, suddenly, at noon of the 8th, came a report from a picket post on the Little Cannon River, outside Waterville. Earlier that morning, the bandits had approached the ford. The pickets had fired, the bandits fled back into the woods. Apparently, they were badly frightened. The pickets charged into the timber after them—which was clearly what they had been meant to do. The gang doubled easily back around them and crossed the abandoned ford unmolsted.

The Northfield area was cleared out and a new line set up, 50 miles to the south and nearly 100 miles long from point to point.

Late Friday afternoon, the fugitives had invaded a farmhouse north of German Lake, had taken fresh horses at pistol point, pounded on their way. Instantly, a score of poses closed on the area.

The outlaw camp was in a tangled, brackish lowland, six miles east of German Lake. It was a far and lonely cry from what his followers had come to expect of Jesse's charmed leadership.

No cherry campfire, here.

The horseplankets hung from the gaunt bushes, leaking more rain than they shed. Beneath them, cold, sick, wet to the shaking bone, crouched the six survivors. Bob was out of his head with the fever and pain of his shattered arm. Cole hunched over him, muttering and growling like the wounded grizzly he was fighting off the torture of his own wounds as he mothered his raving brother. Beyond them, close enough to touch in the darkness, huddled Frank, Jim and Charlie Pitts. Beneath another bus, 10 feet away, alone and invisible through the sheeting rain, Jesse stared out into the blackness.

Presently, he arose, felt his way, tree trunk by tree trunk, to the tethered horses.

"The crazy idjut's cutting the horses loose."

"Shut your mouth." Jesse's form looked through the downpour, shouldered in under the horseblankets.

Jess, what you think you're doing?" It was Pitts again, still incredulous.

"I said, shut up. We're getting out of here."

"But the horses!" Now it was Jim Younger, towering over him, eyes blazing.

"Set down," Cole said. "Leave him get on with it.' And then, softly: "Dingus always has a plan."

When he talked at last, it was the old Jesse: Quick, fast-worded, absolutely sure of himself and his plan.

"They figure theyve got us treed,' 'he began. "That we cain't run no more. Well, they figure right. We caint run no more. But we can walk!!!'

He paused, dramatically, then swept on.

"You remember what they used to call 'Old Jack's' boys during the war' The reference was to Stonewall Jackson and his famed Shenandoah Valley infantry brigade. His listeners understood it, nodded dully.

"Foot cavalry!!' rapped Jesse. "He'd take them boys sometimes 30 miles in a night, and they'd go where horse troops couldnt begin to.'

"Well, we got bluebellies after us, here. They got nothing but horsemen on their side and they ain't looking for nothing but horsemen on ours. We'll just walk out on them, that's all.

As he had gone along, Coles gray eyes had narrowed. When he had finished, he had a single question, one he had asked before.

"How about Bob?" he said. "We cain't walk to keep up with the rest of us.

Jesse turned on him, his plan having already foreseen that query. "I left three of the horses tied. I figured you to take Jim and Bob and pull out on me. Help ourselves.'

"You figured wrong," said Cole. "Were sticking with you, Ding. You walk, we walk.'

has sold, he says he doesn't know but is going to ask his publisher about those things.

Faulkner is an extremely deliberate craftsman. Among other things, he has delivered the plot lines for 12 movies. The latest is "Land of the Pharoahs," a Warner Brothers picture.

After winning the Nobel prize for literature, he was given the Publitzer award this year for his novel, "A Fable." This rather surprised him, since it was published a year before.

Faulkner, one of the most successful writers in America, has an outspoken antipathy for the bare bones of success.

"I was born to be a tramp. I was happiest when I had nothing. I had a trench coat then with big pockets. It would carry a pair of socks a condensed Shakespeare and a bottle of whisky. Then I was happy and I wanted nothing and I had no responsibility."

I asked him what makes people grow old. He said idleness, boredom. It kills them. They die because they don't have enough to do.

"Doing noghtin — sitting down and vegetating — is no good unless you can make it an actual occupation.

"There are people who can do without a job in this world and stay healthy, but they have to be used to it."

Asked what was his greater pleasure in life now, Faulkner replied:

"Thinking up an idea for a book before I realize this one really isn't going to be as good as I want it to be, either.

"This time you say I'll catch the answer to the whole riddle — why man is here—put it down in black and white so everyone can see it and understand. Before you can do this, you break the pencil and throw it away."

From the way he talks, you might get the idea his Mississippi farm is strewn with broken pencils —until you take a look at that book list.

Six Jailed in Copper Thefts

PINE BLUFF, (AP) Police have jailed six men and are seeking four others in connection with thefts at seven Arkansas towns of copper wire.

Main targets of the thefts was Arkansas Power & Light Co.

Prosecutor Pat Mullis said Vernon Strom, 23, of Woodson, was charged with grand larceny and released on bond for medical threatment. He said Wilburn Thompson, 19, of Hensley, was turned over to Bradley County authorities because of his alleged connection with thefts at Warren.

Mullis said he would file charges today against Charles Thompson, 21, of Hensley, George Davis, 32, of Woodson; Will Gus Strom, 24, of Hensley, and Thomas Jones, 17, of Hensley.

Hensley and Woodson are communities near the Jefferson-Pulaski county line.

Other firms reporting losses of wire were the Rural Electrification Administration office at Jacksonville, Texas Eastern Transmission Corp., and the Arkansas State Electric Cooperative, Inc., both of North Little Rock.

IT'S ALL BUICK

for only $2515.00 * delivered locally!

*2-door, 6-passenger Buick SPECIAL Sedan, Model 48, illustrated. Optional equipment, accessories, state and local taxes, if any, additional. Prices may vary slightly in adjoining communities. Even the factory-installed extras you may want are bargains, such as: Heater & Defroster—$81.70; Radio & Antenna—$92.50.

YOU certainly can throw out your chest and call this strapping big Buick yours.

Because—as any comparison shows—the dollar difference between this brawny beauty and the well-known smaller cars is now virtually erased.

So if you've been holding back, thinking a Buick was out of reach—let yourself go. You can afford a Buick if you can afford any new car—and the price we show here proves it.

Buick Sales Are Soaring To New Best-Seller Highs

That's a major reason for the phenomenal success of Buick today. So much so, that production and sales are hitting new peaks to move Buick more firmly into the tight circle of America's best sellers.

And a companion reason for this soaring popularity is Buick's full line of cars to give you a choice in any price class—the bedrock-priced SPECIAL, the high-powered CENTURY, the extra-roomy SUPER, and the custom-built ROADMASTER.

But pure and simple, it's all the automobile you get for your money that's winning so many new owners to Buick.

It's the extra pride you feel, the extra room you enjoy, the extra comfort you get, the extra safety you sense—from Buick styling, Buick size, Buick ride-engineering, Buick solidity of structure.

It's the extra lift and snap and ginger you get from Buick high-compression V8 power—and the fun and thrill of bossing such eager might.

As we said—if you can afford any new car, you can afford a Buick—even with the spectacular performance of Variable Pitch Dynaflow† at modest extra cost.

So why settle for anything less than a Buick? Drop in on us, take the wheel, press that pedal, and see for yourself what a whale of an automobile—and a whale of a buy—today's Buick really is.

†Dynaflow Drive is standard on Roadmaster, optional at extra cost on other Series

DID YOU KNOW—
- —that the Buick SPECIAL is priced below any other car of 188 horsepower and 122-inch wheelbase?
- —that the Buick SPECIAL is priced below some models of the three well-known smaller cars?
- —that the Buick SPECIAL gives you more pounds of automobile than any other car at its low price?

CHAPTER XXVIII

By nightfall of Sept. 7, 200 men were in the field against the gang, with more swarming out by the hour. And the complexion of the pursuers was altering swiftly from the disorganized crowd of embattled townfolk and shotgun-armed farmers which had taken up the chose in the immediate hours of the robbery.

The police chiefs of Minneapolis and St. Paul, accompanied by squads of their cities' detectives, were en route to the scene by train. Every county sheriff in southeastern Minnesota was out, backed by his regular deputies and scores of sworn-in civilians. From St. Paul, Omaha and Chicago the Pinkerton operatives poured in. Robert Pinkerton took personal command with brother William co ordinating the campaign from the Chicago headquarters.

The gang had been positively identified within an hour of the robbery, as soon as the telegraph key clicked southward to Mankato. The Mankato sheriff woke up with a belated start, realized what he had slept through, wired the St. Paul police the illuminating details of his dereliction of duty.

With the end of the second day, Sept. 8, there were no less than 500 armed peace officers and enlisted civilians combing the back roads and timbered crosslands for the fleeing bandits. And by the end of that day, pickets were posted at all bridges, back trails and cowpaths in a sprawling semicircle roughly 20 miles south of North field, and stretching 50 miles east and west.

Since the last report from outside Miller sburg, the gang had vanished without a trace.

Then, suddenly, at noon of the 8th, came a report from a picket post on the Little Cannon River, outside Waterville. Earlier that morning, the bandits had approached the ford. The pickets had fired, the bandits fled back into the woods. Apparently, they were badly frightened. The pickets charged into the timber after them —which was clearly what they had been meant to do. The gang doubled easily back around them and crossed the abandoned ford unmolsted.

The Northfield area was cleared out and a new line set up, 50 miles to the south and nearly 100 miles long from point to point.

Late Friday afternoon, the fugitives had invaded a farmhouse north of German Lake, had taken fresh horses at pistol point, pounded on their way. Instantly, a score of poses closed on the area.

The outlaw camp was in a tangled, brackish lowland, six miles east of German Lake. It was a far and lonely cry from what his followers had come to expect of Jesse's charmed leadership.

No cherry campfire, here.

The horseplankets hung from the gaunt bushes, leaking more rain than they shed. Beneath them, cold, sick, wet to the shaking bone, crouched the six survivors. Bob was out of his head with the fever and pain of his shattered arm. Cole hunched over him, muttering and growling like the wounded grizzly he was fighting off the torture of his own wounds as he mothered his raving brother. Beyond them, close enough to touch in the darkness, huddled Frank, Jim and Charlie Pitts. Beneath another bus, 10 feet away, alone and invisible through the sheeting rain, Jesse stared out into the blackness.

Presently, he arose, felt his way, tree trunk by tree trunk, to the tethered horses.

"The crazy idjut's cutting the horses loose."

"Shut your mouth." Jesse's form looked through the downpour, shouldered in under the horseblankets.

Jess, what you think you're doing?" It was Pitts again, still incredulous.

"I said, shut up. We're getting out of here:"

"But the horses!" Now it was Jim Younger, towering over him, eyes blazing.

"Set down," Cole said. "Leave him get on with it.' And then, softly: "Dingus always has a plan.

When he talked at last, it was the old Jesse: Quick, fast-worded, absolutely sure of himself and his plan.

"They figure theyve got us treed,' 'he began. "That we cain't run no more. Well, they figure right. We caint run no more. But we can walk!!!'

He paused, dramatically, then swept on.

"You remember what they used to call 'Old Jack's' boys during the war' The reference was to Stonewall Jackson and his famed Shenandoah Valley infantry brigade. His listeners understood it, nodded dully.

"Foot cavalry!!' rapped Jesse. "He'd take them boys sometimes 30 miles in a night, and they'd go where horse troops couldnt begin to.'

"Well, we got bluebellies after us, here. They got nothing but horsemen on their side and they ain't looking for nothing but horsemen on ours. We'll just walk out on them, that's all.

As he had gone along, Coles gray eyes had narrowed. When he had finished, he had a single question, one he had asked before.

"How about Bob?" he said. "We cain't walk to keep up with the rest of us.

Jesse turned on him, his plan having already foreseen that query. "I left three of the horses tied. I figured you to take Jim and Bob and pull out on me. Help ourselves.'

"You figured wrong," said Cole. "Were sticking with you, Ding. You walk, we walk.'

has sold, he says he doesn't know but is going to ask his publisher about those things.

Faulkner is an extremely deliberate craftsman. Among other things, he has delivered the plot lines for 12 movies. The latest is "Land of the Pharoahs," a Warner Brothers picture.

After winning the Nobel prize for literature, he was given the Publitzer award this year for his novel, "A Fable." This rather surprised him, since it was published a year before.

Faulkner, one of the most successful writers in America, has an outspoken antipathy for the bare bones of success.

"I was born to be a tramp. I was happiest when I had nothing. I had a trench coat then with big pockets. It would carry a pair of socks a condensed Shakespeare and a bottle of whisky. Then I was happy and I wanted nothing and I had no responsibility."

I asked him what makes people grow old. He said idleness, boredom. It kills them. They die because they don't have enough to do.

"Doing noghtin — sitting down and vegetating — is no good unless you can make it an actual occupation.

"There are people who can do without a job in this world and stay healthy, but they have to be used to it."

Asked what was his greater pleasure in life now, Faulkner replied:

"Thinking up an idea for a book before I realize this one really isn't going to be as good as I want it to be, either.

"This time you say I'll catch the answer to the whole riddle — why man is here—put it down in black and white so everyone can see it and understand. Before you can do this, you break the pencil and throw it away."

From the way he talks, you might get the idea his Mississippi farm is strewn with broken pencils —until you take a look at that book list.

Six Jailed in Copper Thefts

PINE BLUFF, (AP) Police have jailed six men and are seeking four others in connection with thefts at seven Arkansas towns of copper wire.

Main targets of the thefts was Arkansas Power & Light Co.

Prosecutor Pat Mullis said Vernon Strom, 23, of Woodson, was charged with grand larceny and released on bond for medical threatment. He said Wilburn Thompson, 19, of Hensley, was turned over to Bradley County authorities because of his alleged connection with thefts at Warren.

Mullis said he would file charges today against Charles Thompson, 21, of Hensley, George Davis, 32, of Woodson; Will Gus Strom, 24, of Hensley, and Thomas Jones, 17, of Hensley.

Hensley and Woodson are communities near the Jefferson-Pulaski county line.

Other firms reporting losses of wire were the Rural Electrification Administration office at Jacksonville, Texas Eastern Transmission Corp., and the Arkansas State Electric Cooperative, Inc., both of North Little Rock.

*2-door, 6-passenger Buick SPECIAL Sedan, Model 48, illustrated. Optional equipment, accessories, state and local taxes, if any, additional. Prices may vary slightly in adjoining communities. Even the factory-installed extras you may want are bargains, such as: Heater & Defroster—$81.70; Radio & Antenna—$92.50.
You certainly can throw out your chest and call this strapping big Buick yours.
Because—as any comparison shows—the dollar difference between this brawny beauty and the well-known smaller cars is now virtually erased.
So if you've been holding back, thinking a Buick was out of reach—let yourself go. You can afford a Buick if you can afford any new car—and the price we show here proves it.
Buick Sales Are Soaring To New Best-Seller Highs
That's a major reason for the phenomenal success of Buick today. So much so, that production and sales are hitting new peaks to move Buick more firmly into the tight circle of America's best sellers.
And a companion reason for this soaring popularity is Buick's full line of cars to give you a choice in any price class—the bedrock-priced SPECIAL, the high-powered CENTURY, the extra-roomy SUPER, and the custom-built ROADMASTER.
But pure and simple, it's all the automobile you get for your money that's winning so many new owners to Buick.
It's the extra pride you feel, the extra room you enjoy, the extra comfort you get, the extra safety you sense—from Buick styling, Buick size, Buick ride-engineering, Buick solidity of structure.
It's the extra lift and snap and ginger you get from Buick high-compression V8 power—and the fun and thrill of bossing such eager might.
As we said—if you can afford any new car, you can afford a Buick—even with the spectacular performance of Variable Pitch Dynaflow† at modest extra cost.
So why settle for anything less than a Buick? Drop in on us, take the wheel, press that pedal, and see for yourself what a whale of an automobile—and a whale of a buy—today's Buick really is.
†Dynaflow Drive is standard on Roadmaster, optional at extra cost on other Series
DID YOU KNOW—
— that the Buick SPECIAL is priced below any other car of 188 horsepower and 122-inch wheelbase?
— that the Buick SPECIAL is priced below some models of the three well-known smaller cars?
— that the Buick SPECIAL gives you more pounds of automobile than any other car at its low price?
Thrill of the year is Buick

"I said, shut up. We're getting out of here."

"But the horses!" Now it was Jim Younger, towering over him, eyes blazing.

"Set down," Cole said. "Leave him get on with it.' And then, softly: "Dingus always has a plan.

When he talked at last, it was the old Jesse: Quick, fast-worded, absolutely sure of himself and his plan.

"They figure theyve got us treed,' he began. "That we cain't run no more. Well, they figure right. We caint run no more. But we can walk!!!'

He paused, dramatically, then swept on.

"You remember what they used to call 'Old Jack's' boys during the war' The reference was to Stonewall Jackson and his famed Shenandoah Valley infantry brigade. His listeners understood it, nodded dully.

"Foot cavalry!!' rapped Jesse. "He'd take them boys sometimes 30 miles in a night, and they'd go where horse troops couldnt begin to.'

"Well, we got bluebellies after us, here. They got nothing but horsemen on their side and they ain't looking for nothing but horsemen on ours. We'll just walk out on them, that's all.

As he had gone along, Coles gray eyes had narrowed. When he had finished, he had a single question, one he had asked before.

"How about Bob?" he said. "We cain't walk to keep up with the rest of us.

Jesse turned on him, his plan having already foreseen that query. "I left three of the horses tied. I figured you to take Jim and Bob and pull out on me. Help ourselves.'

"You figured wrong," said Cole. "Were sticking with you, Ding. You walk, we walk.'

has sold, he says he doesn't know but is going to ask his publisher about those things.

Faulkner is an extremely deliberate craftsman. Among other things, he has delivered the plot lines for 12 movies. The latest is "Land of the Pharoahs," a Warner Brothers picture.

After winning the Nobel prize for literature, he was given the Publitzer award this year for his novel, "A Fable." This rather surprised him, since it was published a year before.

Faulkner, one of the most successful writers in America, has an outspoken antipathy for the bare bones of success.

"I was born to be a tramp. I was happiest when I had nothing. I had a trench coat then with big pockets. It would carry a pair of socks a condensed Shakespeare and a bottle of whisky. Then I was happy and I wanted nothing and I had no responsibility."

I asked him what makes people grow old. He said idleness, boredom. It kills them. They die because they don't have enough to do.

"Doing noghtin — sitting down and vegetating — is no good unless you can make it an actual occupation.

"There are people who can do without a job in this world and stay healthy, but they have to be used to it."

Asked what was his greater pleasure in life now, Faulkner replied:

"Thinking up an idea for a book before I realize this one really isn't going to be as good as I want it to be, either.

"This time you say I'll catch the answer to the whole riddle — why man is here—put it down in black and white so everyone can see it and understand. Before you can do this, you break the pencil and throw it away."

From the way he talks, you might get the idea his Mississippi farm is strewn with broken pencils —until you take a look at that book list.

Six Jailed in Copper Thefts

PINE BLUFF, (AP) Police have jailed six men and are seeking four others in connection with thefts at seven Arkansas towns of copper wire.

Main targets of the thefts was Arkansas Power & Light Co.

Prosecutor Pat Mullis said Vernon Strom, 23, of Woodson, was charged with grand larceny and released on bond for medical threatment. He said Wilburn Thompson, 19, of Hensley, was turned over to Bradley County authorities because of his alleged connection with thefts at Warren.

Mullis said he would file charges today against Charles Thompson, 21, of Hensley, George Davis, 32, of Woodson; Will Gus Strom, 24, of Hensley, and Thomas Jones, 17, of Hensley.

Hensley and Woodson are communities near the Jefferson-Pulaski county line.

Other firms reporting losses of wire were the Rural Electrification Administration office at Jacksonville, Texas Eastern Transmission Corp., and the Arkansas State Electric Cooperative, Inc., both of North Little Rock.

* 2-door, 6-passenger Buick SPECIAL Sedan, Model 48, illustrated. Optional equipment, accessories, state and local taxes, if any, additional. Prices may vary slightly in adjoining communities. Even the factory-installed extras you may want are bargains, such as: Heater & Defroster—$81.70; Radio & Antenna—$92.50.

YOU certainly can throw out your chest and call this strapping big Buick yours.

Because—as any comparison shows—the dollar difference between this brawny beauty and the well-known smaller cars is now virtually erased.

So if you've been holding back, thinking a Buick was out of reach—let yourself go. You can afford a Buick if you can afford any new car—and the price we show here proves it.

Buick Sales Are Soaring To New Best-Seller Highs

That's a major reason for the phenomenal success of Buick today. So much so, that production and sales are hitting new peaks to move Buick more firmly into the tight circle of America's best sellers.

And a companion reason for this soaring popularity is Buick's full line of cars to give you a choice in any price class—the bedrock-priced SPECIAL, the high-powered CENTURY, the extra-roomy SUPER, and the custom-built ROADMASTER.

But pure and simple, it's all the automobile you get for your money that's winning so many new owners to Buick.

It's the extra pride you feel, the extra room you enjoy, the extra comfort you get, the extra safety you sense—from Buick styling, Buick size, Buick ride-engineering, Buick solidity of structure.

It's the extra lift and snap and ginger you get from Buick high-compression V8 power—and the fun and thrill of bossing such eager might.

As we said—if you can afford any new car, you can afford a Buick—even with the spectacular performance of Variable Pitch Dynaflow† at modest extra cost.

So why settle for anything less than a Buick? Drop in on us, take the wheel, press that pedal, and see for yourself what a whale of an automobile —and a whale of a buy—today's Buick really is.

†Dynaflow Drive is standard on Roadmaster, optional at extra cost on other Series

DID YOU KNOW—

— that the Buick SPECIAL is priced below any other car of 188 horsepower and 122-inch wheelbase?

— that the Buick SPECIAL is priced below some models of the three well-known smaller cars?

— that the Buick SPECIAL gives you more pounds of automobile than any other car at its low price?

CHAPTER XXVIII

By nightfall of Sept. 7, 200 men were in the field against the gang, with more swarming out by the hour. And the complexion of the pursuers was altering swiftly from the disorganized crowd of embattled townfolk and shotgun-armed farmers which had taken up the chose in the immediate hours of the robbery.

The police chiefs of Minneapolis and St. Paul, accompanied by squads of their cities' detectives, were en route to the scene by train. Every county sheriff in southeastern Minnesota was out, backed by his regular deputies and scores of sworn-in civilians. From St. Paul, Omaha and Chicago the Pinkerton operatives poured in. Robert Pinkerton took personal command with brother William co ordinating the campaign from the Chicago headquarters.

The gang had been positively identified within an hour of the robbery, as soon as the telegraph key clicked southward to Mankato. The Mankato sheriff woke up with a belated start, realized what he had slept through, wired the St. Paul police the illuminating details of his dereliction of duty.

With the end of the second day, Sept. 8, there were no less than 500 armed peace officers and enlisted civilians combing the back roads and timbered crosslands for the fleeing bandits. And by the end of that day, pickets were posted at all bridges, back trails and cowpaths in a sprawling semicircle roughly 20 miles south of North field, and stretching 50 miles east and west.

Since the last report from outside Millersburg, the gang had vanished without a trace.

Then, suddenly, at noon of the 8th, came a report from a picket post on the Little Cannon River, outside Waterville. Earlier that morning, the bandits had approached the ford. The pickets had fired, the bandits fled back into the woods. Apparently, they were badly frightened. The pickets charged into the timber after them —which was clearly what they had been meant to do. The gang doubled easily back around them and crossed the abandoned ford unmolsted.

The Northfield area was cleared out and a new line set up, 50 miles to the south and nearly 100 miles long from point to point.

Late Friday afternoon, the fugitives had invaded a farmhouse north of German Lake, had taken fresh horses at pistol point, pounded on their way. Instantly, a score of poses closed on the area.

The outlaw camp was in a tangled, brackish lowland, six miles east of German Lake. It was a far and lonely cry from what his followers had come to expect of Jesse's charmed leadership.

No cherry campfire, here.

The horseblankets hung from the gaunt bushes, leaking more rain than they shed. Beneath them, cold, sick, wet to the shaking bone, crouched the six survivors. Bob was out of his head with the fever and pain of his shattered arm. Cole hunched over him, muttering and growling like the wounded grizzly he was fighting off the torture of his own wounds as he mothered his raving brother. Beyond them, close enough to touch in the darkness, huddled Frank, Jim and Charlie Pitts. Beneath another bus, 10 feet away, alone and invisible through the sheeting rain, Jesse stared out into the blackness.

Presently, he arose, felt his way, tree trunk by tree trunk, to the tethered horses.

"The crazy idjut's cutting the horses loose."

"Shut your mouth." Jesse's form looked through the downpour, shouldered in under the horseblankets.

Jess, what you think you're doing?" It was Pitts again, still incredulous.

"I said, shut up. We're getting out of here."

"But the horses!" Now it was Jim Younger, towering over him, eyes blazing.

"Set down," Cole said. "Leave him get on with it.' And then, softly: "Dingus always has a plan.

When he talked at last, it was the old Jesse: Quick, fast-worded, absolutely sure of himself and his plan.

"They figure theyve got us treed,' 'he began. "That we cain't run no more. Well, they figure right. We caint run no more. But we can walk!!!'

He paused, dramatically, then swept on.

"You remember what they used to call 'Old Jack's' boys during the war' The reference was to Stonewall Jackson and his famed Shenandoah Valley infantry brigade. His listeners understood it, nodded dully.

"Foot cavalry!!' rapped Jesse. "He'd take them boys sometimes 30 miles in a night, and they'd go where horse troops couldnt begin to.'

"Well, we got bluebellies after us, here. They got nothing but horsemen on their side and they ain't looking for nothing but horsemen on ours. We'll just walk out on them, that's all.

As he had gone along, Coles gray eyes had narrowed. When he had finished, he had a single question, one he had asked before.

"How about Bob?" he said. "We cain't walk to keep up with the rest of us.

Jesse turned on him, his plan having already foreseen that query. "I left three of the horses tied. I figured you to take Jim and Bob and pull out on me. Help ourselves.'

"You figured wrong," said Cole. "Were sticking with you, Ding. You walk, we walk.'

has sold, he says he doesn't know but is going to ask his publisher about those things.

Faulkner is an extremely deliberate craftsman. Among other things, he has delivered the plot lines for 12 movies. The latest is "Land of the Pharoahs," a Warner Brothers picture.

After winning the Nobel prize for literature, he was given the Publitzer award this year for his novel, "A Fable." This rather surprised him, since it was published a year before.

Faulkner, one of the most successful writers in America, has an outspoken antipathy for the bare bones of success.

"I was born to be a tramp. I was happiest when I had nothing. I had a trench coat then with big pockets. It would carry a pair of socks a condensed Shakespeare and a bottle of whisky. Then I was happy and I wanted nothing and I had no responsibility."

I asked him what makes people grow old. He said idleness, boredom. It kills them. They die because they don't have enough to do.

"Doing noghtin — sitting down and vegetating — is no good unless you can make it an actual occupation.

"There are people who can do without a job in this world and stay healthy, but they have to be used to it."

Asked what was his greater pleasure in life now, Faulkner replied:

"Thinking up an idea for a book before I realize this one really isn't going to be as good as I want it to be, either.

"This time you say I'll catch the answer to the whole riddle — why man is here—put it down in black and white so everyone can see it and understand. Before you can do this, you break the pencil and throw it away."

From the way he talks, you might get the idea his Mississippi farm is strewn with broken pencils —until you take a look at that book list.

Six Jailed in Copper Thefts

PINE BLUFF, (AP) Police have jailed six men and are seeking four others in connection with thefts at seven Arkansas towns of copper wire.

Main targets of the thefts was Arkansas Power & Light Co.

Prosecutor Pat Mullis said Vernon Strom, 23, of Woodson, was charged with grand larceny and released on bond for medical threatment. He said Wilburn Thompson, 19, of Hensley, was turned over to Bradley County authorities because of his alleged connection with thefts at Warren.

Mullis said he would file charges today against Charles Thompson, 21, of Hensley, George Davis, 32, of Woodson; Will Gus Strom, 24, of Hensley, and Thomas Jones, 17, of Hensley.

Hensley and Woodson are communities near the Jefferson-Pulaski county line.

Other firms reporting losses of wire were the Rural Electrification Administration office at Jacksonville, Texas Eastern Transmission Corp., and the Arkansas State Electric Cooperative, Inc., both of North Little Rock.

for only $2515.00 * delivered locally!

* 2-door, 6-passenger Buick SPECIAL Sedan, Model 48, illustrated. Optional equipment, accessories, state and local taxes, if any, additional. Prices may vary slightly in adjoining communities. Even the factory-installed extras you may want are bargains, such as: Heater & Defroster—$81.70; Radio & Antenna—$92.50.

You certainly can throw out your chest and call this strapping big Buick yours.

Because—as any comparison shows—the dollar difference between this brawny beauty and the well-known smaller cars is now virtually erased.

So if you've been holding back, thinking a Buick was out of reach—let yourself go. You can afford a Buick if you can afford any new car—and the price we show here proves it.

Buick Sales Are Soaring To New Best-Seller Highs

That's a major reason for the phenomenal success of Buick today. So much so, that production and sales are hitting new peaks to move Buick more firmly into the tight circle of America's best sellers.

And a companion reason for this soaring popularity is Buick's full line of cars to give you a choice in any price class—the bedrock-priced SPECIAL, the high-powered CENTURY, the extra-roomy SUPER, and the custom-built ROADMASTER.

But pure and simple, it's all the automobile you get for your money that's winning so many new owners to Buick.

It's the extra pride you feel, the extra room you enjoy, the extra comfort you get, the extra safety you sense—from Buick styling, Buick size, Buick ride-engineering, Buick solidity of structure.

It's the extra lift and snap and ginger you get from Buick high-compression V8 power—and the fun and thrill of bossing such eager might.

As we said—if you can afford any new car, you can afford a Buick—even with the spectacular performance of Variable Pitch Dynaflow† at modest extra cost.

So why settle for anything less than a Buick? Drop in on us, take the wheel, press that pedal, and see for yourself what a whale of an automobile —and a whale of a buy—today's Buick really is.

†Dynaflow Drive is standard on Roadmaster, optional at extra cost on other Series

DID YOU KNOW—

CHAPTER XXVIII

By nightfall of Sept. 7, 200 men were in the field against the gang, with more swarming out by the hour. And the complexion of the pursuers was altering swiftly from the disorganized crowd of embattled townfolk and shotgun-armed farmers which had taken up the chose in the immediate hours of the robbery.

The police chiefs of Minneapolis and St. Paul, accompanied by squads of their cities' detectives, were en route to the scene by train. Every county sheriff in southeastern Minnesota was out, backed by his regular deputies and scores of sworn-in civilians. From St. Paul, Omaha and Chicago the Pinkerton operatives poured in. Robert Pinkerton took personal command with brother William co ordinating the campaign from the Chicago headquarters.

The gang had been positively identified within an hour of the robbery, as soon as the telegraph key clicked southward to Mankato. The Mankato sheriff woke up with a belated start, realized what he had slept through, wired the St. Paul police the illuminating details of his dereliction of duty.

With the end of the second day, Sept. 8, there were no less than 500 armed peace officers and enlisted civilians combing the back roads and timbered crosslands for the fleeing bandits. And by the end of that day, pickets were posted at all bridges, back trails and cowpaths in a sprawling semicircle roughly 20 miles south of North field, and stretching 50 miles east and west.

Since the last report from outside Millersburg, the gang had vanished without a trace.

Then, suddenly, at noon of the 8th, came a report from a picket post on the Little Cannon River, outside Waterville. Earlier that morning, the bandits had approached the ford. The pickets had fired, the bandits fled back into the woods. Apparently, they were badly frightened. The pickets charged into the timber after them —which was clearly what they had been meant to do. The gang doubled easily back around them and crossed the abandoned ford unmolsted.

The Northfield area was cleared out and a new line set up, 50 miles to the south and nearly 100 miles long from point to point.

Late Friday afternoon, the fugitives had invaded a farmhouse north of German Lake, had taken fresh horses at pistol point, pounded on their way. Instantly, a score of poses closed on the area.

The outlaw camp was in a tangled, brackish lowland, six miles east of German Lake. It was a far and lonely cry from what his followers had come to expect of Jesse's charmed leadership.

No cherry campfire, here.

The horseblankets hung from the gaunt bushes, leaking more rain than they shed. Beneath them, cold, sick, wet to the shaking bone, crouched the six survivors. Bob was out of his head with the fever and pain of his shattered arm. Cole hunched over him, muttering and growling like the wounded grizzly he was fighting off the torture of his own wounds as he mothered his raving brother. Beyond them, close enough to touch in the darkness, huddled Frank, Jim and Charlie Pitts. Beneath another bus, 10 feet away, alone and invisible through the sheeting rain, Jesse stared out into the blackness.

Presently, he arose, felt his way, tree trunk by tree trunk, to the tethered horses.

"The crazy idjut's cutting the horses loose."

"Shut your mouth." Jesse's form looked through the downpour, shouldered in under the horseblankets.

Jess, what you think you're doing?" It was Pitts again, still incredulous.

"I said, shut up. We're getting out of here."

"But the horses!" Now it was Jim Younger, towering over him, eyes blazing.

"Set down," Cole said. "Leave him get on with it.' And then, softly: "Dingus always has a plan.

When he talked at last, it was the old Jesse: Quick, fast-worded, absolutely sure of himself and his plan.

"They figure theyve got us treed,' 'he began. "That we cain't run no more. Well, they figure right. We caint run no more. But we can walk!!!'

He paused, dramatically, then swept on.

"You remember what they used to call 'Old Jack's' boys during the war' The reference was to Stonewall Jackson and his famed Shenandoah Valley infantry brigade. His listeners understood it, nodded dully.

"Foot cavalry!!' rapped Jesse. "He'd take them boys sometimes 30 miles in a night, and they'd go where horse troops couldnt begin to.'

"Well, we got bluebellies after us, here. They got nothing but horsemen on their side and they ain't looking for nothing but horsemen on ours. We'll just walk out on them, that's all.

As he had gone along, Coles gray eyes had narrowed. When he had finished, he had a single question, one he had asked before.

"How about Bob?" he said. "We cain't walk to keep up with the rest of us.

Jesse turned on him, his plan having already foreseen that query. "I left three of the horses tied. I figured you to take Jim and Bob and pull out on me. Help ourselves.'

"You figured wrong," said Cole. "Were sticking with you, Ding. You walk, we walk.'

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP)—Delaware Park, a daring young horse track outside Wilmington, Del., is preparing to bus loose this summer with the greatest series of stake races for lady, or distaff, horses in the history of the turf.

In the space of three Saturday, June 18 to July 2, fillies and mares will shoot at a grand total of approximately a quarter-million dollars at the beautiful plant known as "Little Belmont." The crowning piece of the trio, the Delaware Handicap on July 2, is expected to gross around $150,000, with the winner taking over $100,000 home to her kiddies.

As nothing approaching this windfall has happened to the daintier sex before, we asked Bryan Field, Delaware's general manger, how he happened to think up such a distinctive gimmick to popularize his plant. The answer was simple—he didn't. A lady did.

"All the credit," Fields said with becoming modesty, "goes to my assistant Helen Stairwalt, who has been with me ever since we reopened the track in 1944 and has helped me do just about everything except clean the stables. Mrs. Stairwalt even fixed on the 'Distaff Big Three' as the name for our jackpot series."

His assistant set herself to thinking, Field said, when it became apparent that their track badly needed an outstanding fixture of some sort upon which national interest could be focused.

"We are in the biggest competitive position of any track in the country—not in any wheel or circuit—and we had to have something with which we could go to the top," Field explained. "There was no sense in aping the Derby or Preakness idea. Other things in racing had been grabbed by one track or another. Therefore, Mrs. Stairwalt decided, we had to fix on something that had been neglected, fillies and mares."

Rifle Club Title Is Won by Hartsfield

Last night at Fair Park, Edward Hartsfield nipped David Hendrix by a hair to take the Club Champion Rifle Match to be held annually by the Junior Rifle Club.

In firing for the Championship cup, only those members who have reached the rank of Sharpshooter or above are eligible to compete. Each shooter fires at a possible 200 score, firing for a possible 50 in each of the four positions, prone, kneeling, sitting and standing. Hartsfield and Hendrix both finished with a final total of 138.

In case of a tie the shorter with the most "10's" or dead center bull's is declared the winner. Hartsfield topped Hendrix by 1 bull, thus winning the match.

Prizes were also given for 2nd, 3rd, 4th and 5th place with the 5th place winner being only 5 points below the 1st place winner.

The Junior Club, this week, received 4 rifles from the U. S. Gov't. as a result of continued compliance with National Rifle Association rules and regulations. Along with the rifles donated to the Club by the Kiwanis, Rotary and Lions Clubs, the Club now has 7 match target rifles. Next Tuesday and Wednesday nights, members will fire to qualify for awards issued by the Director of Civilian Marksmanship.

Ford's Practice 63 Tops at Spa Meet

By ARDEN COOPER

HOT SPRINGS, (AP)—More than 100 golfers had Doug Ford's practice 63 as a target today as the first round of the $15,000 Arlington Hotel Open golf tournament got underway at Hot Springs Country Club.

Ford, well-known pro from Kiamesha Lake, N. Y. finished his fine round yesterday just before a heavy rain halted practice. There was threat of more rain for today's first round play.

Ford's marvelous round, (plus other sub-par practice performances), brought forecasts of low scores. Par on the 6,971 yard course is 72.

Phillies Again Lose, Mayo in Trouble

By ED WILKS
Of The Associated Press

The Philadelphia Phillies didn't think much of Terry Moore as a manager, but the old Gas House Gang guy really belted one on the button when he wished his successor Mayo Smith "a lot of luck because he has a tough job ahead."

That was last October, after the Phils had wound up fifth, 22 games behind the pennant-winning New York Giants and owner Bob Carpenter decided Moore hadn't shown enough "experience" in his three months as manager.

So they called upon Mayo, six years a minor league manager, to take over.

Now Mayo and the Phillies are in the cellar, 14 games back of pace-setting Brooklyn and snarled in an 11-game losing streak. The St. Louis Cardinals extended Mayo's troubles last night, beating the Phillies 6-5.

Brooklyn also "slumped" yesterday, or what amounts to a slump for the Dodgers. They lost one. The Chicago Cubs did it, beating Russ Meyer's hex and snapping the Brooks' 11-game third defeat.

Elsewhere in the Nationa, Milwaukee finally beat Pittsburgh 8-3 and New York defeated Cincinnati 6-3.

In the American League, Cleveland swept its two-game series in New York, beating the Yankees 4-3 despite Bob Turley's three-hitter and 11 strikeouts. Boston edged Chicago 4-3, ending a five-game losing string. Ned Garver held Washington to three hits for a 7-0 Detroit victory, and Kansas City beat Baltimore 2-.

The Cards tagged Robin Roberts for 11 hits in seven frames last night. Ron Mrozinski was the loser in relief as Harry Elliott, Stan Musial and Rip Repuski doubled for two runs in the eighth after the Phils had taken a 5-3 lead. Herb Moford was the winner, in relief of Larry Jackson and Bobby Tiefenauer.

At Chicago, the Cubs beat Meyer for the first time since July 16, 1950. Ernie Banks' first major league grand-slammer, finished Meyer. Dee Fondy homered for three runs off Clem Labine in the third and Billy Loes, fifth Brook pitcher, gave up a pinch single to Walker Cooper in the seventh that provided the winning marker.

Jim Davis was the winner in relief as Brooklyn outhit the cubs 14 to 9, but slammed into five double plays.

Cleveland knocked Turley off his five-game winning streak by making the most of nine walks. Turley, who now has 57 strikeouts in 54 innings, also hit a batter and wild-pitched the first Tribe run home. Mickey Mantle and Andy Carey hit home runs off Early Wynn, but the Cleveland right-hander was tough when he had to be, giving but five hits for his third success without defeat.

Boston beat the White Sox on Billy Klaus' first major league homer, a two-run rob in the seventh, plus some brilliant relief work by Ellis Kinder that saved Fran Sullivan's third victory. Virgil Trucks was the loser.

Washington had only one hit off Garver until the seventh with the Detroit right-hander going to work with the bat as well to drive in a pair of runs. Al Kaline homered for the Tigers. Dean Stone was the loser.

Little Bobby Shantz two-hit the Orioles for Kansas City, taking over for Alex Kellner, who pulled out with a kink in his back in the fourth. Single syb Gus Zernal and in Finigan scored the two runs of floser Lou Kretlow.

Whitey Lockman's three-run homer and Monte Irvin's two-run clout were all Jim Hearn neded to post his fifth victory for the Giants at Cincinnati.

A three-run homer by Eddie Mathews and Joe Adcock's two-run double powered the Braves to their first success against Pittsburgh this season after four defeats. Chet Nichols remained Milwaukee's only unbeaten starter, claiming his third decision with an eight-hitter.

Visiting Around Arkansas
BY JOE MARSH
ST. FRANCIS COUNTY
In the Crowley Ridge Country
St. Francis County is striving for a balanced economy by seeking more industry.
Cotton thrives in the rich alluvial soil, while noted Crowley's Ridge is well suited for fruit and cattle raising.
Recently the County obtained a garment factory, natural gas service and the largest steam generating plant in Arkansas.
The county seat, Forrest City, was named for General Forrest of Civil War fame. St. Francis became a county in 1827, and is proud of its heritage.
The brewing industry, too, is proud of its heritage in American progress and industry. Besides being a major purchaser of farm products, it provides enterprise for many small, independent businessmen who strive to serve their products in clean, wholesome surroundings under their industry's self-regulation program.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP)—Delaware Park, a daring young horse track outside Wilmington, Del., is preparing to bus loose this summer with the greatest series of stake races for lady, or distaff, horses in the history of the turf.

In the space of three Saturday, June 18 to July 2, fillies and mares will shoot at a grand total of approximately a quarter-million dollars at the beautiful plant known as "Little Belmont." The crowning piece of the trio, the Delaware Handicap on July 2, is expected to gross around $150,000, with the winner taking over $100,000 home to her kiddies.

As nothing approaching this windfall has happened to the daintier sex before, we asked Bryan Field, Delaware's general manger, how he happened to think up such a distinctive gimmick to popularize his plant. The answer was simple—he didn't. A lady did.

"All the credit," Fields said with becoming modesty, "goes to my assistant Helen Stairwalt, who has been with me ever since we reopened the track in 1944 and has helped me do just about everything except clean the stables. Mrs. Stairwalt even fixed on the 'Distaff Big Three' as the name for our jackpot series."

His assistant set herself to thinking, Field said, when it became apparent that their track badly needed an outstanding fixture of some sort upon which national interest could be focused.

"We are in the biggest competitive position of any track in the country—not in any wheel or circuit—and we had to have something with which we could go to the top," Field explained. "There was no sense in aping the Derby or Preakness idea. Other things in racing had been grabbed by one track or another. Therefore, Mrs. Stairwalt decided, we had to fix on something that had been neglected, fillies and mares."

Rifle Club Title Is Won by Hartsfield

Last night at Fair Park, Edward Hartsfield nipped David Hendrix by a hair to take the Club Champion Rifle Match to be held annually by the Junior Rifle Club.

In firing for the Championship cup, only those members who have reached the rank of Sharpshooter or above are eligible to compete. Each shooter fires at a possible 200 score, firing for a possible 50 in each of the four positions, prone, kneeling, sitting and standing. Hartsfield and Hendrix both finished with a final total of 138.

In case of a tie the shorter with the most "10's" or dead center bull's is declared the winner. Hartsfield topped Hendrix by 1 bull, thus winning the match.

Prizes were also given for 2nd, 3rd, 4th and 5th place with the 5th place winner being only 5 points below the 1st place winner.

The Junior Club, this week, received 4 rifles from the U. S. Gov't. as a result of continued compliance with National Rifle Association rules and regulations. Along with the rifles donated to the Club by the Kiwanis, Rotary and Lions Clubs, the Club now has 7 match target rifles. Next Tuesday and Wednesday nights, members will fire to qualify for awards issued by the Director of Civilian Marksmanship.

Phillies Again Lose, Mayo in Trouble

By ED WILKS
Of The Associated Press

The Philadelphia Phillies didn't think much of Terry Moore as a manager, but the old Gas House Gang guy really belted one on the button when he wished his successor Mayo Smith "a lot of luck because he has a tough job ahead."

That was last October, after the Phils had wound up fifth, 22 games behind the pennant-winning New York Giants and owner Bob Carpenter decided Moore hadn't shown enough "experience" in his three months as manager.

So they called upon Mayo, six years a minor league manager, to take over.

Now Mayo and the Phillies are in the cellar, 14 games back of pace-setting Brooklyn and snarled in an 11-game losing streak. The St. Louis Cardinals extended Mayo's troubles last night, beating the Phillies 6-5.

Brooklyn also "slumped" yesterday, or what amounts to a slump for the Dodgers. They lost one. The Chicago Cubs did it, beating Russ Meyer's hex and snapping the Brooks' 11-game third defeat.

Elsewhere in the Nationa, Milwaukee finally beat Pittsburgh 8-3 and New York defeated Cincinnati 6-3.

In the American League, Cleveland swept its two-game series in New York, beating the Yankees 4-3 despite Bob Turley's three-hitter and 11 strikeouts. Boston edged Chicago 4-3, ending a five-game losing string. Ned Garver held Washington to three hits for a 7-0 Detroit victory, and Kansas City beat Baltimore 2-.

The Cards tagged Robin Roberts for 11 hits in seven frames last night. Ron Mrozinski was the loser in relief as Harry Elliott, Stan Musial and Rip Repuslki doubled for two runs in the eighth after the Phils had taken a 5-3 lead. Herb Moford was the winner, in relief of Larry Jackson and Bobby Tiefenauer.

At Chicago, the Cubs beat Meyer for the first time since July 16, 1950. Ernie Banks' first major league grand-slammer, finished Meyer. Dee Fondy homered for three runs off Clem Labine in the third and Billy Loes, fifth Brook pitcher, gave up a pinch single to Walker Cooper in the seventh that provided the winning marker.

Jim Davis was the winner in relief as Brooklyn outhit the cubs 14 to 9, but slammed into five double plays.

Cleveland knocked Turley off his five-game winning streak by making the most of nine walks. Turley, who now has 57 strikeouts in 54. innings, also hit a batter and wild-pitched the first Tribe run home. Mickey Mantle and Andy Carey hit home runs off Early Wynn, but the Cleveland right-hander was tough when he had to be, giving but five hits for his third success without defeat.

Boston beat the White Sox on Billy Klaus' first major league homer, a two-run rob in the seventh, plus some brilliant relief work by Ellis Kinder that saved Fran Sullivan's third victory. Virgil Trucks was the loser.

Washington had only one hit off Garver until the seventh with the Detroit right-hander going to work with the bat as well to drive in a pair of runs. Al Kaline homered for the Tigers. Dean Stone was the loser.

Little Bobby Shantz two-hit the Orioles for Kansas City, taking over for Alex Kellner, who pulled out with a kink in his back in the fourth. Single syb Gus Zernal and in Finigan scored the two runs of floser Lou Kretlow.

Whitey Lockman's three-run homer and Monte Irvin's two-run clout were all Jim Hearn neded to post his fifth victory for the Giants at Cincinnati.

A three-run homer by Eddie Mathews and Joe Adcock's two-run double powered the Braves to their first success against Pittsburgh this season after four defeats. Chet Nichols remained Milwaukee's only unbeaten starter, claiming his third decision with an eight-hitter.

Ford's Practice 63 Tops at Spa Meet

By ARDEN COOPER

HOT SPRINGS, (AP)—More than 100 golfers had Doug Ford's practice 63 as a target today as the first round of the $15,000 Arlington Hotel Open golf tournament got underway at Hot Springs Country Club.

Ford, well-known pro from Kiamesha Lake, N. Y. finished his fine round yesterday just before a heavy rain halted practice. There was threat of more rain for today's first round play.

Ford's marvelous round, (plus other sub-par practice performances), brought forecasts of low scores. Par on the 6,971 yard course is 72.

Visiting Around Arkansas
BY JOE MARSH
ST. FRANCIS COUNTY
In the Crowley Ridge Country
St. Francis County is striving for a balanced economy by seeking more industry.
Cotton thrives in the rich alluvial soil, while noted Crowley's Ridge is well suited for fruit and cattle raising.
The county seat, Forrest City, was named for General Forrest of Civil War fame. St. Francis became a county in 1827, and is proud of its heritage.
The brewing industry, too, is proud of its heritage in American progress and industry. Besides being a major purchaser of farm products, it provides enterprise for many small, independent businessmen who strive to serve their products in clean, wholesome surroundings under their industry's self-regulation program.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP)—Delaware Park, a daring young horse track outside Wilmington, Del., is preparing to bus loose this summer with the greatest series of stake races for lady, or distaff, horses in the history of the turf.

In the space of three Saturday, June 18 to July 2, fillies and mares will shoot at a grand total of approximately a quarter-million dollars at the beautiful plant known as "Little Belmont." The crowning piece of the trio, the Delaware Handicap on July 2, is expected to gross around $150,000, with the winner taking over $100,000 home to her kiddies.

As nothing approaching this windfall has happened to the daintier sex before, we asked Bryan Field, Delaware's general manager, how he happened to think up such a distinctive gimmick to popularize his plant. The answer was simple—he didn't. A lady did.

"All the credit," Fields said with becoming modesty, "goes to my assistant Helen Stairwalt, who has been with me ever since we reopened the track in 1944 and has helped me do just about everything except clean the stables. Mrs. Stairwalt even fixed on the 'Distaff Big Three' as the name for our jackpot series."

His assistant set herself to thinking, Field said, when it became apparent that their track badly needed an outstanding fixture of some sort upon which national interest could be focused.

"We are in the biggest competitive position of any track in the country—not in any wheel or circuit—and we had to have something with which we could go to the top," Field explained. "There was no sense in aping the Derby or Preakness idea. Other things in racing had been grabbed by one track or another. Therefore, Mrs. Stairwalt decided, we had to fix on something that had been neglected, fillies and mares."

Phillies Again Lose, Mayo in Trouble

By ED WILKS
Of The Associated Press

The Philadelphia Phillies didn't think much of Terry Moore as a manager, but the old Gas House Gang guy really belted one on the button when he wished his successor Mayo Smith "a lot of luck because he has a tough job ahead."

That was last October, after the Phils had wound up fifth, 22 games behind the pennant-winning New York Giants and owner Bob Carpenter decided Moore hadn't shown enough "experience" in his three months as manager.

So they called upon Mayo, six years a minor league manager, to take over.

Now Mayo and the Phillies are in the cellar, 14 games back of pace-setting Brooklyn and snarled in an 11-game losing streak. The St. Louis Cardinals extended Mayo's troubles last night, beating the Phillies 6-5.

Brooklyn also "slumped" yesterday, or what amounts to a slump for the Dodgers. They lost one. The Chicago Cubs did it, beating Russ Meyer's hex and snapping the Brooks' 11-game third defeat.

Elsewhere in the Nationa, Milwaukee finally beat Pittsburgh 8-3 and New York defeated Cincinnati 6-3.

In the American League, Cleveland swept its two-game series in New York, beating the Yankees 4-3 despite Bob Turley's three-hitter and 11 strikeouts. Boston edged Chicago 4-3, ending a five-game losing string. Ned Garver held Washington to three hits for a 7-0 Detroit victory, and Kansas City beat Baltimore 2-.

The Cards tagged Robin Roberts for 11 hits in seven frames last night. Ron Mrozinski was the loser in relief as Harry Elliott, Stan Musial and Rip Repuslki doubled for two runs in the eighth after the Phils had taken a 5-3 lead. Herb Moford was the winner, in relief of Larry Jackson and Bobby Tiefenauer.

At Chicago, the Cubs beat Meyer for the first time since July 16, 1950. Ernie Banks' first major league grand-slammer, finished Meyer. Dee Fondy homered for three runs off Clem Labine in the third and Billy Loes, fifth Brook pitcher, gave up a pinch single to Walker Cooper in the seventh that provided the winning marker.

Jim Davis was the winner in relief as Brooklyn outhit the cubs 14 to 9, but slammed into five double plays.

Cleveland knocked Turley off his five-game winning streak by making the most of nine walks. Turley, who now has 57 strikeouts in 54 innings, also hit a batter and wild-pitched the first Tribe run home. Mickey Mantle and Andy Carey hit home runs off Early Wynn, but the Cleveland right-hander was tough when he had to be, giving but five hits for his third success without defeat.

Boston beat the White Sox on Billy Klaus' first major league homer, a two-run rob in the seventh, plus some brilliant relief work by Ellis Kinder that saved Fran Sullivan's third victory. Virgil Trucks was the loser.

Washington had only one hit off Garver until the seventh with the Detroit right-hander going to work with the bat as well to drive in a pair of runs. Al Kaline homered for the Tigers. Dean Stone was the loser.

Little Bobby Shantz two-hit the Orioles for Kansas City, taking over for Alex Kellner, who pulled out with a kink in his back in the fourth. Single syb Gus Zernal and in Finigan scored the two runs of floser Lou Kretlow.

Whitey Lockman's three-run homer and Monte Irvin's two-run clout were all Jim Hearn neded to post his fifth victory for the Giants at Cincinnati.

A three-run homer by Eddie Mathews and Joe Adcock's two-run double powered the Braves to their first success against Pittsburgh this season after four defeats. Chet Nichols remained Milwaukee's only unbeaten starter, claiming his third decision with an eight-hitter.

Rifle Club Title Is Won by Hartsfield

Last night at Fair Park, Edward Hartsfield nipped David Hendrix by a hair to take the Club Champion Rifle Match to be held annually by the Junior Rifle Club.

In firing for the Championship cup, only those members who have reached the rank of Sharpshooter or above are eligible to compete. Each shooter fires at a possible 200 score, firing for a possible 50 in each of the four positions, prone, kneeling, sitting and standing. Hartsfield and Hendrix both finished with a final total of 138.

In case of a tie the shorter with the most "10's" or dead center bull's is declared the winner. Hartsfield topped Hendrix by 1 bull, thus winning the match.

Prizes were also given for 2nd, 3rd, 4th and 5th place with the 5th place winner being only 5 points below the 1st place winner.

The Junior Club, this week, received 4 rifles from the U. S. Gov't. as a result of continued compliance with National Rifle Association rules and regulations. Along with the rifles donated to the Club by the Kiwanis, Rotary and Lions Clubs, the Club now has 7 match target rifles. Next Tuesday and Wednesday nights, members will fire to qualify for awards issued by the Director of Civilian Marksmanship.

Ford's Practice 63 Tops at Spa Meet

By ARDEN COOPER

HOT SPRINGS, (AP)—More than 100 golfers had Doug Ford's practice 63 as a target today as the first round of the $15,000 Arlington Hotel Open golf tournament got underway at Hot Springs Country Club.

Ford, well-known pro from Kiamesha Lake, N. Y. finished his fine round yesterday just before a heavy rain halted practice. There was threat of more rain for today's first round play.

Ford's marvelous round, (plus other sub-par practice performances), brought forecasts of low scores. Par on the 6,971 yard course is 72.

Visiting Around Arkansas
BY JOE MARSH

In the Crowley Ridge Country

St. Francis County is striving for a balanced economy by seeking more industry.

Cotton thrives in the rich alluvial soil, while noted Crowley's Ridge is well suited for fruit and cattle raising.

The county seat, Forrest City, was named for General Forrest of Civil War fame. St. Francis became a county in 1827, and is proud of its heritage.

The brewing industry, too, is proud of its heritage in American progress and industry. Besides being a major purchaser of farm products, it provides enterprise for many small, independent businessmen who strive to serve their products in clean, wholesome surroundings under their industry's self-regulation program.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP)—Delaware Park, a daring young horse track outside Wilmington, Del., is preparing to bus loose this summer with the greatest series of stake races for lady, or distaff, horses in the history of the turf.

In the space of three Saturday, June 18 to July 2, fillies and mares will shoot at a grand total of approximately a quarter-million dollars at the beautiful plant known as "Little Belmont." The crowning piece of the trio, the Delaware Handicap on July 2, is expected to gross around $150,000, with the winner taking over $100.000 home to her kiddies.

As nothing approaching this windfall has happened to the daintier sex before, we asked Bryan Field, Delaware's general manger, how he happened to think up such a distinctive gimmick to popularize his plant. The answer was simple—he didn't. A lady did.

"All the credit," Fields said with becoming modesty, "goes to my assistant Helen Stairwalt, who has been with me ever since we reopened the track in 1944 and has helped me do just about everything except clean the stables. Mrs. Stairwalt even fixed on the 'Distaff Big Three' as the name for our jackpot series."

His assistant set herself to thinking, Field said, when it became apparent that their track badly needed an outstanding fixture of some sort upon which national interest could be focused.

"We are in the biggest competitive position of any track in the country—not in any wheel or circuit—and we had to have something with which we could go to the top," Field explained. "There was no sense in aping the Derby or Preakness idea. Other things in racing had been grabbed by one track or another. Therefore, Mrs. Stairwalt decided, we had to fix on something that had been neglected, fillies and mares."

Phillies Again Lose, Mayo in Trouble

By ED WILKS
Of The Associated Press

The Philadelphia Phillies didn't think much of Terry Moore as a manager, but the old Gas House Gang guy really belted one on the button when he wished his successor Mayo Smith "a lot of luck because he has a tough job ahead."

That was last October, after the Phils had wound up fifth, 22 games behind the pennant-winning New York Giants and owner Bob Carpenter decided Moore hadn't shown enough "experience" in his three months as manager.

So they called upon Mayo, six years a minor league manager, to take over.

Now Mayo and the Phillies are in the cellar, 14 games back of pace-setting Brooklyn and snarled in an 11-game losing streak. The St. Louis Cardinals extended Mayo's troubles last night, beating the Phillies 6-5.

Brooklyn also "slumped" yesterday, or what amounts to a slump for the Dodgers. They lost one. The Chicago Cubs did it, beating Russ Meyer's hex and snapping the Brooks' 11-game third defeat.

Elsewhere in the Nationa, Milwaukee finally beat Pittsburgh 8-3 and New York defeated Cincinnati 6-3.

In the American League, Cleveland swept its two-game series in New York, beating the Yankees 4-3 despite Bob Turley's three-hitter and 11 strikeouts. Boston edged Chicago 4-3, ending a five-game losing string. Ned Garver held Washington to three hits for a 7-0 Detroit victory, and Kansas City beat Baltimore 2-.

The Cards tagged Robin Roberts for 11 hits in seven frames last night. Ron Mrozinski was the loser in relief as Harry Elliott, Stan Musial and Rip Repuslki doubled for two runs in the eighth after the Phils had taken a 5-3 lead. Herb Moford was the winner, in relief of Larry Jackson and Bobby Tiefenauer.

At Chicago, the Cubs beat Meyer for the first time since July 16, 1950. Ernie Banks' first major league grand-slammer, finished Meyer. Dee Fondy homered for three runs off Clem Labine in the third and Billy Loes, fifth Brook pitcher, gave up a pinch single to Walker Cooper in the seventh that provided the winning marker.

Jim Davis was the winner in relief as Brooklyn outhit the cubs 14 to 9, but slammed into five double plays.

Cleveland knocked Turley off his five-game winning streak by making the most of nine walks. Turley, who now has 57 strikeouts in 54. innings, also hit a batter and wild-pitched the first Tribe run home. Mickey Mantle and Andy Carey hit home runs off Early Wynn, but the Cleveland right-hander was tough when he had to be, giving but five hits for his third success without defeat.

Boston beat the White Sox on Billy Klaus' first major league homer, a two-run rob in the seventh, plus some brilliant relief work by Ellis Kinder that saved Fran Sullivan's third victory. Virgil Trucks was the loser.

Washington had only one hit off Garver until the seventh with the Detroit right-hander going to work with the bat as well to drive in a pair of runs. Al Kaline homered for the Tigers. Dean Stone was the loser.

Little Bobby Shantz two-hit the Orioles for Kansas City, taking over for Alex Kellner, who pulled out with a kink in his back in the fourth. Single syb Gus Zernal and in Finigan scored the two runs of floser Lou Kretlow.

Whitey Lockman's three-run homer and Monte Irvin's two-run clout were all Jim Hearn neded to post his fifth victory for the Giants at Cincinnati.

A three-run homer by Eddie Mathews and Joe Adcock's two-run double powered the Braves to their first success against Pittsburgh this season after four defeats, Chet Nichols remained Milwaukee's only unbeaten starter, claiming his third decision with an eight-hitter.

Rifle Club Title Is Won by Hartsfield

Last night at Fair Park, Edward Hartsfield nipped David Hendrix by a hair to take the Club Champion Rifle Match to be held annually by the Junior Rifle Club.

In firing for the Championship cup, only those members who have reached the rank of Sharpshooter or above are eligible to compete. Each shooter fires at a possible 200 score, firing for a possible 50 in each of the four positions, prone, kneeling, sitting and standing. Hartsfield and Hendrix both finished with a final total of 138.

In case of a tie the shorter with the most "10's" or dead center bull's is declared the winner. Hartsfield topped Hendrix by 1 bull, thus winning the match.

Prizes were also given for 2nd, 3rd, 4th and 5th place with the 5th place winner being only 5 points below the 1st place winner.

The Junior Club, this week, received 4 rifles from the U. S. Gov't. as a result of continued compliance with National Rifle Association rules and regulations. Along with the rifles donated to the Club by the Kiwanis, Rotary and Lions Clubs, the Club now has 7 match target rifles. Next Tuesday and Wednesday nights, members will fire to qualify for awards issued by the Director of Civilian Marksmanship.

Ford's Practice 63 Tops at Spa Meet

By ARDEN COOPER

HOT SPRINGS, (AP)—More than 100 golfers had Doug Ford's practice 63 as a target today as the first round of the $15.000 Arlington Hotel Open golf tournament got underway at Hot Springs Country Club.

Ford, well-known pro from Kiamesha Lake, N. Y. finished his fine round yesterday just before a heavy rain halted practice. There was threat of more rain for today's first round play.

Ford's marvelous round, (plus other sub-par practice performances), brought forecasts of low scores. Par on the 6,971 yard course is 72.

Visiting Around Arkansas
BY JOE MARSH
ST. FRANCIS COUNTY
In the Crowley Ridge Country

St. Francis County is striving for a balanced economy by seeking more industry.

Cotton thrives in the rich alluvial soil, while noted Crowley's Ridge is well suited for fruit and cattle raising.

The county seat, Forrest City, was named for General Forrest of Civil War fame. St. Francis became a county in 1827, and is proud of its heritage.

The brewing industry, too, is proud of its heritage in American progress and industry. Besides being a major purchaser of farm products, it provides enterprise for many small, independent businessmen who strive to serve their products in clean, wholesome surroundings under their industry's self-regulation program.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP)—Delaware Park, a daring young horse track outside Wilmington, Del., is preparing to bus loose this summer with the greatest series of stake races for lady, or distaff, horses in the history of the turf.

In the space of three Saturday, June 18 to July 2, fillies and mares will shoot at a grand total of approximately a quarter-million dollars at the beautiful plant known as "Little Belmont." The crowning piece of the trio, the Delaware Handicap on July 2, is expected to gross around $150,000, with the winner taking over $100,000 home to her kiddies.

As nothing approaching this windfall has happened to the daintier sex before, we asked Bryan Field, Delaware's general manager, how he happened to think up such a distinctive gimmick to popularize his plant. The answer was simple—he didn't. A lady did.

"All the credit," Fields said with becoming modesty, "goes to my assistant Helen Stairwalt, who has been with me ever since we reopened the track in 1944 and has helped me do just about everything except clean the stables. Mrs. Stairwalt even fixed on the 'Distaff Big Three' as the name for our jackpot series."

His assistant set herself to thinking, Field said, when it became apparent that their track badly needed an outstanding fixture of some sort upon which national interest could be focused.

"We are in the biggest competitive position of any track in the country—not in any wheel or circuit—and we had to have something with which we could go to the top," Field explained. "There was no sense in aping the Derby or Preakness idea. Other things in racing had been grabbed by one track or another. Therefore, Mrs. Stairwalt decided, we had to fix on something that had been neglected, fillies and mares."

Phillies Again Lose, Mayo in Trouble

By ED WILKS
Of The Associated Press

The Philadelphia Phillies didn't think much of Terry Moore as a manager, but the old Gas House Gang guy really belted one on the button when he wished his successor Mayo Smith "a lot of luck because he has a tough job ahead."

That was last October, after the Phils had wound up fifth, 22 games behind the pennant-winning New York Giants and owner Bob Carpenter decided Moore hadn't shown enough "experience" in his three months as manager.

So they called upon Mayo, six years a minor league manager, to take over.

Now Mayo and the Phillies are in the cellar, 14 games back of pace-setting Brooklyn and snarled in an 11-game losing streak. The St. Louis Cardinals extended Mayo's troubles last night, beating the Phillies 6-5.

Brooklyn also "slumped" yesterday, or what amounts to a slump for the Dodgers. They lost one. The Chicago Cubs did it, beating Russ Meyer's hex and snapping the Brooks' 11-game third defeat.

Elsewhere in the Nationa, Milwaukee finally beat Pittsburgh 8-3 and New York defeated Cincinnati 6-3.

In the American League, Cleveland swept its two-game series in New York, beating the Yankees 4-3 despite Bob Turley's three-hitter and 11 strikeouts. Boston edged Chicago 4-3, ending a five-game losing string. Ned Garver held Washington to three hits for a 7-0 Detroit victory, and Kansas City beat Baltimore 2-.

The Cards tagged Robin Roberts for 11 hits in seven frames last night. Ron Mrozinski was the loser in relief as Harry Elliott, Stan Musial and Rip Repuslki doubled for two runs in the eighth after the Phils had taken a 5-3 lead. Herb Moford was the winner, in relief of Larry Jackson and Bobby Tiefenauer.

At Chicago, the Cubs beat Meyer for the first time since July 16, 1950. Ernie Banks' first major league grand-slammer, finished Meyer. Dee Fondy homered for three runs off Clem Labine in the third and Billy Loes, fifth Brook pitcher, gave up a pinch single to Walker Cooper in the seventh that provided the winning marker.

Jim Davis was the winner in relief as Brooklyn outhit the cubs 14 to 9, but slammed into five double plays.

Cleveland knocked Turley off his five-game winning streak by making the most of nine walks. Turley, who now has 57 strikeouts in 54 innings, also hit a batter and wild-pitched the first Tribe run home. Mickey Mantle and Andy Carey hit home runs off Early Wynn, but the Cleveland right-hander was tough when he had to be, giving but five hits for his third success without defeat.

Boston beat the White Sox on Billy Klaus' first major league homer, a two-run rob in the seventh, plus some brilliant relief work by Ellis Kinder that saved Fran Sullivan's third victory. Virgil Trucks was the loser.

Washington had only one hit off Garver until the seventh with the Detroit right-hander going to work with the bat as well to drive in a pair of runs. Al Kaline homered for the Tigers. Dean Stone was the loser.

Little Bobby Shantz two-hit the Orioles for Kansas City, taking over for Alex Kellner, who pulled out with a kink in his back in the fourth. Single syb Gus Zernal and in Finigan scored the two runs of floser Lou Kretlow.

Whitey Lockman's three-run homer and Monte Irvin's two-run clout were all Jim Hearn neded to post his fifth victory for the Giants at Cincinnati.

A three-run homer by Eddie Mathews and Joe Adcock's two-run double powered the Braves to their first success against Pittsburgh this season after four defeats. Chet Nichols remained Milwaukee's only unbeaten starter, claiming his third decision with an eight-hitter.

Rifle Club Title Is Won by Hartsfield

Last night at Fair Park, Edward Hartsfield nipped David Hendrix by a hair to take the Club Champion Rifle Match to be held annually by the Junior Rifle Club.

In firing for the Championship cup, only those members who have reached the rank of Sharpshooter or above are eligible to compete. Each shooter fires at a possible 200 score, firing for a possible 50 in each of the four positions, prone, kneeling, sitting and standing. Hartsfield and Hendrix both finished with a final total of 138.

In case of a tie the shorter with the most "10's" or dead center bull's is declared the winner. Hartsfield topped Hendrix by 1 bull, thus winning the match.

Prizes were also given for 2nd, 3rd, 4th and 5th place with the 5th place winner being only 5 points below the 1st place winner.

The Junior Club, this week, received 4 rifles from the U. S. Gov't. as a result of continued compliance with National Rifle Association rules and regulations. Along with the rifles donated to the Club by the Kiwanis, Rotary and Lions Clubs, the Club now has 7 match target rifles. Next Tuesday and Wednesday nights, members will fire to qualify for awards issued by the Director of Civilian Marksmanship.

Ford's Practice 63 Tops at Spa Meet

By ARDEN COOPER

HOT SPRINGS, (AP)—More than 100 golfers had Doug Ford's practice 63 as a target today as the first round of the $15,000 Arlington Hotel Open golf tournament got underway at Hot Springs Country Club.

Ford, well-known pro from Kiamesha Lake, N. Y. finished his fine round yesterday just before a heavy rain halted practice. There was threat of more rain for today's first round play.

Ford's marvelous round, (plus other sub-par practice performances), brought forecasts of low scores. Par on the 6,971 yard course is 72.

Visiting Around Arkansas
BY JOE MARSH
ST. FRANCIS COUNTY
In the Crowley Ridge Country
St. Francis County is striving for a balanced economy by seeking more industry.
Cotton thrives in the rich alluvial soil, while noted Crowley's Ridge is well suited for fruit and cattle raising.
Recently the County obtained a garment factory, natural gas service and the largest steam generating plant in Arkansas.
The county seat, Forrest City, was named for General Forrest of Civil War fame. St. Francis became a county in 1827, and is proud of its heritage.
The brewing industry, too, is proud of its heritage in American progress and industry. Besides being a major purchaser of farm products, it provides enterprise for many small, independent businessmen who strive to serve their products in clean, wholesome surroundings under their industry's self-regulation program.

BOOTS AND HER BUDDIES By Edgar Martin

BUT, MADAM, THERE ARE A NUMBER OF PARROTS IN THE CAGE - AND THEY LOOK JUST ALIKE!
OH, BUT I'M SURE THAT ONE IS SUGAR-BUN!
NO, MA'AM, THIS'N - ON ACCOUNT OF HIS BIG MOUTH TALK!
SOME ARE WISE, AND SOME ARE OTHERWISE!
WISDOM COMETH BY SUFFERING!
I LOVE WISDOM MORE THAN SHE LOVES ME!
NO MAN WAS EVER WISE BY CHANCE!
WISDOM SAILS WITH WIND AND TIDE!
YOU LOOK WISE! PLEASE CORRECT THAT ERROR!

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP)—Delaware Park, a daring young horse track outside Wilmington, Del., is preparing to bus loose this summer with the greatest series of stake races for lady, or distaff, horses in the history of the turf.

In the space of three Saturday, June 18 to July 2, fillies and mares will shoot at a grand total of approximately a quarter-million dollars at the beautiful plant known as "Little Belmont." The crowning piece of the trio, the Delaware Handicap on July 2, is expected to gross around $150,000, with the winner taking over $100,000 home to her kiddies.

As nothing approaching this windfall has happened to the daintier sex before, we asked Bryan Field, Delaware's general manager, how he happened to think up such a distinctive gimmick to popularize his plant. The answer was simple—he didn't. A lady did.

"All the credit," Fields said with becoming modesty, "goes to my assistant Helen Stairwalt, who has been with me ever since we reopened the track in 1944 and has helped me do just about everything except clean the stables. Mrs. Stairwalt even fixed on the 'Distaff Big Three' as the name for our jackpot series."

His assistant set herself to thinking, Field said, when it became apparent that their track badly needed an outstanding fixture of some sort upon which national interest could be focused.

"We are in the biggest competitive position of any track in the country—not in any wheel or circuit—and we had to have something with which we could go to the top," Field explained. "There was no sense in aping the Derby or Preakness idea. Other things in racing had been grabbed by one track or another. Therefore, Mrs. Stairwalt decided, we had to fix on something that had been neglected, fillies and mares."

Phillies Again Lose, Mayo in Trouble

By ED WILKS
Of The Associated Press

The Philadelphia Phillies didn't think much of Terry Moore as a manager, but the old Gas House Gang guy really belted one on the button when he wished his successor Mayo Smith "a lot of luck because he has a tough job ahead."

That was last October, after the Phils had wound up fifth, 22 games behind the pennant-winning New York Giants and owner Bob Carpenter decided Moore hadn't shown enough "experience" in his three months as manager.

So they called upon Mayo, six years a minor league manager, to take over.

Now Mayo and the Phillies are in the cellar, 14 games back of pace-setting Brooklyn and snarled in an 11-game losing streak. The St. Louis Cardinals extended Mayo's troubles last night, beating the Phillies 6-5.

Brooklyn also "slumped" yesterday, or what amounts to a slump for the Dodgers. They lost one. The Chicago Cubs did it, beating Russ Meyer's hex and snapping the Brooks' 11-game third defeat.

Elsewhere in the Nationa, Milwaukee finally beat Pittsburgh 8-3 and New York defeated Cincinnati 6-3.

In the American League, Cleveland swept its two-game series in New York, beating the Yankees 4-3 despite Bob Turley's three-hitter and 11 strikeouts. Boston edged Chicago 4-3, ending a five-game losing string. Ned Garver held Washington to three hits for a 7-0 Detroit victory, and Kansas City beat Baltimore 2-.

The Cards tagged Robin Roberts for 11 hits in seven frames last night. Ron Mrozinski was the loser in relief as Harry Elliott, Stan Musial and Rip Repuslki doubled for two runs in the eighth after the Phils had taken a 5-3 lead. Herb Moford was the winner, in relief of Larry Jackson and Bobby Tiefenauer.

At Chicago, the Cubs beat Meyer for the first time since July 16, 1950. Ernie Banks' first major league grand-slammer, finished Meyer. Dee Fondy homered for three runs off Clem Labine in the third and Billy Loes, fifth Brook pitcher, gave up a pinch single to Walker Cooper in the seventh that provided the winning marker.

Jim Davis was the winner in relief as Brooklyn outhit the cubs 14 to 9, but slammed into five double plays.

Cleveland knocked Turley off his five-game winning streak by making the most of nine walks. Turley, who now has 57 strikeouts in 54 innings, also hit a batter and wild-pitched the first Tribe run home. Mickey Mantle and Andy Carey hit home runs off Early Wynn, but the Cleveland right-hander was tough when he had to be, giving but five hits for his third success without defeat.

Boston beat the White Sox on Billy Klaus' first major league homer, a two-run rob in the seventh, plus some brilliant relief work by Ellis Kinder that saved Fran Sullivan's third victory. Virgil Trucks was the loser.

Washington had only one hit off Garver until the seventh with the Detroit right-hander going to work with the bat as well to drive in a pair of runs. Al Kaline homered for the Tigers. Dean Stone was the loser.

Little Bobby Shantz two-hit the Orioles for Kansas City, taking over for Alex Kellner, who pulled out with a kink in his back in the fourth. Single syb Gus Zernal and in Finigan scored the two runs of floser Lou Kretlow.

Whitey Lockman's three-run homer and Monte Irvin's two-run clout were all Jim Hearn neded to post his fifth victory for the Giants at Cincinnati.

A three-run homer by Eddie Mathews and Joe Adcock's two-run double powered the Braves to their first success against Pittsburgh this season after four defeats. Chet Nichols remained Milwaukee's only unbeaten starter, claiming his third decision with an eight-hitter.

Rifle Club Title Is Won by Hartsfield

Last night at Fair Park, Edward Hartsfield nipped David Hendrix by a hair to take the Club Champion Rifle Match to be held annually by the Junior Rifle Club.

In firing for the Championship cup, only those members who have reached the rank of Sharpshooter or above are eligible to compete. Each shooter fires at a possible 200 score, firing for a possible 50 in each of the four positions, prone, kneeling, sitting and standing. Hartsfield and Hendrix both finished with a final total of 138.

In case of a tie the shorter with the most "10's" or dead center bull's is declared the winner. Hartsfield topped Hendrix by 1 bull, thus winning the match.

Prizes were also given for 2nd, 3rd, 4th and 5th place with the 5th place winner being only 5 points below the 1st place winner.

The Junior Club, this week, received 4 rifles from the U. S. Gov't. as a result of continued compliance with National Rifle Association rules and regulations. Along with the rifles donated to the Club by the Kiwanis, Rotary and Lions Clubs, the Club now has 7 match target rifles. Next Tuesday and Wednesday nights, members will fire to qualify for awards issued by the Director of Civilian Marksmanship.

Ford's Practice 63 Tops at Spa Meet

By ARDEN COOPER

HOT SPRINGS, (AP)—More than 100 golfers had Doug Ford's practice 63 as a target today as the first round of the $15,000 Arlington Hotel Open golf tournament got underway at Hot Springs Country Club.

Ford, well-known pro from Kiamesha Lake, N. Y. finished his fine round yesterday just before a heavy rain halted practice. There was threat of more rain for today's first round play.

Ford's marvelous round, (plus other sub-par practice performances), brought forecasts of low scores. Par on the 6,971 yard course is 72.

Visiting Around Arkansas
BY JOE MARSH

In the Crowley Ridge Country

St. Francis County is striving for a balanced economy by seeking more industry.

Cotton thrives in the rich alluvial soil, while noted Crowley's Ridge is well suited for fruit and cattle raising.

The county seat, Forrest City, was named for General Forrest of Civil War fame. St. Francis became a county in 1827, and is proud of its heritage.

The brewing industry, too, is proud of its heritage in American progress and industry. Besides being a major purchaser of farm products, it provides enterprise for many small, independent businessmen who strive to serve their products in clean, wholesome surroundings under their industry's self-regulation program.

Stock Show Appeals for Local Support

Directors of the Third District Livestock Show planned an appeal for local public support to avert suspension and possible liquidation of the property in Fair Park following a joint meeting with Mayor John L. Wilson, Jr., and the Hope City Council Thursday night at the Coliseum.

Glen Wallace, director and past president of the show association, sponsored a motion which the board adopted to name a committee to work out a plan to refinance the association's debt and provide a subsidy to cover the anual operating deficit. The committee would comprise representatives of the show association, the city and county governments, and Hope Chamber of Commerce.

Discussion brought out the fact that the show's total debt is $24,000, of which $20,209.40 in notes and accounts is now due. About $12,000 of the total represents operating losses the last three years.

Clyde Byrd, manager of the State Livestock Show at Little Rock, told the meeting that the last three years were the toughest in the modern history of the livestock business and its affiliated stock shows; but he added that the tide turned before 1954 was out and there is a new feeling of confidence today.

Byrd reminded the meeting that no public fair ever can be self-supporting, and all of them have to have help from time to time. He said that the act setting up the district stock shows provided that each district should match state funds—but admitted this provision had never been enforced while the state had the money to cover the full cost.

Mayor Wilson reported that the city government is now meeting interest on the note debt, paying a total of about $900 so far. He said the city underwrote the funded debt, and contributed $1,200 in cash advances the first of this year.

The City of Hope holds the mortgage on the stock show property. Circuit Judge Lyle Brown, a director of the stock show, pointed out that the property was on the show association's books at $125,000, that further improvements have been made, and a conservative valuation of the property today would be above $100,000.

Alderman Homer Beyerley said that while the city holds the mortgage it has no desire or intention of putting the show out of business "The city," he said, "would certainly like to see the debt refunded."

Discussion emphasized the fact that the stock show's troubles stem back to the failure of two consecutive state administrations to produce money with which to meet physical plant commitments and the operating subsidy.

Joe Eican, of the show board, appealed to the meeting not to let the district show fall back to the level of a mere county fair.

B&PW Hears Discussion of School Issues

"A Teacher Looks at Her Job" was the topic used by Mrs. P. L. Perkins Thursday at the regular monthly meeting of the Business and Professional Women's Club.

Mrs. Perkins is a teacher in the Hope High School. She pointed out that a Teacher should ask herself at the end of the day, two questions: "Have I taught my pupils anything?" Have I made them happy?"

Norman Moore, a member of the local School Board, gave some enlightening facts and figures from the school system in the state and here in Hope.

Mrs. Otis breed gave some facts about the work of the teachers and leaders in Arkansas and in the United States Congress. She said there is unrest in th country about the schools and with the President behind the bills trying to be passed, sees better schools in the future.

Mrs. Ellene Johnson, the Southwest District Chairman of Texarkana, installed officers:

Miss Lanelle Fuller did a Panamime of "Silver Dollar" and "Rock Love."

Miss Clarice Cannon expressed "love and affection" for the Club to the out-going President, Miss Rosa Harrie.

The Education and Vocation committee presented the program to 37 members and guests. The guests were, Mrs. Ellene Johnson of Texarkana; Mrs. P. L. Perkins, Mr. Norman Moore, Mrs. Carroll Wynn, Miss Lanelle Fuller and Mr. Olie Olsen.

Sunday Proclaimed Soil Stewardship Day in County

Sunday, May 15, 1955, has been proclaimed National Soil Stewardship Sunday. The Hempstead County Soil Conservation District Board of Supervisors have made available the pamphlets on Soil Stewardship to all ministers in Hempstead County.

It is hoped that all ministers will participate in this program. Because of this being Gideon Sunday, some ministers will preach a sermon on this subject Sunday evening.

Soil Stewardship Sunday will be a yearly program - Nation-wide. The Board of Supervisors would like to know the number of ministers that preach sermons on Soil Stewardship.

UN Command Protests Red China Attack

By MURRAY FROMSON

MUNSAN, Korea (AP)—In a sharp protest against the attack Tuesday by Red Chinese MIGs on eight American Sabre Jets over the Yellow Sea, the U. N. Command charged today the Reds were "endeavoring to utilize" Korean bases as a "privileged sanctuary."

The protest through the Military Armistice Commission told the Chinese and North Korean members:

"You are officially warned that if the aircraft of our side are attacked they will defend themselves."

Fifth Air Force Sabre pilots said they shot down two MIGs and probably destroyed two more. They said they were attacked by 32 MIGs. No American plane was hit, they said.

The U.N. protest did not specify the planes were Red Chinese, acknowledged by the Peiping radio. It did not specifically charge either that the MIGs operated from Korean airfields.

Vaccine Release Is Expected Momentarily

WASHINGTON (AP) — Surgeon General Leonard Scheele said today he expects to release polio vaccine made by Parke-Davis Co. of Detroit "almost momentarily."

Scheele told the House Banking Committee a thorough on-the-spot inspection of manufacture of Salk vaccine by Parke-Davis has been completed.

"It is likely that word is now at my office regarding findings of the group of scientists which visited Detroit and we will be able to announce the release of Parke-Davis materials as soon or shortly after I return," Scheele said.

Release of Parke-Davis serum will permit limited resumption of the nationwide program for vaccinating first and second grade school children.

Scheele called for a shutdown in that program last Sunday to permit a rechec at each of five manufacturing plants.

Later inspectors will go to Wyeth Laboratories, Marietta, Pa. Pitman-Moore, Zionsville, Ind., and Sharpe and Dohme, Glen Alden, Pa.

Scheele told the committee that as of this morning 67 cases of polio had been reported among children who received the Salk serum. He said approximately 5½ million children have been vaccinated.

Of the 67 polio cases, he added, 55 received vaccine manufactured by Cutter Laboratires, Berkeley, Calif. All Cutter vaccine has been withheld from distribution since April 27 pending a complete scientific investigation. There have been ten cases of polio in children who received the Eli Lilly vaccine, and two who received Wyeth vaccine.

Except for the Cutter vaccine cases, Scheele said, the incidence of polio among those vaccinated has been about what could be normally expected, or even Zless.

In a 12-page review of the entire vaccine program, Scheele told the committe e of his continued strong confidence that the vaccine is safe and effective and that, it will be a blessing to mankind.

Yesterday, in a closed-door Banking Committee session, Rep. Multer (D-NY) and some other members demanded that Secretary of welfare Hobby testify on the program. The health service falls under her general supervision.

John Q. James Ends Own Life at Age of 43

John Q. James, aged 43, practically a lifelong resident of Hope, was found dead about 11:30 last night in his car in the Evening Shade Church area, south of Hope.

Coroner R. V. Herndon Jr. ruled, following an investigation, that death was due to a shotgun wound, self inflicted. Mr. Herndon placed the time of death at about 8 p. m. The body was found by a son of Glen Burns. resident of the area.

He is survived by a daughter, Martha James of Waco, Texas; two brothers, Jim of Hope and Jack James of Overton, Texas; three sisters, Mrs. Glen Gilbert, Mrs. Della Nickels and Mrs. Roy Yarbrough.

Funeral services will be held at 10 a. m. Saturday at Herndon-Cornelius Chapel with burial at Columbus, Masons will have graveside services, Active pallbearers; Ray Turner, Vance Brown, Dewey Putman, Woodrow and Dean Parsons and Reeder Parrish.

Not Likely to Be Anybody on Broadway Who Gets More Zest Out of Living Than Burl Ives

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — "Man there are so many things to do, I'd like to live 10 lives," said big Burl Ives, contentedly unrolling a battleship signal flag.

The red and white flag was as tall as Ives, the folk singer who became a dramatic star as "Big Daddy" in the Pulitzer prize play, "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof."

Burl, who doesn't own even a rowboat at present, bought a complete set of battleship flags at a sale of government surplus supplies. Wrappin gone of the flags around his 290-pound bulk, he said cheerfully:

"I've always wanted a set of ship signal flags, although I really don't need 'em battleship size. Now I got 40 of 'em. Do you think maybe I could get a seamstress to turn some of 'em into sport shirts?"

The huge old-fashioned apartment in which Burl and his wife, Helen, live with his 6-year-old son, Alexander, is crowded with souvenirs of his travels.

"Isn't this a wonderful thing to split a head open with?" inquired Burl, holding up a Maori war clubfrom New Zealand. "And how do you like these parade drums I picked up for 12 bucks apiece? Gonna make em into lamps. Got 'em at another government surplus sale. You can't beat those surplus sales for bargains. Never can tell what you'll be able to pick up.'

Martial Law in Forrest City Test

By TOM DYGARD

FORREST CITY, (AP)— Martial law ruled this quiet town in east Arkansas this afternoon as part of an unusual air raid drill, the first of its kind in the United States.

Armed patrols stalked through the streets. Shop windows were shuttered. Guards stood at public buildings and at the water works.

Jammed into this cotton country town of about 7,500 people were upwards of 12,000 refugees. They were hungry and Forrest City went through the motions of feeding and sheltering the drifting mob of civilians.

Military Slash Appears Headed for New Battle

WASHINGTON (AP)— Overwhelmingly approved by the House, President Eisenhower's program to cut military manpower during the new fiscal year headed today for a new fight in the Senate,

Despite outspoken criticism from some senators, advance indications were that the President would be upheld also by the Senate when it gets around to voting on the subject some weeks hence.

The House yesterday passed 382-0 the bill to give the Defense Department $31,488,206,000 in new funds for the fiscal year starting July 1.

Amendments which would have boosted the bill's money total and maintanied military power during the new year at levels projected for June 30 of this year were beaten on voice votes.

The program, approved without change, calls for an over-all cut of 102,300 from this year's figure by June 30, 1956. The Army will be trimmed 87,000, the Navy 8,300 and the Marine Corps 12,000 and the Air Force increased by 5,000.

Amendments to retain the Army and Navy at their present levels —and to give the Marines an extra 10,000 over current strength— were offered by Representatives Flood (D-Pa) and Andrews (D-Ala).

Flood told the House it was unsafe, in the light of existing conditions, to pare down military strength. He said Russia is building up her army, navy and air force and obviously isn't preparing for peace.

Ceremonies Planned at New D-Y Plant

WEST MEMPHIS, Ark. (AP) — Groundbreaking ceremoies to mark the start of actual construction of the controversial Dixon-Yates power generating plant will be held here June 2.

The Mississippi Valley Generating Co., which will operate the plant, and this city's Chamber of Commerce announced plans today for the celebration which will include a parade and barbecue for an estimated 5,000 to 10,000 persons.

Paul O. Canaday, managing director of the generating company, said construction would start immediately after the groundbreaking.

He said bids are being received at his New York office on the first phase of the construction work.

This phase, he said, will include clearing and grading 30 acres of the site, pouring concrete foundations and pilings and construction of a railroad spur track to serve the 107 million dollar plant.

The prevately owned plant would feed its power output into TVA lines to replace electricity supplied to atomic energy installations. Its construction is opposed by many TVA supporters who call it an initial step in ultimate destruction of the big federal power agency.

One Charge in Accident Here

Autos driven by Burlen Fuller and O. J. Harris, collided at Third and Shover Streets yesterday with fender damage to both. Fuller was charged with failure to yield the right-of-way, City Police reported.

ACCIDENTAL DEATH

Coroner Tom Barton ruled the shooting accidental.

Liggin is survived by his wife, one son and one step-son.

Gen. Ridgway, Critic of Army Cutbacks, to Resign and Gen. Maxwell Taylor Will Take Over

WASHINGTON (AP) Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, critical of administration decisions to cut back the ground forces, has asked to be retired June 30 and will be succeeded as Army chief of staff by Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor.

Taylor, a 1922 graduate of West Point, is a native of Keytesville, Mo. He served a tour as deputy Army chief of staff in charge of operations prior to going to his present command. Another of his post World War II duty tours was as superintendent of the Military Academy at West Point.

Ridgeay's decision to leave on the day before the new military budget becomes effective was disclosed when President Eisenhower sent the Senate a nomination of Taylor to succeed him.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said Ridgway wrote a letter to Secretary of the Army Stevens asking for retirement on June 30. Ridgway's term had until Aug. 15 to run.

Taylor commanded the 8th Army in some of the bitterest fighting of the Korean War. He is now serving as commander in chief, Far East command, and commander in chief, United Nations command.

His appointment as chief of staff is for a term of two years.

Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer will take over Taylor's two commands in the Far East.

Lemnitzer is now commanding general of the Army forces in the Far East and the 8th Army .

Ridgway's two-year term as chief of staff would have expired next August.

He reached the mandatory Army retirement age of 60 last March 31, but the Army retained him on active duty with approval of President Eisenhower.

Ridgway will retire on leaving as chief of staff.

Ridgway has not seen eye to eye with the Eisenhower administration's decision to cut back Army manpower. Ridgway has contended repeatedly that atomic and other new weapons would require more, not fewer, ground forces because of a necessity for dispersal.

Eisenhower, at a news conference, once referred to a "parochi-

Physicians to Discuss Cancer

HOT SPRINGS (AP) — Five physicians, two of them from Arkansas, will conduct a panel discussion on cancer here May 29 on the eve of the Arkansas Medical Society's annual meeting.

The panelists will be Dr. Charles S. Cameron, medical and scientific director of the American Cancer Society Dr. Fred J. Hodges of the University of Michigan, Dr. Joseph H. Pratt of the Mayo Clinic, Dr. C. A. Archer Jr. of Conway, Ark., and Dr. Isadore Mechan of the University of Arkansas School of Medicine.

Club Women Tell of Tour of Texarkana

Fifty-five Home Demonstration Club members and Mrs. Lorraine B. Wylie, home demonstration agent, made the Educational Tour to Texarkana Thursday, May 12. The first stop was the Brown Miller Pickle Company where the group saw the process followed in making pickles from the time the cucumber is received at the plant until it is packed and ready for shipment.

From the Pickle Company the group went through the Federal Correctional Institution. Here the group was shown some of the cell blocks where the inmates are kept, some of the work the inmates were doing and some of the educational and recreational facilities available for the inmates.

At the "M" System of the Mobile Homes the women saw the assembly line production of trailers. At the present time the company is producing four large trailers a day. The women were shown through a completed trailer with two bedrooms, bath, kitchen living and dining area.

At Borden Milk Company the women saw the processing of milk from the time it was delivered by the farmer until it was bottled and ready for market.

The next stop was KCMC-TV Station where the women were guests at Hospitality House. Mrs. H. E. Patterson, Council HDC President, and Mrs. Wylie appeared on the program, showing some crafts which the HDC members had made and explaining the work being carried on by the HD Clubs in Hempstead County.

The women were furnished a police escort through Texarkana and Mr. L. E. Gilliland, Manager of Chamber of Commerce of Texarkana, and a local citizen, Mr. Ernest Walker, accompanied the women on the tour.

A picnic lunch at Spring Lake Park was enjoyed by the women at noon. The following clubs were represented: Shover Springs, 10 members; Melrose, 9 members; Victory, 7; Baker, 6; Hinton, 6; Green Laster, 5; McCaskill, 4; Rocky Mound, 3; Centerville, 3; and Columbus, 2.

Coal Shoveler Looked Broke But Wasn't

They were wrong.

"I am the best coal shoveler in these parts," said Tom.

To prove it, Tom produced a billfold containing $2,755.96 in cash.

While police stared at the sweat-soaked bills. Tom quietly said, "Every payday just stuff your money in your billfold and forget it. You'd be surprised how it adds up."

He pointed at his pile of cash and remarked.

"This is just what I have saved in the past three years shoveling coal. I've been so busy I ain't had a chance to get to the bank to buy bonds. It's bad working with all that money. I worry about getting it sweaty."

"Don't drink son, staying away from women has a lot to do with it too."

His money, said Tom, is going to provide him independence when he retires. He remarked, "I'll take social security like anybody. But I don't want anything else."

Dulles Jubilant, to Sign Treaty Freeing Austria

By RICHARD O'REGAN

VIENNA, Austria (AP)—U. S. Secretary of State Dulles arrived in jubilant Vienna today to sign the Austrian treaty of independence.

It was a gratifying moment for the American diplomat, who has insisted the ambassadors of the Big Four powers reach agreement on treaty terms before the foreign ministers meet for the actual signing.

Late yesterday, the Russians accepted a compromise solution offered by the West on a key issue of economic concessions and the way was cleared for the signing on Sunday of a treaty to give Austria's seven million people full freedom after 17 years of military occupation.

In an airport statement, Dulles said:

"I have traveled to many capitals on many missions. Never have I felt more satisfaction than I now feel in coming to Vienna to sign the treaty which at long last will make Austria free and independent.

"This has been a central goal of United States policy. Its achievement will be hailed by the American people who have only admiration for the courage and steadfastness of the freedom loving people of Austria."

Among Dulles' welcomers were U. S. Ambassador Lewellyn E. Thompson Jr., one of the four ambassadors at the nine-day negotiations, and Austrian Foreign Minister Lepold Figl, who also attended.

"It has been particularly due to American help that we are now in a position to sign the treaty for which Austria has been waiting for 10 years," Figl said in greeting Dulles. "Austria will now be free and indepedent."

Spa Hospital Funds Get by the House

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has approved funds for operating Army-Navy Hospital at Hot Springs, Ark., another year.

An appropriations bill passed yesterday also has a section reading: "It is the sense of the committee that the Murphy General Hospital in Waltham, Mass., and the Army-Navy Hospital in Hot Springs, Ark., should remain open and continue to be operated . . . "

Rep. Norrell (D-Ark) had the section inserted while the bill was in the House Appropriations Committee. The Defense Department plans to close the Hot Springs installation June 30 for reasons for economy, and all patients have been moved out.

Norrell, while noting that the House action does not obligate the Army to keep the hospital open, said that as far as he can recall an administrative department never has failed to heed a directive of the type inserted in the bill.

The measure now goes to the Senate. Sen. McClellan (D-Ark), a member of the Senate Appropriations Committee, had led the fight in that chamber to keep the hospital open.
